'Total' Projects Now Key To School Building Policy

Bennett Scores Nicholson For Policy Talk

By JOHN MIKA

A serious clash over constitutional propriety appeared to be shaping up today between Premier Bennett and Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson.

NICHOLSON
. . . offers advice

Premier Bennett, displaying obvious anger, this morning accused the province's new vice-regal representative of over-stepping the boundaries of his role during a speech Sunday in Vancouver.

Mr. Nicholson, however, told the Times that he did nothing wrong and did not expect any furore over his speech.

At issue were his remarks during opening ceremonies of the B.C. School Trustees' Association annual convention in Vancouver when he preceded Education Minister Donald Brothers among dignitaries extending welcomes.

Mr. Nicholson told the audience he agreed with a number of resolutions being presented to the convention and specifically singled out two which he said should be sympathetically received by Mr. Brothers and the cabinet.

He said a resolution that penalty clauses and incentive bonuses in school board construction contracts should be allowed by the government—in a change of policy—as a "very practical" help in view of serious classroom shortages in B.C.

The cabinet should consider carefully this method of speeding up school construction because "we needed them yesterday," he said.

"Time limits and penalties for school construction should be carefully considered," he added.

CLOSE ATTENTION

Mr. Nicholson also said the government should give close attention to another resolution which would extend to boarders at private schools the present boarding allowances permitted to out-of-town students attending public elementary and secondary schools in some cases.

Mr. Brothers, who followed Mr. Nicholson in the speech lineup, assured the convention that the lieutenant-governor's remarks would be studied by the government along with the resolutions.

But Premier Bennett, in Victoria this morning, indicated the government will spend more time studying Mr. Nicholson's right to make such remarks.

Asked for comment, he snapped to a reporter—before slamming down the phone:

ALL KINDNESS

"That's a matter that doesn't come under the jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and I say that with all kindness. Goodbye."

Mr. Nicholson, reached by phone in Nanaimo where he was to address the 10th annual meeting of the Canadian Port and Harbor Association, indicated surprise at the premier's reaction.

"I'm sure I said nothing wrong," the lieutenant-governor said.

"What I was doing was just commenting on the (school) trustees' own program—they had a printed program of their resolutions.

"I commented on the fact they were showing an interest in a number of things not just economic aspects.

"I'm perfectly sure that if the premier had been there he would have appreciated the comments.

"Certainly the minister of education was there and he thanked me for my comments and said he appreciated them."

Czechs Fear End To Reform

PRAGUE (AP) — Czechoslovaks feared today that the Dubcek regime's program to liberalize and reform communism is nearing an end.

Ruling bodies of the Czechoslovak Communist party planned a series of meetings to discuss the commitments forced by the Soviet Union at talks in Moscow Thursday and Friday with Party Chief Alexander Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik.

Communists said the alternatives were:

—To continue the policy of seeking accommodation with Moscow, agree to semi-permanent stationing of occupation troops in Czechoslovakia, and salvage as much as possible of the "post-January" program to make communism more humane and democratic.

—To balk and give the Soviets the same choice they had after invading the country Aug. 20-21, that is, formation of a military government to rule Czechoslovakia.

An authoritative party source discounted as "nothing but rumors" reports in the West that Dubcek has offered or threatened to resign.

FUMES KILL 16 BELGIANS

BRUSSELS (AP) — Because of the weather, 16 Belgians died in their homes during the weekend from carbon monoxide poisoning, authorities said today.

Mild, wet weather produced a layer of warm atmosphere which prevented fumes from household coal fires and stoves escaping efficiently through chimneys, officials said. The odorless fumes seeped through the victims' homes and overcame them.

BACK FROM BIAFRA are NDP MP Andrew Brewin (left) and Conservative MP David MacDonald, who describe genocide and starvation in breakaway Nigerian province to Ottawa newsmen.

MPs Describe Biafra Genocide In Rebuttal to Inspection Team

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — Two members of the Canadian Parliament Sunday painted a picture of genocide and starvation in Biafra in a sharp rebuttal of a report by a military inspection team that found neither.

David MacDonald, Conservative MP for Egmont, said he was "shocked" at the conclusions of the team of British, Canadian and Swedish observers.

He and Andrew Brewin, NDP MP for Toronto Greenwood, spent 1½ days last week in Biafra, under siege by federal Nigerian troops. In a homecoming news conference, they attacked the team's conclusions and called for strong Canadian initiatives to end starvation in the breakaway region and end the civil war.

Mr. MacDonald said the military team did not get close to the real action. There were real elements of genocide—the destruction of a people—in Biafra.

The MP, a United Church minister, said federal troops were "senselessly destroying" as they moved through Biafran villages.

Mr. Brewin said the military team was conducted on a tour arranged by the federal Nigerian authorities. He and Mr. MacDonald had gone into the Biafran camp and talked to priests and others who had spent most of their lives in the region.

SAY SOURCES UNANIMOUS

There was "a tremendous degree of unanimity" on the part of their sources about the destruction and the starvation. The observer team could not have received any such insight.

Both men called for a Canadian initiative at the United Nations to produce a cease-fire and a massive international aid program for Biafrans with Canada again taking the lead.

Adequate relief could not await a victory by federal forces. The Biafrans intend to fight to the end believing that the Ibo tribe in Biafra would be destroyed by the victors.

Mr. MacDonald said he and Mr. Brewin flew into Biafra on a Tuesday night flight from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome off the Nigerian coast.

The island is one of two—the other is Fernando Po—which serve as jumping off points for the nightly airlift that carries food supplies into a

Canada To Help?

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau is reported interested in federal financing of privately-chartered planes to carry food aid to starving Biafrans.

Mr. Trudeau suggested the idea in a 45-minute conversation today with two members of Parliament, according to one of them, Andrew Brewin, NDP member for Toronto Greenwood.

The prime minister suggested the federal government might be ready with money to help if a relief organization chartered Hercules transports to help in the Biafran aid airlift, Mr. Brewin told reporters after the meeting.

According to Mr. Brewin, the prime minister noted that privately-owned Hercules planes are available from such firms as Wardair in Canada.

TIGERS WIN 5-3

DETROIT (UPI) — Mickey Lolich scattered nine hits and veteran Al Kaline drove in the winning run with a seventh-inning bases-loaded single today to give the Detroit Tigers another chance in the World Series on a 5-3 triumph over the National League champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The result sent the series back to St. Louis for a sixth game Wednesday with the Cardinals leading three games to two and needing one more victory to clinch their second straight series championship.

Lolich, clubbed for a two-run homer by Orlando Cepeda in the first inning, settled down and held the Cardinals scoreless for the last eight frames, allowing only five hits over that stretch.

But it wasn't until the seventh that the Tigers, who won 40 games in the seventh or later during the American League season, could put him in front.

Then Lolich started the rally with a single off Cardinal starter Nelson Briles. The blow finished Briles and left hander Joe Hoerner relieved, giving up a single to Dick McAuliffe before walking Mickey Stanley intentionally to fill the bases.

That brought up Kaline, and he swung viciously and missed the first pitch. On the next, though, he lined a single into centre to score both Lolich and McAuliffe and put Stanley on third.

Norm Cash followed with a single to drive in Stanley and ice the decision. Detroit's second victory against three for St. Louis.

Trustees Cool To New Plan

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Education Minister Don Brothers today gave a green light to new school construction—where new schools are a top priority need.

But in easing the freeze he also warned that while complete school projects will be approved, some additions will not.

See Story Page 18

Laboratories, libraries, service and administrative space are in under the new government policy — but Mr. Brothers said, gymnasiums and activity rooms for new schools cannot be approved at this time.

The minister caused unhappy muttering among B.C. school trustees as he made the announcement at their annual convention here.

In his first major address since being made education minister in May, he told the 850 trustees that "total" school projects will now be processed by his department — a switch from the government's "essential classrooms only" policy of the past two years.

"With this announcement I am hopeful a number of projects that have been held up may proceed forthwith," he said.

"At the same time, I cannot stress too strongly that the government will share only in functional schools which, by design and specification, reflect a sincere and conscientious effort to get the best value for the dollar and which will incorporate some of the cost-saving principles enunciated earlier."

The new education minister's speech comes at a time when B.C.'s 83 school districts have about $24 million in school construction waiting education department approvals. Some of it has been pending for almost two years.

School boards have withheld submitting plans for another 300 classrooms.

Initial reaction to the minister's speech was cool. Some trustees suspect nothing had changed—because the issue all along has been "what's essential?" and "what's functional?"

On these questions the education department and school boards have been frequently at odds.

30 PER CENT OF BUDGET

The heart of the problem is money for education and Mr. Brothers pointed out today that almost 30 per cent of the provincial budget is being poured into the field.

Education is eating up funds at the rate of $750,00 a day, he said. Budgets have soared from $16 million in 1963 to $80 million last year.

So far this year, $30 million has been spent in the field.

The education minister said that in his dealings with teacher and students as well as trustees he has found "everybody seems to have a different opinion about which way we are going in education."

He said he has never made political promises but followed this by promising "action" in his new post.

"I am in the process of listening myself," he said in referring to his brief time in the portfolio. "I ask you not to judge me now but to judge my actions into the next year."

He said he intended visiting each of the province's school boards and discussing their problems with them.

He skipped briefly through an 11-page prepared text, touching on only a few points in it, then went on to give his "impressions" since his appointment as education minister.

One is that the government's new formula for calculating school board operating grants "was working out very well indeed."

That brought another rumble from the convention floor. The complex formula has been under fire since it was announced last spring.

Mr. Brothers mentioned educational television as an area getting close study from his department. A provincial audio-visual resource centre will be formed (he did not detail its structure) and he is considering establishing an educational television advisory committee to gether the best advice available in the field.

At a press conference later, he confirmed that the government is expanding its formula for approving school construction but would not produce specific figures on how much.

Each project submitted by school boards to his department for approval will be considered on its merits.

Of the continuing ban on gymnasiums, he said he personally would like to see them go up but at $200,000 to $250,000 each they represented money for many badly-needed classrooms.

PRISONERS OVERPOWER GUARD

BURNABY (CP)—Four Oakalla prisoners overpowered a guard, took a shotgun from him at knifepoint and stole a truck in a bid for freedom today.

Two of the escapees were later recaptured in nearby Delta, and the shotgun was recovered by police.

The search for the other two was centred in the Burnaby area.

Minutes after their break the prisoners, three of whom are already serving terms for escaping custody, threatened a home-owner with the gun in an attempt to secure transportation but had the door of the house slammed in their faces.

They later stole a parked truck and began driving toward Vancouver.

Police identified the escapees as Joseph A. Haggerty, 21, Henry Fontaine, 18, Charles D. Russell, 19, and Francis Robert, 18. They did not say which two were recaptured.

Drive Reaches Quarter Mark

The United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal should reach the halfway mark by October 25 an Appeal spokesman said today.

"This morning we have 24.6 per cent of the objective and by tonight we should be just over the quarter mark," he said. "This is within a day or two of the date we reached the quarter mark last year."

Basing his predictions on the pattern established in the past five years, he said the halfway mark should be reached on October 25 and the three-quarter mark on November 6. But due to the $55,000 increase over last year's goal, the date the objective will be reached is not readily predictable.

All divisions of the campaign are now in operation with the exception of the residential division which begins its door-to door canvass October 15.

The residential division, under the direction of Mrs. Bonner Aust, is expected to collect $128,000, or about 20 per cent of the $655,000 goal.

McGeer Puts B.C. Grits 'On Election Footing'

PENTICTON (CP) — Buoyed by a victory Saturday in the race for the British Columbia Liberal leadership, Dr. Patrick Lucey McGeer says he's putting his grits on an election footing immediately.

"My first task as leader of the party will be to prepare for the next provincial election," the 41-year-old neurochemist told a news conference a few minutes after his victory was announced.

"We're ready for spring, or fall, or next week," he said. "We're through wandering in the political wilderness.

The Liberals have only six seats in the 55-seat house, dominated since 1952 by Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit party. Social Credit now has 32 seats and the Opposition NDP 17.

Dr. McGeer defeated his running mate in the Vancouver Point Grey riding, lawyer Garde Gardom, for the Liberal leadership.

A party spokesman said later the vote by more than 1,000 delegates to the two-day convention here was 686 to 316 for Dr. McGeer.

First elected to the legislature in 1962, Dr. McGeer succeeds Ray Perrault, who led the party for nine years. Mr. Perrault left the provincial scene when he defeated NDP National Leader T. C. Douglas, June 25 in Burnaby-Seymour federal riding.

Mr. Gardom, 44, earned his political spurs in the 1966 provincial election when he defeated former Social Credit Attorney-General Robert Bonner to share the Vancouver Point Grey riding with Dr. McGeer.

The new leader said he plans to take a leave of absence from the University of B.C., where he is an associate professor in the faculty of medicine and head of the Kinsmen Neurological Research Laboratory.

Dr. McGeer, one of the nation's top neurochemists, said he expects the Liberals will make "substantial gains" in the next provincial vote from disaffected Social Crediters and New Democrats.

"The election campaign starts tomorrow as far as I'm concerned," he said. "Our mem-

Brink Named President

PENTICTON (CP) — Russell Brink, 32-year-old Vancouver businessman, Saturday won the presidency of the British Columbia Liberal party on the second ballot in a hotly-contested three-way fight.

Mr. Brink, who owns a warehouse company, topped the polls on the first ballot with 344 votes. Lawyer Bryan Williams, 36, was second with 328 and Paul Plant, 40-year-old lumber company executive, finished third with 286.

Mr. Brink succeeds Lawrence Jolivet, 48, who left the post after four years service.

NDP Asks Douglas to Stay As Party Chief Until 1971

OTTAWA (CP) — Apparently reluctantly, T. C. Douglas has bowed to party pressure to review his decision to step down as NDP leader next year. He said Sunday he will reconsider.

The 64-year-old politician told a news conference during a meeting of the party's ruling federal council that he thinks—as he did before—that it is better he step down early rather than late.

"I think there comes a time when the party needs younger men," the slight and sprightly leader said. "And if the time comes, you do it quickly, rather than drag it out."

However, out of courtesy to all those within the party who asked him to remain as leader until 1971, he would reconsider his position.

CHOOSE WINNIPEG

The requests to stay on, including pressure from the federal council, amounted to something close to a draft, Mr. Douglas said. His final decision will be made known within a matter of weeks.

DOUGLAS
. . . draft from party

In a surprise move, the council picked Winnipeg as the site of the party's next biennial convention over Ottawa, which was thought to be favored.

The convention, to be held in late October or early November of next year, was supposed to have been an expanded affair to permit the selection of a successor to Mr. Douglas.

It may still be, even if Mr. Douglas decides to give in to pressure and run. Mr. Douglas made it clear that if he runs, that does not preclude others running.

Each biennial convention is technically a leadership convention, although nobody has contested Mr. Douglas's leadership since he became the first leader of the newly-founded party in 1961.

Mr. Douglas said he personally favors the idea of picking a new man next year to permit makeshift airport near Uli in Biafran-held territory.

Twenty-five aircraft landed on the airstrip—which is an improved highway—the night the politicians landed. They all fly at night to avoid ground fire.

NEED PLANES URGENTLY

Mr. Brewin said it is urgent that Canada offer Hercules planes to the non-political relief organizations which fly in from the coastal islands. The relief organizations can get crews to fly the planes, but not the planes.

The Swedish air force had lent a Hercules plane—the only one it had—to the Red Cross for relief duty into Biafra, Mr. Brewin said.

"And we haven't noticed any hostilities between Sweden and Nigeria," he said.

The Canadian government has refused to lend planes for Biafra duty because the Nigerian federal government has not granted approval.

Mr. Brewin said the best figure they could get was that 5,000 to 6,000 people were dying of starvation every day. Many are children. They saw evidence of starving children themselves.

It was doubtful relief supplies were getting to the people in the area occupied by the Nigerian army, he said.

FOOD HELP UP

Mr. Brewin said there was evidence that relief supplies sent to Lagos, the Nigerian capital, were not getting to the people.

Food entering Biafra is entirely dependent on the airlift into Uli, which nightly brings in 150 to 200 tons of relief supplies. This could be tripled with the help of Canadian planes.

The airlift operation is under the command of Capt. Axel Duch, a Danish-born Canadian citizen.

Canadian Hercules planes are an important answer to the problem of getting enough food in. Their big cargo doors permit fast loading and unloading. They can take big loads and land on smaller fields than some of the planes in use.

They both agreed that "one of the most tragic disasters in history was unfolding."

Mr. MacDonald said the Uli airport is also being used by planes from the African mainland bringing in arms and munitions for the beleaguered Biafrans. But arms are not carried on food relief planes from the coastal islands.

LEADERS A TARGET

Mr. MacDonald also said he believes the Nigerian federal troops are trying to eliminate the Ibo leadership.

Although the buildup of relief supplies will help prevent immediate starvation, the destruction of a people could only be avoided by an early cease-fire in the war, Mr. Brewin said.

A United Nations resolution for a cease-fire would help. Perhaps Nigeria could be encouraged to accept it by such countries as Britain. The UN general assembly could also act under its authority to prevent genocide as outlined in a UN convention.

The tactical situation is right for a peace-keeping force now.

Caritas International is one of the principal church groups flying in food to Biafra. It is the international Catholic relief agency. The World Council of Churches funnels its relief supplies through Nordchurchaid.

Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Brewin will report their conclusions to External Affairs Minister Sharp and Prime Minister Trudeau in a move to get action.

. . . DOUGLAS

the new leader time to make himself known before the next federal election, possibly 1972. But others want him to stay until some point closer to the election on the theory that would give the new leader additional momentum for the election.

LIST TWO FACTORS

Party officials indicated there were two chief factors in the selection of Winnipeg as the convention site. It would permit greater representation from the party's stronghold provinces in the west.

Second, the last two conventions were held in Toronto and it was only fair that the next one should be in the west.

The council passed seven resolutions including one urged the Liberal government not to permit protocol or legalistic procedure to stand in the way of getting food to Biafra.

The council said Canada should lend Hercules transports to relief agencies flying food into Biafra to feed starving civilians. Military personnel should be permitted to volunteer to man the planes.

A telegram was sent to Prime Minister Trudeau urging the Liberal leader to set a date for the byelection in Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands, the avenue through which Mr. Douglas hopes to return to the Commons. He lost his seat in the June 25 federal election.

There are reports that the by-election might be held before Christmas.

A committee under the chairmanship of Mayor Allan O'Brien of Halifax was established to study the question of financial security for the party leader including times when he is not in the Commons as well as retirement.

bership has increased 10-fold in the past 10 years and we have better than 10,000 people in the party now.

"I think the NDP will probably maintain its hard core of support, but Social Credit is another story. The present government has implemented its highway and power development programs and it's becoming obvious to the people of B.C. that Social Credit hasn't got any new ideas."

ENDS CAMPAIGNING

Dr. McGeer's election ended two wild days of campaigning in this Okanagan Valley city. The Peace Bowl Convention Centre was packed Saturday afternoon as the candidates delivered their speeches.

At a banquet following the leadership balloting, Mr. McGeer told a wildly cheering crowd that could barely hear him the party's task is to "convert the wealth of government to the enrichment of the people."

He accused the province's Social Credit government of piling up huge surpluses in bonds and debentures that would be put to better use in building schools and hospitals.

WOMAN HIJACKS PLANE

MERIDA, Mex. (AP)—A 35-year-old woman from Argentina, who said she found life in Mexico intolerable, hijacked a twin-engine turboprop airliner with 17 persons aboard Sunday and ordered the pilot to fly to Cuba.

Mexican authorities said the woman, identified as Judith Vazquez, entered the cockpit and pulled a gun from beneath a white shawl. The pilot, Captain Ricardo Erosa Trejo, said that after ordering him to fly to Cuba the woman said hysterically: "I'd rather be killed or jailed in Cuba than return to Mexico." She did not explain the remark.

She is believed to be the first woman to seize a plane and take it to Cuba. The incident took place as the Aeromaya plane flew over Mexico's Isla Mujeres, the Isle of Women, on its way to Merida.

PLANE RETURNS

After seven hours in Havana, the plane, which carried 14 passengers and a crew of three, returned to Merida Sunday night.

Guild Accepts New Contract

The 125-member Victoria local of the American Newspaper Guild Sunday voted 90 per cent in favor of a new two-year agreement covering editorial and business office employees of Victoria Press Limited which owns the Victoria Daily Times and The Daily Colonist.

The contract provides for salary increases in three stages for employees earning more than $100 per week totalling 17.2 per cent over the two years. For those earning under $100 per week there are extra adjustments.

Additional benefits and adjustments are also provided for in salary classifications, night differential, statutory holiday payments, annual vacations and car mileage allowances.

Writer Dies

WEST VANCOUVER (CP) — Mrs. Grace Luckhart, 84, a former newspaper columnist, died here Sunday after a long illness. She wrote a daily column for the Province from 1923 to 1939 and contributed hundreds of articles to newspapers in Toronto and Ottawa.

'No Sign of Life' Then One Man Moved

CACHE CREEK (CP) — When a rescue team from Comox armed services base reached the wreckage of a light plane near this central British Columbian village Saturday there was no sign of life.

The two men inside the shattered Cessna 150, missing somewhere between Ashcroft and Clinton since last Wednesday, appeared dead.

Then something moved in the plane. It was plane passenger Gordon Henderson, 20 of Clinton. The rescue team, which had touched down a few minutes earlier in their Labrador helicopter in a clearing near the crash scene 2½ miles southwest of Cache Creek, sprang into action.

Wayne Davis, pilot of the rented aircraft, was dead, but Henderson was alive and badly in need of medical attention.

For three days and nights he had been pinned in the wreckage unable to free himself and unable to move sufficiently to even make himself comfortable, his rescuers said. He was conscious when found, but too weak to talk.

LONG WAY OUT

Henderson was airlifted first to the hospital in Ashcroft where he was prepared for air evacuation to Kamloops by the helicopter and then by Albatross aircraft to Vancouver General Hospital.

Sunday he was in fair condition at Vancouver General Hospital with a fractured jaw, numerous bruises and possible leg fractures.

The plane, rented by the two men at Ashcroft on Wednesday, was reported missing Thursday when it failed to return to base.

Searchmaster Capt. Ed Riley of Kamloops air sea rescue unit, said the plane disappeared Wednesday after it made two unsuccessful attempts to land at Clinton due to a strong crosswind.

WRECK PROBED

Davis was apparently flying back to Ashcroft when the plane crashed. A Department of Transport investigator Sunday was at the wreck scene.

Riley said Davis learned to fly at Pitt Meadow Airport in the Fraser Valley and had 110 flying hours to his credit.

Both men worked for the Clinton Butcher Shop in Clinton. Davis, formerly of Burnaby until he moved to Clinton six months ago, was married and was the father of a boy, six, and a girl, three.

LANDS PLANE ON CAR ROOF

BAGLEY, Minn. (UPI) — Herbert Pooch was startled but unhurt Sunday when George Fletcher landed his light plane on top of Pooch's car. Fletcher, who was trying to land on the highway after the engine of his plane failed, also escaped injury.

The top of Pooch's car was smashed in, and the plane was a total wreck.

CROWD WATCHES DROWNING

By The Canadian Press

A witness said Sunday a group of spectators stood on a bridge in Vancouver and watched a man drown.

Harold Robert Wheeler, 60, of Coquitlam was drowned in the north arm of the Fraser River at Vancouver Saturday as a crowd gathered on a bridge.

He and Mrs. Lydia McClelland, 62, of Burnaby were thrown into the river when their pickup truck crashed through the bridge railing and plunged into 20 feet of water.

Dick Swanson, driving three cars behind the pickup, rescued Mrs. McClelland.

"My wife watched the man drown," Mr. Swanson said later.

"There were men and women standing there 15 feet above the river. My wife told me a woman said to her husband: 'You can swim—dive in.' But nobody did anything."

Horses Burned

NEW YORK (Reuters) — About 30 horses were killed early Monday when a fire swept through a riding stable in Brooklyn.

Valleys Scoured For Cong Bases

SAIGON (AP) — Thousands of United States and South Vietnamese troops scoured the battle-scarred mountain valleys near Khe Sanh and the jungled foothills southwest of Da Nang today in new offensives aimed at preventing Viet Cong attacks.

Task forces of U.S. marines and American and South Vietnamese infantrymen met with little resistance, but continued to turn up valuable munitions stockpiles, probably hindering or even delaying any offensive plans.

One stockpile found two miles below the centre portion of the demilitarized zone yielded 200 rounds of 152-millimetre artillery ammunition plus 100 fuses.

FOR FIRST TIME

This was significant because it marked the first known time in the war that 152-millimetre ammunition had been found in South Vietnam, indicating that the North Vietnamese might be planning to try to move big Russian-made guns into the South. The 152s can fire a 90-pound missile 10.5 miles.

Military spokesmen, in delayed reports, announced the loss of four more U.S. aircraft to ground fire during the last three days.

The marines returned to Khe Sanh during the weekend in a new offensive sweep through the one-time fortress, three months after giving it up for what the U.S. command said was more flexibility and mobility.

The marines apparently acted on intelligence reports that North Vietnamese troops had moved into Khe Sanh, but the marines went in unopposed. A U.S. spokesman said they don't plan to stay.

WEATHER SYNOPSIS

There was a touch of winter in Alberta and extreme northern British Columbia when widespread snow fell in these areas last night. Overnight temperatures in central and southern regions of B.C. dropped into the thirties, but the only report of snow was from some mountain passes. The large mass of moist unsettled air which lies over the interior will gradually move eastward today and will be followed by a ridge of high pressure. Coastal regions will see sunny skies but the clearing is not expected to reach eastern regions until tonight. A disturbance in the Gulf of Alaska will bring rain to the north coast tonight. However, the system is weakening and will not have much effect on the rest of the forecast district as it moves southward on Tuesday.

DOMINION PUBLIC WEATHER OFFICE

Quebec Grits Aim to Please Both Sides

By STAN McDOWELL
Times Ottawa Bureau

MONTREAL — Quebec's provincial Liberals moved a cautious step closer to the constitutional position of Prime Minister Trudeau at their weekend congress here.

But they kept an escape route open in case the prevailing climate of opinion in Quebec should change.

Sunday the party adopted a constitutional resolution that was deliberately vague enough to win the support of both federalists and nationalists in the party.

Supporting it, nationalist Yves Michaud, MLA for the Montreal riding of Gouin, said the party should beware of "locking itself too tightly into the present situation" — he was referring to the federalist climate that accompanied Prime Minister Trudeau's election victory — or else it would be unable to keep in step with any change in Quebec opinion.

He said the resolution would enable both federalist and nationalist leanings to work for their own goals within the party.

A spokesman for the opposite camp, Dr. Victor Goldbloom, MLA for the largely english-speaking riding of D'Arcy Magee, agreed that the resolution could be accused of lacking precision but "if we tried to put more precise meaning into it we might find we disagreed on what that meaning should be."

The resolution softens one of the verbal differences between the views of Trudeau and those of the provincial party by backing off from the Quebec Liberal Federation's earlier insistence on a "special status" for Quebec.

Referring to a resolution passed at last year's congress, rejecting separatism but insisting on a special status, the resolution says that "the immense majority of party members remain in agreement with the constitutional position expressed in the resolution of the congress of October, 1967, while expressing reservations about the expression or label special status."

But it maintains the underlying principle on which claims for special status have been based, that the French language and culture of the majority of its citizens may give Quebec special needs and lead it to take constitutional positions different from the other provinces.

It affirms the party's faith in "federalism"—made acceptable to all shades of opinion by remaining undefined—but says constitutional negotiations should give priority to a new division of powers, particularly in the fields of economic policy, social security, health, marriage and divorce, immigration and manpower, international agreements, radio and television.

As to how power in these fields is to be divided, however, the resolution remains silent.

SOLIDARITY

At this congress the one overriding aim was the party solidarity the Liberals had conspicuously lacked from their defeat in June, 1966, until now.

Party divisions, coming increasingly to focus on opposed constitutional philosophies, came to a climax with the expulsion of Rene Levesque a year ago.

But the fact remains that, whatever their motives, both major provincial parties in Quebec are now bound be the goal of party solidarity to postures slightly more federalist then they have had in the past.

The strongest nationalists of the Union Nationale prefer for the moment to demonstrate their loyalty to Daniel Johnson's more federalist successor, Jean-Jacques Bertrand, than risk being accused of splitting the party.

And the strongest nationalists among the Liberals are bowing to the prevailing belief in their party that a more federalist stance is good political strategy.

But the immediate outlook is for both major parties to feel less obliged to try to outbid one another to appeal to nationalist support or to maintain a rigid opposition to the federal governments for fear of being accused by their opponents of becoming soft on federalism.

North Viets Alerted For Change

PARIS (Reuters) — The North Vietnamese delegation to the Paris peace talks suddenly cancelled a scheduled press conference and a series of individual press interviews today because of developments in Washington.

The cancellations followed reports that United States negotiator Cyrus R. Vance had appealed privately to President Johnson to add more flexibility to the American stand in the deadlocked Paris peace talks.

The North Vietnamese delegation here is standing by in the expectation that Vance's current mission to Washington might result in a breakthrough in the negotiating deadlock as the Nov. 5 U.S. presidential election approaches, diplomatic observers said.

"We are waiting and hoping for the United States to stop the bombing so that the talks here can become more meaningful," a North Vietnamese spokesman said, commenting on the Vance mission.

Faulty Furnace Kills Writer

ATLANTA, Ga. (CP-AP) — Lillian Barker, official biographer of Canada's Dionne quintuplets, and her niece, Marion M. Transou, were found dead in Mrs. Tranou's home Sunday night.

Police said they apparently were victims of carbon monoxide fumes from a defective furnace. Miss Barker wrote The Dionne Legend as well as a number of mystery novels. She was writing another at the time of her death.

An Atlanta native, Miss Barker worked for several American newspapers, covering assignments in the United States and abroad. She returned to Atlanta in 1950 and since then had written scripts for several television programs, including Gunsmoke and Bonanza.

BABOON'S HEARTS 'WITHIN YEAR OR TWO'

By STUART AUERBACH, The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Dr. Christiaan Barnard will transplant baboons' hearts into children "within the next year or two," the South African heart transplant pioneer said here Saturday.

To overcome the body's normal tendency to reject foreign organisms, Barnard said he plans to build up a "tolerance" within the recipient by exposing him to small doses of the baboon's tissue for one or two weeks before the transplant.

One animal would be selected for each transplant candidate. "That would be his animal," Barnard told a press conference at the 10th International Congress on Diseases of the Chest.

This would work in much the same way that injections of pollen are given to a person suffering from hay fever so his body will build up a tolerance to it.

The problems of organ transplants dominated the opening day of this congress, as it has most medical meetings since Dr. Barnard performed the first human-to-human heart transplant last December.

ONE CLASS CHINA GOAL

By COLIN McCULLOUGH
Special to the Times

PEKING — The grey walls of Peking which had been scraped and repainted for National Day are bright with green, yellow and mauve big character posters this morning.

The posters, along with a demonstration Saturday by tens of thousands of marchers in Peking Streets, celebrated the new instruction by Chairman Mao which apparently is the second step in a party building program mentioned by Chiang Ching at a rally a few weeks ago, and declared as the leadership objective by vice-chairman Lin Piao on National Day, Oct. 1.

The new instruction calls on all cadres, with the exception of those too old, weak or disabled, to do manual labor.

BASIC GOAL

This is in line with the basic goal of the cultural revolution: To end once and for all the stratifications in Chinese society, institutions and organizations, including the Communist party itself.

It is the central committee's belief that as the gulf grows between worker and official—whether by accident or design—also do the tendencies toward capitalism and revisionism.

Thus meshing of workers with officials and intellectuals has become one of the revolution's main tasks, now that deposed President Liu Shao Chi and those persons in authority taking the capitalist road line have been exposed and overthrown.

Publication of the new Mao instruction in the authoritative People's Daily, however, was accompanied by a special report that seemed aimed primarily at highly placed cadres criticized during the cultural revolution and at new cadres who have risen to positions of power.

CADRES SCHOOL

The report, which an editor's note recommended for conscientious study by cadres and intellectuals, described a school for cadres established five months ago in Heilungkiang province.

The school, which has 500 members, is in fact a farm which has developed side interests including the running of small factories.

It thus could serve as an ideological training school not only for revolutionary committee members but also for industrial workers whom a recent People's Daily editorial said should be recruited into the party to infuse it with new blood and strengthen its fighting force.

90 INJURED IN IRISH PROTEST

LONDONDERRY (Reuters)—Hundreds of Roman Catholics and Londonderry's Labor party bypassed their own Protestant-dominated government today to appeal directly to Prime Minister Wilson for an investigation into alleged police brutality which broke up protest marches in Northern Ireland this weekend.

More than 90 persons were injured in the violence which started Saturday when 200 policemen armed with clubs waded into a march by 300 persons calling for equal rights for Northern Ireland's Roman Catholic minority.

The violence continued Sunday as gangs of youths protested with a window-smashing rampag ein the city. An uneasy calm prevailed today.

Steel-helmeted police Sunday night repulsed a rush by 800 persons up a hilly street leading to one of the city's ancient gates. But the crowd re-grouped and built bonfire barricades which they kept going until police hosed them out with water cannon.

Britain's only responsibility for Northern Ireland is for its external security through the armed forces. Constitutionally the Northern Ireland government is entirely responsible for internal law and order.

'Scale Down War' South Asks North

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu said today the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese have failed in every attempt to bring "disastrous consequences" to South Vietnam in 1968.

But he said that for peace to be realized the Hanoi regime must acknowledge its aggression and agree to abandon its attempts to take over South Vietnam.

"The most reasonable way to end this war is for both sides to scale down the level of hostilities leading gradually to a ceasefire effectively controlled and guaranteed," Thieu said in a speech to the National Assembly on the first anniversary of the creation of the body.

Speaking in the Senate chamber with Vice-President Nguyen Cao Ky and Premier Tran Van Huong in attendance, Thieu emphasized that he believes South Vietnam is militarily and politically gaining the upper hand in the war.

WON'T CONCEDE

"I reaffirm today that we will not concede any portion of our territory to the Communist aggressors, and we will not accept any form of coalition with the Communists," he said.

Hanoi is attempting "to decide international public opinion," Thieu said, by saying the continued bombing of North Vietnam south of the 20th parallel is an obstacle to peace negotiations.

The basic issue, however, is an end to the war, not an end to the bombing, he said. To confuse the two not only obstructs peace but also risks extending the conflict, the president said.

"We are willing and ready to take any action which can hasten the establishment of a just and honorable peace, but we cannot take any action that will prolong the war or will reward aggression. It now is up to Hanoi to let us know how a total cessation of bombing over the remaining part of North Vietnam will bring both sides closer to peace."

"Dear Canada Trust,
I need someone to depend on for financial advice."

You can depend on us

We receive this type of request almost every day. From women whose children have settled in other cities. From women recently widowed, or retiring from a rewarding career. To them the world of finance is often strange and frightening. So they come to Canada Trust. And find a very dependable someone indeed.

We're a financial supermarket

Just as food sustains you physically, Canada Trust keeps you going and growing financially by assisting in every area of your financial life. From the moment you become a Canada Trust customer, you have the solid experience of a large group of qualified officers working on your behalf. From then on, your individual financial requirements are our first consideration.

How well you live depends largely on how hard your money is working for you. We make it work, in a variety of ways designed to bring you high income.

19% increase sound like a lot?

It is a lot. Yet each equity unit of the Canada Trust Investment Fund actually increased 19% in value last year. And that's just one year. People who invested in the fund when it started nine years ago, and reinvested their dividends, have more than doubled their money today.

The fund is designed to give you a diversified portfolio of Canadian and American stocks, and protection from the deteriorating purchasing power of the dollar.

So, for a high return, there's the Canada Trust Investment Fund. It's like having your money professionally managed for you by your own personal investment counsellor. There's no charge for either joining the fund or leaving it. You pay no salesman's commission. Except for a small administration fee, every dollar you invest goes directly to work for you.

High-interest certificates

They're designed for people who want a regular income, or want to put some money to work for a short time. We call them Trust Certificates. You can buy them in amounts from $100 up to thousands of dollars, and they pay a guaranteed rate of interest.

And there's the money you may want to put aside for a vacation, or a sudden emergency, or a gift for your grandchildren, or nieces or nephews. That money belongs in a high-interest Target Savings Account.

"Fringe Benefits" too

Something wonderful happens when you begin your financial association with Canada Trust. As a Canada Trust customer, you qualify for some of the nicest fringe benefits in town.

For instance, Canada Trust offers a chequing account that pays interest, and makes no charge for a reasonable number of cheques. We'll handle your estate, making sure your beneficiaries receive the best possible protection and avoid unnecessary taxes. And we have a Safe Deposit Box for your securities, jewellery and other valuables.

We know our business

Drop in and meet the manager of your nearest Canada Trust office during our convenient longer business hours. He'll welcome you, and your questions, and see that you get the advice you need.

Or write to the address below. And tell us how many grandchildren you have. We'd like to send a little something along for each of them.

On the Threshold?

THE DISTINGUISHING MARKS of the provincial Liberal convention at Penticton were size and enthusiasm, and there is no doubt that a sense of being on the brink of a new era in British Columbia politics pervades the Party. There is reason to believe that a hint of that feeling may also be detected in the Social Credit government, where by-election rebuffs, ministerial drop-outs, cabinet disagreements, rank-and-file unrest and a series of awkward reversals of policy have been widely interpreted as signs of decay in the 16-year-old regime.

It is clear in any case that an opportunity for great advancement now lies before the provincial Liberals. Partly as a result of the recent sweeping federal victory, partly as a result of a growing conviction that the provincial tide is turning, larger numbers of young and active Liberal candidates and supporters are turning to the organization. There is a feeling that the long years of opposition and, indeed, of near oblivion, in the Legislature are coming to an end, and that constituency nominees could soon find themselves in the government benches.

This attitude has been forcefully expressed by the new and vigorous Party leader, Dr. Pat McGeer, who last Saturday was voted into the post vacated by Mr. Ray Perrault. He predicts that he will be the next premier of the province—and he can win more attention with that assertion today, from a party standpoint, than at any time in the last decade.

In Penticton Dr. McGeer stressed the need to convert more of British Columbia's undoubted wealth into benefits for the people. It is a theme he urged at the last session of the Legislature—his sixth—when he declared that "each year the shortages in education, hospitals, welfare and housing become more glaring and obvious."

In this light he attacks the weak side of the Bennett administration, which has emphasized the material enrichment of one of Canada's wealthiest provinces at the expense of the services and facilities necessary for a modern society. What issues have been the subject of the most urgent demands and protests during the last few years of Mr. Bennett's government? Schools, hospitals, parks, social services, libraries—issues such as these have roused the public almost continuously in recent years. Costs have grown in municipal budgets, local services have starved, while the provincial government openly boasted of its large surpluses.

Only now is Mr. Bennett turning to a tardy recognition of inevitably growing governmental responsibilities in these fields. But his administration, whatever the virtues with which history will credit it, will not be known as one overly receptive to human requirements where material gain was an alternative. There is naturally a need for sound economic and financial policies for the progress of the province, but the reason for it all should not be overlooked and forgotten. That reason is people—and the provincial Liberal Party now has an opportunity to restore this objective.

It Pays to Speak Up

THE COMPLAINT IS OFTEN heard in these times of big government that the people have lost their ability to exert a direct influence on the course of public affairs. Faced with official injustice or stupidity the public reaction too often is apathy. Premier Bennett's reversal on the Roberts Bank railway route is a useful reminder that an aroused population can make its wishes felt.

The premier should be commended for proving responsive to the weight of opinion and evidence that had been brought against the government's policy. It is unfortunate, however, that he did not recognize it sooner and remained so adamant throughout the debate. When the decision was made known to route the B.C. Hydro spur line along the shore of Boundary Bay there was an outcry from recreation, conservation and planning groups. Alternate routes were suggested that would preserve the priceless beaches for public enjoyment, especially in the crowded future, but the government and the railway companies involved were not moved. One cabinet minister, Mr. Loffmark, dismissed the critics as "baying hounds."

Now Mr. Bennett has decided to run with those hounds himself and has ordered surveys to seek a more suitable route for the railway to the superport. The object now should be, as a Lower Mainland planning board spokesman put it, "to get a proper balance of public convenience with consideration being given to all legitimate interests."

The battle to save the beaches is not over but the groups and individuals who led the fight can take satisfaction from their initial success. Others should note that protest pays when it is based on facts. It may be necessary to shout occasionally but politicians can usually be made to listen.

'Historic' by Delay

MR. LLOYD R. CROUSE, A Conservative member of Parliament who frequently speaks for the fishermen of the Atlantic Coast, has introduced into the Commons an interesting point regarding the historic right of foreign fishermen to fish Canadian waters when the government eventually decides from what baselines it will measure its limits.

Quoting from an early brief presented by the Fisheries Council of Canada — which represents processors of 90 per cent of Canadian fishing products—he cites their proposal that any nation whose vessels had fished the outer six miles of the 12-mile fisheries limit for at least five years be given the right to continue such fishing for another 10 years.

Then he points out, citing another authority, that continued delay in fixing the exact limits has given more nations time to establish a five-year record of fishing in the waters claimed by Canada.

The point assumes significance on this coast as fishing nations from across the Pacific extend their operations. Associate membership in the "historic rights" club could grow to a point threatening the fisheries which Canada is trying to protect.

Names, Please

CANADIANS REACT DEFENSIVELY when nebulous suggestions come from the United States that our water be shipped south to meet demands below the border. Such proposals have usually been wrapped in generalities. Now the Christian Science Monitor particularizes.

"United States and Canadian officials," it says, "are now mulling over the possibilities of diverting Mackenzie River water through the mid-continent to the Colorado River basin."

The statement invites a Canadian question: Which Canadian officials and on whose instructions? Surely the point has been adequately made that there can be no export of Canadian water until it has been conclusively shown that this country will not have any need for it in the future. And that will take some showing in a nation expanding as rapidly as Canada.

". . . he says he wants you to put down your beer . . . get out of your easy chair . . . switch off the World Series and come to the office right away . . ."

FROM OTTAWA — By MAURICE WESTERN

Full Protection for Our Armed Forces

Western

MR. LEO CADIEUX, the minister of national defence, has acquired a reputation as a quiet parliamentarian with a disarming sense of humor. This is well illustrated by his answers to a series of written questions submitted by Mr. Douglas Harkness. The questions, all of them straightforward, conformed with two exceptions to a pattern. Mr. Harkness sought enlightenment with respect to regular force infantry battalions, engineer units, signal units, artillery regiments and armoured units. Thus, in the first instance, he asked the number of infantry battalions, as of July 1, their names and strength and the war establishment of each. He was curious also as to the new war establishments consequent on the announced reduction in the number of companies. Finally, have any of the battalions been disbanded or are they to be disbanded?

Against this thrust, which evidently aroused nervous apprehensions in national defence, Mr. Cadieux threw up a hedgehog defence. "It is not considered to be in the public interest," he said, "to divulge war establishments of military units, nor is it departmental policy to release individual unit strengths."

Complete Security

This position appears, from a parliamentary standpoint, well-nigh impregnable. What cannot be withheld on the ground of national interest can be preserved against prying eyes by the prohibitions of departmental policy. Our security, whether national or political, is complete.

Here perhaps is the explanation for the otherwise mysterious answer given by Mr. Cadieux in response to a further question on the numbers of officers and men serving, respectively, in fighting units and in administrative or non-fighting jobs. "It is difficult" replied the minister, "to distinguish between personnel engaged in 'fighting jobs' as opposed to 'non-fighting jobs.'"

It may appear to the uncritical observer that a considerable number of pencils on Elgin Street (and elsewhere) are poised with less than lethal intent. This impression is quite wrong. The minds behind the pencils are kept at a pitch of fighting fitness by the necessity, clearly apparent ever since unification, of devising answers calculated to divert the public gaze from national defence business.

There was a time, not so long ago, when it was possible to make public mention of war establishments without setting the alarm bells ringing in Ottawa. The notion prevailed that the Russians would not waste even a fourth rate agent on inquiries of this sort since the information (though of interest to our public) would yield them nothing of value. After all the fact that a unit has an establishment — not a strength — of, say, 25 officers and 600 men, tells nothing whatever about the internal organization of the unit.

What this possibly ignores is the matter of public morale. Thus it might have been disturbing in pre-Hellyer days to learn that a battalion with an establishment of 800 had a strength of only 600. The answer, which we owe to unified thinking, is to bring the establishment down to strength. Thus with less defence we have more peace of mind, which is to be preserved by keeping establishments secret in case of any further slips.

Mr. Cadieux's answers reveal another important advance in DHQ thinking. There exists a notion in the country that the department has been busy disbanding units. This is a faulty generalization. So far as the affected infantry battalions are concerned, they have merely been or are being "reduced to nil strength." It is a mistake to underestimate the military significance of our paper tigers. As for RCEME units, they are "no longer identifiable as organizational entities." Mr. Cadieux, with what seems dangerous imprudence, revealed that we still have three field workshops with a total strength to 680 although he added that they are going to be absorbed in service battalions.

It appears at first glance inconsistent that the department, although not prepared to disclose unit strengths, is willing enough to list our infantry battalions, armored regiments or engineer squadrons and the totals in each category. The obvious reason for revealing the total; namely that the information was not sought; must in this instance be rejected. In fact the key words in Mr. Cadieux's answer are 2 QOR of C.

As every alert Soviet agent knows from his reading of Hansard, 2 QOR of C is one of our prowling paper tigers. It is only reasonable to assume that a defence based in part on nil-strengths must also include fractional strengths of various orders of magnitude. Thus no calculation is possible. The agent is reduced to leg work if he wants a message and if Moscow will pay the tolls.

Those Fighting Lawyers

While war establishments are secret, variable and in the circumstances not very meaningful, the critics — and presumably the Russians — are welcome to such information (see Hansard page 459) as the numbers in the three "environments" receiving pilots' pay. There is even a breakdown of the number (as of January 1) on flying duties and the number engaged in administrative combat.

There is also the revelation that 53 lawyers at last accounting were drawing special remuneration in our fighting forces. If all else fails, this should give the Russians pause.

Letters

Clean-up

Through the medium of your paper we would like to express our thanks to all those who took part in the recent community-wide clean-up. In particular, we want to thank some Scouts, Guides, Cubs, Brownies and their leaders; also some 15 Junior Forest Wardens and their leaders. On the same day, members of the Junior Natural History Society were busy with one of their regular clean-ups at Thomas Francis Park.

We also acknowledge with gratitude the assistance of a number of merchants in providing sacks and bags for the collection of the litter, and of the municipalities, department of national defence and others for disposing of the litter. The interest shown by the press and radio stations has also been appreciated.

The effort made by all concerned will have been well spent if every person using our parks and beaches will remember that "Where litter lies, beauty dies."—Katherine M. Sherman, chairman, Outdoors Unlittered

Over-population Remedy

May I pass on a suggestion arising from your editorial "New Test for Aid".

Certainly Finance Minister Benson's support of Mr. McNamara will be approved by all Canadians, on humane grounds. The question remains, is it really humane to compel birth-control; is it efficient for reducing population?

On the surface it seems more humane to subvert the pious poor than to put them in gas chambers; but it is clearly more logical to wipe out poverty and excess population by a single stroke, as is done in Vietnam.

Clearly Mr. McNamara must face the fact that world prosperity on his terms is hindered by a residue of Christianity. There is no guarantee that the modern poor will not listen to the Pope in Rome. If it were wrong to make in the female human body a death-chamber for human seed, the Christians would be right; but when the issue is prosperity, they are obviously wrong. Representing informed public opinion, Mr. McNamara should act against the hindrance with the promptness for which he is known in Vietnam. Elimination of conscientious objectors from his war on poverty would also be a practical measure for North Americans; the Roman Empire in its powerful prosperity knew what to do with early Christians, but it lacked thoroughness. We know what happened to Rome.—G. Morgan, 12 Royal Roads.

HOBBIES

I believe everybody should have a hobby, an interest of their own, something they have to keep improving — getting to know more about it. It doesn't matter what it is so long as its something you like doing; maybe some special kind of cooking, or sewing, or making pottery, maybe painting (your house or a picture), or learning to play a musical instrument. With some entirely personal interest you've no time to get old.

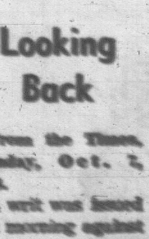
FROM FLINT, MICHIGAN — By JOSEPH ALSOP

This Is What Is Happening Next Door



Alsop

THE football stadium here is big, with shiny metal goal posts and (somewhat surprisingly) green wall-to-wall carpeting demarcated in white over the playing field. When he came through here, George C. Wallace filled its eleven thousand seats. With whom, one wondered? It was not hard to find out. Walking beneath the parapet that divides the bleachers from from the playing field, one could take a rapid job-poll of the men in the front boxes. Of seventy-two respondents, only two were in front-office positions, as accountants or something similar. No less than seven were school teachers. All the rest were dye-makers, polishers, production-workers, millwrights, carpenters, truck-drivers, and so on and on.

To underline his wish to reach "the honest working people of America," Wallace brought along a kind of mute Greek chorus composed of ladies of Alabama labor unions. And at all the huge Wallace meetings in Illinois and Michigan, one could never discover anyone belonging to America's classic conservative group, the medium to big businessmen.

The audiences that cheer Wallace are wholly different, then, from the audiences that used to cheer Barry Goldwater. Furthermore, the Wallace movement is utterly different from the rightwing Republican surge for Goldwater in 1964, precisely, alas, because it really is a grass roots movement. For instance, you cannot imagine Goldwater getting the unsolicited endorsement of Chevrolet Local 659, the UAW's second biggest. Wallace just did.

"Little People"

Initially, to be sure, it is known that Wallace financed his movement by exacting "contributions" from businessmen having contracts with the State of Alabama. Today, moreover, there are undoubtedly big money contributors to the Wallace movement, lurking somewhere in the background. But much money support comes form "the little people," too.

In the same way, much organizational support also comes from the little people. Ask one of the placard bearers at the Wallace meetings who they are. You are exceedingly likely to find someone like Mrs. Jean Dowdell, of Wayne, Michigan, a bartender's wife who started a big Wallace club there because "we just thought we had to; no one asked us to". In Chicago, the Wallace party found no less than fourteen newly formed Wallace clubs they had never heard about.

As yet, in fact, the accent is all on spontaneity rather than formal organization. The most truly organized performance, in the whole period since Wallace got going in dead earnest, was the research into state election laws carried out by twenty young Alabama attorneys, before the effort began to get the Wallace party on the ballot.

But the manpower to circulate the petitions, which actually got the Wallace party on the ballot, was then in the main secured by writing to people in the different states who had voluntarily sent in contributions to Wallace at some time in the past. In the same way, the audiences at the big meetings are in the main recruited by simple newspaper advertisements and short radio spots.

All this does not mean, however, that there will be no organization in the future. In the lists of contributors, increased at every meeting by the name-and-address cards passed out by the Wallace girls who collect money, Wallace already has the nucleus of a huge, nationwide, wholly personal organization. The Wallace clubs, springing up everywhere, constitute nodes around which the organization can be built in the future.

Obviously, not all the clubs will survive the election. Obviously, there will be much sorting out to do, before efficient state leaders are found, for instance. But Wallace and his party are on the ballot everywhere, and he clearly means for them to stay there.

Occasionally, he lets slip something that reflects on his future intentions if he falls short of his professed hope of winning in 1968. At one moment, on his last trip, he remarked that both Democrats and Republicans would have "to reckon" with his party. At another moment, he even predicted the eventual disappearance of one of the two major parties.

Deadly Serious

All this indicates the reasons for the warning in my last report, that Wallace and his new party must now be taken with deadly seriousness. If Richard M. Nixon wins the presidency in the normal manner, a good many Wallaceites are no doubt likely to become Republicans. But there will be a big and loyal remnant, and Wallace will surely organize the remnant in a much more complete manner, with his eye on 1972.

Furthermore, Nixon's election is highly unlikely to exorcise the troubles in the cities, or the follies of the New Left, or any of the other sources of Wallace's strength. Wallace all but openly gloats over that, in fact. And it is not pleasant to reflect on the future, with Nixon in the White House, chiefly threatened from the right by Wallace.

Looking Back

From the Times, Monday, Oct. 7, 1918.

A writ was issued this morning against the B.C. Electric Railway Co. on behalf of Amy K. Gilchrist, wife of Capt. Gilchrist, for the sum of $20,000. She is seeking damages for injuries received from the breaking down of one of the company cars in the city.

The car was travelling at a good rate when the front axle broke and Mrs. Gilchrist was thrown violently across the aisle and was severely injured. Several other were injured in the accident.

'Nixon the Only Man Who Can Run the Country'

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Lippmann

In the weeks that have passed since the Democratic convention in Chicago, it has become painfully clear that the Democratic Party is too disorganized to run the country. No doubt it is theoretically possible, though it is highly improbable, that Hubert Humphrey can do what Harry Truman did in 1948. But it is getting late even for that.

Should he win by some fluke or miracle, there is still no doubt that he would go to the White House as a minority president, opposed by a great heterogeneous majority consisting or Republicans, Wallacites and disaffected Democrats. It seems to me clear that the Democratic Party today is unable to offer the country the genuine prospect of a coherent government.

* * *

All this is even more true of what George Wallace has to offer. He does not have and has never had an organized party behind him. He has only an angry crowd behind him, and if he could be elected — which he cannot be — he would be at a loss as to what to do next, not having the supporters or the program or the experienced men to form a genuine government. Wallace does not offer the country a choice, only an expression of part of the people's discontents.

This leaves us with Nixon as the one and only candidate who can be elected and shows the promise, like it or not, of being able to put together an administration to run the government. Wallace is not a real alternative to Nixon because Wallace cannot put together an administration to govern the country.

Humphrey would be an alternative to Nixon were it not for the fact that the Democratic Party, as it has existed since Franklin Roosevelt's time, has come apart at the seams. It is now a disarray of discordant minorities. It has as its candidate a man who is inextricably bogged in the failures of the Johnson Administration. It would be one of the curiosities of politics if the voters chose to give a mandate to Lyndon Johnson's creature.

Neither of Nixon's two opponents is able to offer the prospect of a party sufficiently strong and united to govern the country. Thus, the actual choice before the voter does not lie among three candidates. The choice is between Nixon and some sort of abstention from the presidential contest. Abstention, if I understand him correctly, is Sen. McCarthy's choice.

* * *

It is a quite respectable choice for a man who is in his special position, which is that of a professional Democratic politician who wishes to keep his party affiliation for work in the future. But abstention means that the abstainers are not going to interfere with the choice of those who do not abstain.

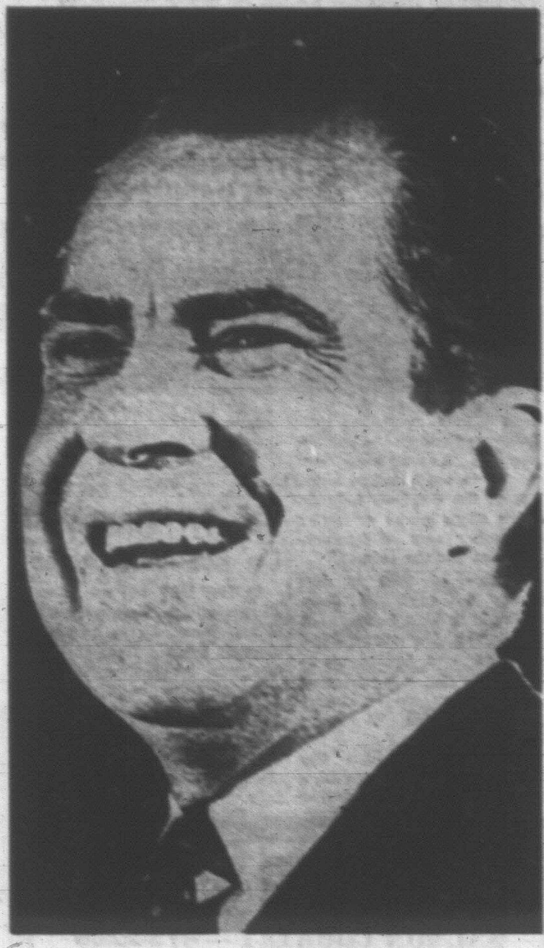
It means that they will not make a positive choice of the president and of the party which is going to govern the country in the next four years. Apart from abstaining, there is no choice but to support Nixon.

It is generally agreed that there is a movement, probably of landslide proportions, away from the liberalism of the past 40 years and toward, relatively speaking, a more conservative posture at home and abroad. This is not surprising and it is not in itself deplorable.

* * *

It does not mean that all the good things that have been accomplished will be repealed and undone. But it does mean that the virtues and ideals which conservatives cherish — particularly discipline and authority and self-reliance — will for a time prevail over the liberal alternatives of permissiveness and largesse and environmental improvement.

The liberal era has lasted for some 40 years, and if it has now provoked a reaction, it must be that it is not now working sufficiently well to command general support. Leaders of the party in power have in some considerable measure run out of ideas.



Richard Nixon
. . . a different man?

In any event the country is turning to the conservatives and this means that Nixon and Spiro Agnew will almost certainly be elected. I regard the selection of Gov. Agnew as a serious mistake which could have tragic consequences.

* * *

But all things considered — the disintegration of the Democratic Party after the colossal mistakes of the Johnson Administration — I do not shrink from the prospect of Nixon as President. He is a very much better man today than he was 10 years ago, and I have lived too long myself to think that men are what they are forever and ever.

Franklin Roosevelt in the White House was a quite different man after he had passed through his long illness than he was to those who had known him when he was a young man about town. Few who knew Mr. Truman as senator foresaw that he would preside over such great measures as the Marshall Plan and NATO.

The John F. Kennedy of the Camelot legend was not visible to those who knew him in the 50s as a young Boston politician. So I do not reject the notion that there is a new Nixon who has outlived and outgrown the ruthless politics of his early days.

Having argued that he alone among the candidates brings with him a prospect of an administration that can govern, I go on to say that the country will need a government that can govern in the troubled days which lie ahead of us.

* * *

Much as I believe in the justice and wisdom of large-scale reconstruction and reform, there remains the fact that our social order cannot conceivably be reconstructed quickly. Yet the injustices and the miseries are obviously painful. Thus there will probably remain a considerable body of irreconcilable revolutionary dissent.

There are no easy and there are no quick solutions for the discontent that will have to be dealt with, and we would be hiding our heads in the sand if we refused to admit that the country may demand and necessity may dictate the repression of uncontrollable violence.

My view is that it will be in all ways better if the conservatives are in power should these necessities arise. It would be a disaster, I think, if a man like Humphrey had to do what is against the whole grain of his nature.

It would be another example of President Johnson adopting Barry Goldwater's war policy in Vietnam. It is better that Nixon should have the full authority if the repression should become necessary in order to restore peace and tranquility in the land.

It will be better also that the disorganized Democrats should be on the sidelines, reforming their programs and their views and offering opposition to extremism and be making themselves ready for the inevitable reaction against reaction. The Democrats can unite only when they are in opposition, and only when enough time has passed to retire the older men who have made the Johnson disaster and nominated Humphrey.

* * *

There remains the agonizing problem of the Vietnamese war. There is no easy and short way out of the disaster after all the entanglements which have been created. I am writing at the end of September and there does not appear today any real prospect of concluding the war.

Such confidence as I have in Nixon's foreign policies rests on the belief that his greatest ambition will be to be elected for two terms, and that he knows just as well as anyone else that if he is bogged down in Vietnam, he will become as unpopular as Johnson and Humphrey are today.

He must find a solution to Vietnam in order to be more than a one-term President. I think Nixon's whole future will be staked on getting a cease-fire and a self-respecting withdrawal of our land forces. That is the best I am able to hope for. But I see nothing better in Humphrey.

All in all we cannot deny that the near future will be difficult, and I have come to think that on the central issue of an organized government, to deal with it Nixon is the only one who may be able to produce a government that can govern.

CONNOLLY

MARTIN

Martin's Senate Ploy Runs Into Opposition

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

A quiet drama seems under way in the Canadian Senate. At its simplest the plot involves the new Government leader in the Senate, Paul Martin.

Fisher

It began with his opening address, a magisterial speech full of echoes of Winston Churchill. He had not come to preside over the liquidation of the Senate but to make it more important.

The two means he outlined to achieve this are a reform of the rules of the Senate and more investigative or inquiry work, the specific example of which came very naturally from him, i.e., a continuing Senate committee on external affairs.

Crowe

The Senate is a sweet-talking place and the round, windy, style and complimentary platitudes of Mr. Martin are most suitable to its discreet partisanship. Rarely does rancor or bite shake the Senate.

Thus one has to look sharply in order to discover that the flowery welcomes given Mr. Martin tend to conceal some doubts about his purposes.

What are the doubts? We'd guess they are these: The senators are not pleased at the prospect of their institution becoming another sounding-board for Paul Martin, the indefatigable, incessant politician.

Some senators believe the investigating gambit may be very nice but they want more legislative work rather than inquiries.

Concerned, Critical

A few of the senators are concerned and already critical about the vague but firm determination of Mr. Trudeau to give the Senate a new or much altered constitutional role.

It's always been rather difficult to find out who really runs the Senate. On the face of it the Government leader would seem to be the man but it is our impression that for the past 10 or 15 years a small group of senators, with Arthur Roebuck, Salter Hayden, and more recently, David Croll, at the core, has had the initiative, experience and prestige to direct the operations of the Senate along the lines they wish.

During the Diefenbaker years, the overwhelming majority in the Senate was Liberal. It slipped along in its secondary role, not creating much opposition or embarrassment for the Government or the Commons, except in the Coyne affair.

Since Mr. Pearson became Prime Minister in 1963 there have been 42 Liberal appointments to the Senate, many of them as a result of retirement at 75 (for those who wanted it) which he introduced.

The 30-odd Tory senators are not strong enough in numbers or prestige to challenge the old establishment. Their leader, Jacques Flynn, is a tough, brusque realist.

It is our impression that the reigning cadre in the Senate is not ashamed of the Senate's work in recent years with its increasing emphasis on committee work, both alone and jointly with the House.

Therefore, the idea that the advent of the old pro in person with the message that he'll pull the institution through to greater importance has not created the enthusiasm which all the genteel exchanges of recent days might suggest.

Confidential

Take Sen. John Connolly, the retired Senate leader. The other day he became confidential:

"I want to tell Hon. senators something — and I repeat, I do not think I am opening the door of the Privy Council even a crack. I could never tell Sen. Thorvaldson this.

"One of the problems I had with my colleague, then secretary of state for external affairs, was that of trying to persuade him to allow Canadian ambassadors and foreign representatives, when they returned to Canada from a tour of duty, to be allowed to come before our external relations committee, not to explain Canadian policy abroad — that is the prerogative of the minister — but to speak about conditions in these foreign countries . . .

"I did not have very much luck . . . so, I do hope, in telling you the story, I can say to the new leader of the Government in the Senate, that I hope he has more success with the new secretary of state for external affairs than his immediate predecessor as leader of the Government had with the former secretary of state for external affairs."

Then Sen. Connolly went on to put another dart into Mr. Martin:

". . . I think there is one thing we should realize. There are certain limitations on the inquiry side of the work that the Senate can do. After all, this is primarily a legisative body, one which deals with the law, with new legislation, sometimes initiating it, sometimes reviewing it as it comes to us from below."

Not Big Enough

Sen. Connolly believes that the small numbers of the Senate preclude too many, too ranging inquiries if the legislative chore is to be done well.

He was too polite to add, but it was probably in his mind, that other occupations and the age pattern of the 100-odd senators means that a sizable minority is never likely to be available for thorough, persistent, day-to-day work.

A much more indirect but very definite challenge to Paul Martin's dreams of using the Senate to further his importance as a major minister in the Government lies in several resolutions on the Senate order paper, particularly two in the name of that veteran scene-stealer, David Croll.

We've written before that Mr. Martin was the key person in the Pearson cabinet in squelching Guy Favreau's plan to establish an ombudsman for the federal system. Well, Sen. Croll's resolution, if passed, will effectively make a Senate committee the "ombudsman agency" for federal matters.

This is more than a motion to consider whether there should be an ombudsman as this part of it shows:

". . . and in particular to investigate and report upon any grievance complained of as a result of administrative action for which no other remedy is available."

The other Croll motion — to investigate and study all aspects of poverty in Canada — is another blockbuster. If both committees get operating, and so does Sen. Lamontagne's deep investigation of science policy, then Sen. Martin's hopes of getting attention with external affairs study are very poor.

Power Poisons Minds of Men

By RICHARD J. NEEDHAM
The Globe and Mail

Needham

Hilaire Belloc said it, and I give it as best I can from memory: "the accursed power that stands on privilege, and goes with women and and bridge, broke; and democracy resumed her champagne reign, which goes with bridge and women and champagne."

I though of Belloc's little verse when I read a story about the latest exploits of Harold Banks, erstwhile boss of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada.

He now is running an alleged training ship off the Maryland coast for the SIU — a lavishly furnished steam yacht 100 yards long, which was built during the Nineteen Twenties at a cost of $2.5-million.

According to reporters who got aboard, it is the scene of "almost nightly parties with union leaders, politicians and others."

●

Well, that's right in character for Harold Banks; and I guess for a lot of other people who get into positions of power — union power, political power, religious power, any kind of power.

They start off having, or pretending to have, some noble purpose or objective; they end up with cognac and conspiracy on steam yachts.

Lord Acton, the great English Catholic historian, reached the conclusion:

"Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Great men are almost always bad men, even when they exercise influence and not authority, still more when you add the tendency or the certainty of corruption by authority. There is no worse heresy than that the office sanctifies the holder of it."

●

Henry Adams said that power was poison. How can a man who exercises any kind of power in any way avoid being poisoned by it, corrupted by it?

It's a question that confronts (or should confront) businessmen, politicians, union leaders, cardinals, generals and even newspapermen, since the ball-point pen is said to be mightier than the sword.

I don't know if I have any power or influence over anyone; I certainly don't want to have it; I write simply to express my own thoughts, not to shape or change anyone else's.

I often think about Andrew Furuseth, who founded the Seafarers' International Union. As Mr. Justice Norris remarked in his famous report on Great Lakes shipping five years ago, there's a whole world of difference between Furuseth and Banks.

Furuseth was a frugal, religious, deeply dedicated man who refused to accept a higher wage than the average SIU member of his time; and when he visited Washington in connection with his work, stayed in a hotel room at a dollar a night.

The SIU founder said many times, "The only man who can ever do anything for his fellow man is the man who has nothing and wants nothing for himself." I feel this is true; and Furuseth himself seems to have lived right up to it.

Still, we probably have to take a man like him as almost unique. My observation of history and life is that from which the Founding Fathers of the United States proceeded — that men aren't to be trusted with power; if you give it to them (as you must to have any sort of organized society) give it to them in strictly limited amounts, keep it closely checked and balanced. Otherwise, they'll run wild on it.

The Old Testament says it in six little words: "Put not your trust in princes."

●

But men have been doing this since the beginning of time, and they still are doing it today — putting up princes to save them, and giving those princes great powers of salvation, and then wondering why the whole thing breaks down in moral and material corruption.

You'd think or hope they would learn from history, but they don't; or if they do learn, forget or else die, leaving another generation to make precisely the same mistakes.

The saga of Harold Banks is not an exception in life, but a rule; and will remain a rule so long as people consider it an exception.

Canadian Fiction Dead?

By WILLIAM FRENCH
The Globe and Mail

Is Canadian fiction dying? The question has become a cliche, but the evidence becomes more and more disconcerting. If it isn't dying, it certainly is suffering from a chronic malady, as far as English Canada is concerned.

Last year, no Canadian novel published in English was considered good enough by the Governor-General's Awards Committee to merit recognition. The bleak prospect was continued during the first half of this year, with the one exception of Mordecai Richler's Cocksure.

A survey of publisher's catalogues for the forthcoming season gives further cause for anxiety. There is only one novel imminent by a writer with a more or less national reputation — Ernest Buckler's Ox Bells and Fireflies, described as a fictional memoir about a small village in Buckler's native Nova Scotia. Buckler's two previous novels, The Mountain and the Valley (1952) and the Cruelest Month (1963) revealed a more than ordinary talent.

There will be two first novels by unknown writers — Erebus, by Robert Hunter, a novel about Winnipeg; and a novel of adolescence, Seven For the Road, by Stephen McNamee — an adventure tale by Joseph Schull called The Jinkers, and an extended rewrite by Hugh Garner of his 1950 novel of the Toronto slums, Cabbagetown.

And that's about it for novels. The short story scene is a little better, but not much. One of the more promising volumes is Dance of the Happy Shades, by Alice Munro, a west coast housewife whose work has been confined until now to the little-magazines. Clarke, Irwin is launching a new paperback series called New Canadian Writing; the first volume will have stories by Dave Godfrey, David Lewis Stein and Clark Blaise.

Oxford University Press is publishing another Canadian Short Stories anthology, again edited by Robert Weaver, with stories by most of the old reliables.

Scott Young has reached away back to the early Nineteen Fifties to resurrect several sports fiction pieces he did for U.S. magazines, to be published as We Won't Be Needing You, Al.

'THREATS, SCHEMES AND OUTRIGHT LIES'

NANAIMO (CP)—Amar Singh (alias Narangan Singh), 56, of Port Alberni, was sentenced Saturday to one year in Oakalla Prison for his part in a conspiracy to gain admission to Canada of three relatives.

County court judge Leo Gansner said threats, schemes and outright lies were used.

His son, Darshan Singh Amar, 20, was given an 18-month suspended sentence.

The conspiracy occurred between March, 1965, and January of this year.

Judge Gansner said Amar Singh was "the force behind the plan," and that others outside his family were involved through duress and threats upon their lives.

The Crown alleged that Amar Singh persuaded his son to misrepresent citizens of India as being related to his son's wife.

Amar Singh had entered Canada under single status and using an alias, court was told.

WARDILL
. . . fines don't work

Stocks, Paddle: 'Archaic, Effective'

Stan Wardill says he'd like to bring back the stocks and see the paddle used more frequently.

"A bit archaic, perhaps, but very effective," he said in a recent interview.

"And I think more frequent use of the paddle would do a lot to reduce the number of crimes of violence.

"I've come to the conclusion that fines aren't the answer and a jail term often does more harm than good."

But, since Nanaimo hasn't any stocks in its civic square, Magistrate Wardill is using a modern version of public punishment.

•

Many offenders given a suspended sentence are ordered to wash police cars, work at the hospital, help fix up the city's parks or suffer some other sort of "punishment that fits the crime."

"A fine of $300 is just peanuts to some of these impaired drivers," he said. "It's just a few more days' overtime.

"I try to find a punishment that is to some degree embarrassing and will make a lasting impression."

A lasting impression like the one that will be left with a 16-year-old youth, convicted of dangerous driving, who has been placed on curfew, had his licence taken away and must spend two hours every Saturday night assisting nurses in Nanaimo Regional General Hospital's emergency ward.

•

Some local defence counsel argued that punishment by embarrassment can sometimes do more harm than good.

They say there is a danger of the "one justice for all" principle being weakened as Magistrate Wardill, in his own words, "plays it by ear."

"After all," said one lawyer, "some magistrates might like the hair parted on the left side—some on the right side."

Magistrate Wardill counters that the single-justice principle is an ideal at best and said that a fine for impaired driving could be $150 in one magistrate's court and $500 in another. It depended on the circumstances of the specific instance.

He believes the new approach, initiated with former Magistrate Eric Winch more than a year ago, is proving effective: "There haven't been too many repeaters."

Local police and parole officers "wholeheartedly support" the program, he said.

•

And the atmosphere created by a "very progressive" attorney-general's department had been beneficial.

"My biggest problem is to come up with new ideas," he said.

"You've got to try to get something 'appropriate' for each offender and the parole officers have been eager to offer suggestions.

Some of the sentences imposed upon young offenders make sure they improve their school work. One youth convicted of a number of traffic offences lost his licence and had his car ordered off the road.

"I told him he couldn't have them back until his grades improved," the magistrate said. "Within three months his grades had climbed from the Ds to the Bs."

An embarrassing penalty for liquor offenders required them to visit licensed premises and obtain signatures from the proprietors as proof they have told them they are not permitted to drink for a specific period.

'Why Should We Pay For Rejected Arena?'

NORTH COWICHAN — Voters in the south end will have no say on a "merging bylaw" which could saddle them with part of the cost of the $450,000 Fullers Lake arena at Chemainus, retired engineer Frank Blanc said Sunday.

Mr. Blanc fought North Cowichan council through the courts over a composite recreation bylaw which was subsequently defeated by the south end ratepayers in 1966.

At present the north end of the municipality is bearing the full tax cost of the Fullers Lake arena.

But if the south end, along with Duncan and unorganized areas, passes the Oct. 26 bylaw for a swimming pool and community centre, the municipal council will implement the merging bylaw.

"WHY PAY NOW?"

In this way the entire municipality will pay for all recreation facilities.

Mr. Blanc says: "If we defeated the composite bylaw in 1966 because we didn't think the rink should be built at Chemainus why should we have to pay for it now?

"I can't prove this but I believe the council had committed itself to north end taxpayers to get a similar recreation facility in the south so the merging bylaw can be invoked.

"I'm not bellyaching about the taxes, but I'm afraid that if some of the expected participating areas defeat the bylaw the councils will not be able to borrow as much money as they hoped."

Mr. Blanc said if the councils found they could only borrow $480,000 the North Cowichan share would be $240,000.

"We in the south end would have to pick up the difference between the $240,000 and the cost of Fullers Lake arena.

"We would be paying taxes on $105,000 for something (the arena) which in 1966 we voted against."

10 MILES AWAY

The composite bylaw was defeated because of south end voters' objections to the arena site being 10 miles away at Chemainus.

Mr. Blanc agreed there is a community need for recreation facilities but he doesn't want the merging bylaw hanging over the heads of the south end voters.

He admitted his criticism of the merging bylaw would be invalidated if the councils can borrow the full amount required for the swimming pool and community centre.

Mayor Donald Morton of North Cowichan is confident about councils' ability to borrow the necessary money.

ANNIVERSARY OF DISASTER UNOBSERVED

LADYSMITH — The 50th anniversary of the mining disaster which struck this town passed Saturday without any special observances.

On Oct. 5, 1918, Ladysmith hit the world's headlines when 32 men were trapped and died underground following an explosion in a mine level at Extension.

Ladysmith never recovered economically as a mining town.

Prior to the explosion Ladysmith appeared to have a bright future supplying coal to fast-growing Vancouver and to the huge San Francisco market.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today generally was dull. Oilseed prices, fractionally lower at the opening, rallied toward the mid-session and steadied toward the close.

Flax was on a moderate local and commission house trade while rapeseed met with fair exporter absorption of light hedge offers.

There was moderate domestic shipper trade in oats and barley.

Sale of 150,000 bushels of rapeseed and 20,000 of rye to Japan was confirmed on the weekend.

Friday's volume: Flax 971,000 bushels; rapeseed 274,000; rye 799,000.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures were mostly higher on the Board of Trade today.

Trade was fairly active and mixed. Active buying on the opening by some commercial firms produced an advance of more than 2 in the nearby soybeans contracts.

The scattered rain that tended to influence soybeans buying had some effect on corn futures. But late in the session some profit taking eased the corn advance.

Near the close new buying of the deferred corn futures strengthened the price structure.

Wheat futures traded within a one-cent range through most of the session.

Near the close prices tended to improve fractionally. Rye and Oats trade was largely local.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Golds Bright Spot

Golds were higher in moderate trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today while New York traced a mixed pattern in late trading.

AT TORONTO final volume was 3,664,000 shares compared with 4,294,000 Friday.

Famous Players rose 2 to 66, Imperial Oil 1¾ to 83½ and White Pass and Yukon 1½ to 43. Peel Elder dropped 2⅛ to 39⅝.

Canadian Homestead climbed ⅜ to 18. Canadian Superior Oil fell ¼ to 57 and Spooner 15 cents to $4.20.

AT NEW YORK steels generally were lower and rails eased from recent strength.

Some analysts thought a market correction was in order after a three-week rally.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Among Canadians, Canadian Pacific was up 1⅜, Dome 2 and Inco ⅜. Alcan, Distillers and Hudson Bay were off ⅛.

AT MONTREAL senior mines, industrials and banks led the market upward in moderately active early afternoon trading.

Noranda climbed 2 to 58¼, Cygnus B 1½ to 8, Maclean-Hunter 1¾ to 15¼ and Financial Collection 1½ to 22½. Velcro, Simpsons and Corby A added 1 each to 50, 38½ and 35 respectively.

Bank of Nova Scotia gained 1 to 22, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅜ to 18½ and Banque Canadienne Nationale ⅜ to 12⅝.

National Trust dropped 3⅝ to 21½ and Denison 1 to 76.

Dominion Explorers picked up 5 cents to 63 cents on 74,100 shares in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT LONDON the market advanced this morning then turned mixed at mid-session as buyers became more selective.

Government stocks showed losses of 1/16 or ⅛. Dollar stocks encountered small selling.

Trans-Canadian Pipe and Noranda shed 3 points among Canadians. Trinidad-Canadian, Hudson's Bay, Hiram Walker and Cominco all lost between 1½ and 2. Inco, Dome and Imperial Oil moved against the trend with gains of $2 or $3.

Canadian banks fell with Toronto Dominion down 4 shillings four pence. Canadian Imperial and Nova Scotia both eased 2 shillings. Oils came back sharply after a firm opening.

AT VANCOUVER the mining section was strong in pre-noon trading. Dynasty, at $9.30, and Northlode at $3.50, led the way with 20-cent gains.

Atlas was up .10 at $2.90 and similar gains were posted by Lytton, at $2.70, and New Cinch, at .90.

Coast Silver, however, fell back, losing .25 to $2.95 on 30,000 shares.

White Pass and Yukon was strong in the industrials and rose $2.37 to reach $43.37. Losses went to EDP, down $1.50 to $23, and Cunningham, off $1.37 at $15.12.

Pension Controls For Executives

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal revenue department is tightening its control of executive pension plans, particulary those designed to benefit executives who are also shareholders.

New rules covering pension plans sent out to employers last week state that a plan "primarily for the benefit of shareholders and members of their families" will not be accepted.

A covering letter signed by E. A. Chater, director of the department's review and registrations division, says plans already registered that do not comply with the new rules need not be changed unless a specific request is made by the department.

But it adds:

"It is expected that such plans will be brought into line with these rules as and when amendments are required for other reasons."

Mr. Chater said in an interview Sunday that the directives are not aimed at executive pensions as such but against those where there are special benefits because the executive is also a shareholder.

In some of these cases, Mr. Chater said, the executive pensions have provided a loophole for tax evasion.

Paper Mills' Output Lags

OTTAWA (CP) — The productivity performance of Canada's pulp and paper mills lagged behind other manufacturing industries during the 1957-67 decade, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Real net output of the pulp and paper industry during the decade increased about 41 per cent while growth in the labor effort going into production ran 11-15 per cent, the bureau reported. This brought an over-all productivity gain of about 25 per cent.

Net output increased about 3.8 per cent a year while the total number of persons employed increased about 1.6 per cent and the total number of paid hours of work increased about 1.8 per cent. Production thus increased about two per cent a year for each extra unit of labor employed, DBS said.

"The productivity performance of the industry was therefore substantially weaker than in manufacturing as a whole during the same period when, for instance, output per person employed increased at an average rate of about 4.1 per cent per annum."

Time Appoints Youthful Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Kelso Sutton, a 29-year-old Harvard graduate, was named general manager of Time Magazine Sunday.

Sutton, named by Time publisher James R. Shepley, has been business manager. He succeeds James A. Thompson, who retired last month.

John Keller, also 29, was named to replace Sutton. He was assistant business manager.

World Finance Marking Time

By HOBART ROWEN
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Two events—one in the recent past, and another to take place soon—set the tone for the international financial meetings (International Monetary Fund and World Bank) in Washington this week.

The first, "The event of May," was a revolution that brought the French economy to a standstill with a huge loss in gold and other reserves.

And yet to come is the American election in November that most of the foreigners here think likely to bring the Republicans back into power next January.

As a result of the first, the French have muted some of their harsh attitudes, and are speaking more kindly of international co-operation. Slowly emerging from the spring crisis with help from other big countries, the French are working hard to modernize their industry to meet competition abroad and to cut their balance of payments deficit.

●

There is a healthy, critical self-analysis of the French economy going on. For example, a policy-maker acknowledges, the French government recognizes that the prospect of the Italian Fiat Company acquiring an interest in Citroen means "that there is something wrong with the French auto industry."

There is a realistic admission that France's balance of payments deficit will not disappear overnight. French officials say that the deficit in 1968 will be $1.6 billion plus a loss (net) of about $1 billion due to a flight of capital. Even in 1969, they anticipate a net deficit of $1 billion which can be shaved only by a return of capital.

In the background is a strong West Germany, whose exports this year have been phenomenal. In the face of German industrial power, the French believe that the recent recovery of their own exports is rather remarkable, and it is hard to argue with that judgment.

There is even the possibility that France, is its stock-taking, might ratify the proposed amendment to the International Monetary Fund rules that will provide a flow of "paper gold," adding to the free nation's total supply of reserve units.

●

Paradoxicaly, perhaps, the French explain that if for no other reason, their participation would restore the possibility that the common market, standing together, could veto the actual activation of the paper gold plan. Looking at it another way, this would give the French a new measure of leverage with their European partners.

As things stand, an 85 per cent vote of the IMF membership is needed to turn on the paper gold spigot. The Common Market with France included, have about 16 per cent of the weighted vote in the IMF.

Spokesmen for France freely speak, now, of the strength of the dollar. Minister of economy and finance Francois-Xavier Ortoli, in his first official appearance in this country, even praised the U.S. congress for passing "the courageous measures proposed by the administration" to temper the advance of the U.S. economy.

But overhanging everything this week was the fact that in dealing with U.S. Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler, the other nations were talking to a "lame duck" who was not in position to say what U.S. monetary and fiscal policy would be in 1969.

With a new administration scheduled to come in, there has been less pressure than otherwise would have been the case for South Africa to reach a compromise on the question of gold sales and gold prices.

●

Germany's role in the family of nations has become ever stronger, and on the question of special drawing rights—paper gold—the Germans are not pressing for quick activation of the new reserve unit.

It is true that the Germans are hoping for an early ratification of the scheme. "But when you talk about activiation, we too want to see what progress is made on reducing the U.S. payments deficit," a high-ranking member of the German delegation confided last week.

There is a general assumption that Richard Nixon, if he becomes president, would follow a tighter domestic budget policy, and that this would lead to reduced inflationary pressures, plus an improvement in the U.S. trade balance.

●

With the French slightly more humble, and the British trade figures improved there doesn't seem to be any major crisis on the immediate financial horrizon. Pierre-Paul Schweitzer, IMF managing director, made this point effectively during the meetings.

Thus, the international financial powers will be marking time until the U.S. election is over.

What everybody hopes is that election day will produce a conclusion, not a further postponement that would leave the American presidency an uncertainly until January. That, truly, would shake world confidence.

BUSINESS and FINANCE

New Issue

A new issue of 250,000 common shares is expected this week, probably at a price of about $10, on behalf of C. A. Pitts Engineering and Construction Ltd., of Toronto.

Pitfield, MacKay, Ross and Co. and McLeod, Young Weir and Co. are heading the distribution.

C. A. Pitts operations are confined mostly to Ontario but the firm has done work on Churchill Falls hydro project in Labrador and the Nelson River project in Manitoba.

Reitman's Nets 55c

Reitman's (Canada) Ltd. reports net earnings of $526,362 or 55 cents a share for the six months ended July 31, up from $442,843 or 47.5 cents a year earlier.

Net sales increased to $19.2 million from $18.8 million. The interum report said the company looks forward to increased sales and profits for the balance of the year.

Space Contract

Hughes Aircraft in Culver City, Calif., has been awarded a $72 million contract to build communications satellites.

The contract from the International Telecommunications Satellite Consortium calls for delivery to begin in 22 months and the first launching for early 1972.

The contract calls for subcontracts worth $29 million to electronic and aerospace companies in Canada, Britain, France, West Germany, Japan, Italy, Switzerland, Belgium, Sweden and Spain.

Bank of Montreal

Bank of Montreal will open an office in Milan, the first Italian branch of a Canadian bank, about mid-November.

Operation will be directed by Montreal native Gerardo A. Mignacca, who has served the bank 17 years.

B of M will be represented by three European branches, the others in Hamburg and Paris.

Dome Subsidiary

Dome Petroleum subsidiary, Crownite Industrial Minerals Ltd., will erect a $1.5 million plant at Quesnel to process diatomaceous earth, pozzolan shale, mica and other minerals owned by Dome.

Production is expected to start next spring.

Sidbec Ready

Sidbec, the Quebec government agency established to set up a steel industry for the province, will absorb facilities of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. Ltd. "in a few weeks," Sidbec president Jean-Paul Gignac said Friday night.

Mr. Gignac, addressing the fourth annual meeting of Quebec and Maritime locals of the United Steelworkers of America here, said the "future of the Quebec workers employed by Dosco" had been a prime consideration in the decision to buy Dosco rather than set up its own iron smelting subsidiary.

The Quebec government has authorized the purchase by Sidbec of almost 3 million outstanding shares of Dosco for $32.5 million.

Delegates Worry

By JANE BECKER
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Businessmen attending the annual Canadian Chamber of Commerce meeting at Calgary last week were frankly worried about the prospect of inflation, and of how the recently-announced $400 million federal government deficit will be met.

But most other developments during the week were reason for healthy optimism on the part of the average Canadian.

Shares on Canadian stock exchanges soared to record levels. Brokers attributed the surge to a flow of investment funds northward from the United States. On the Toronto Stock Exchange during September, the value of all transactions totalled $485 million—a record for any month.

Some financial analysts said syk-high stock prices bore out predictions of a York University study released last week: That demand for Canadian stocks is already far outstripping the supply of new and freely-traded issues.

MONEY IN PLENTY

The York study forecast that the annual flow of new stocks on the Canadian market will total about $700 million during the next few years. But in the same period nearly twice that amount of investment money will be available yearly for placement.

Unless the presnet trend is checked or reversed, the university researchers say, the probable result will be that Canadian investors will put at least half their investment dollars into foreign holdings.

But at the moment the demand for stocks appears to be working nothing but good for the Canadian investor. On the Toronto Stock Exchange, which lists most of Canada's 1,250 share-trading companies, the industrial index—the measure of how key stocks perform—at mid-week broke through its previous all-time high, set eight years ago. By the close of trading Friday it showed no signs of halting its upward curve.

CONSTRUCTION UP

There was also good news on the building front.

Construction contracts awarded in Canada for the first nine months of the year, the Southam Building Guide noted, reached $3.9 billion—up slightly more than 4 per cent from the similar period last year.

Institutional building showed the greatest gain. It was up 12 per cent. Residential building moved ahead seven per cent and business construction 3.5 per cent. Only industrial and engineering construction values were down.

Building in all regions but Ontario showed an increase in value from 1967, particularly in the Maritimes where contracts were up 43 per cent. British Columbia's contracts were 21 per cent higher than last year, and Quebec's eight per cent. The prairies were fractionally better while Ontario values slipped 3.2 per cent.

NEWS HEARTENS

The latest figures from Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. showed residential building across the country improved in August from July. But builders were nonetheless heartened by news at week's end the corporation had decided to make $170 million available for direct loans for family-owned dwellings.

"This is what the government told us it would do if housing starts appeared to be falling short of the year's target of 75,000 dwellings," a National House Builders' Association official commented. "We're delighted they kept their promise."

The government was said to be concerned about the ratio between house and apartment construction: CMHC figures show that of Canada's 99,870 dwelling unit starts to Sept. 1, only 30 per cent were for single-family houses, compared with 37 per cent in the similar period last year.

Engineer Need Off

A survey by the Association of Professional Engineers of Ontario shows a decreasing demand for engineers, although 1968 graduates had median salaries 5.7 per cent higher than in 1967.

Kapp Comes Back

Pivots Hit Hard But Vikings Roll Into First Place

By The Associated Press

Minnesota quarterbacks might give an unhealthy appearance after a conk on the head and a crack in the shoulder, but the Vikings never had it so good.

Minnesota took sole possession of first place in the Central Division of the National Football League by beating Detroit Lions 24-1 Sunday with two injured quarterbacks.

Joe Kapp was the first quarterback to fall, with a head injury in the opening period. Gary Cuozzo took over and suffered a broken left shoulder while driving the Vikings 80 yards for a touchdown and a 7-3 halftime lead.

During intermission, Kapp, formerly with British Columbia Lions of the Western Football Conference, was deemed least injured and cleared his head long enough to direct the Vikings to two touchdowns and a field goal in the final half for Minnesota's third victory in four starts.

TIE WITH PACKERS

The loss dropped Detroit from a share of the top spot into a 2-2 tie with Green Bay Packers who broke a two-game losing streak with a 38-7 rout over Atlanta Falcons.

Dallas Cowboys had their troubles with St. Louis before Mike Clark's 50-yard field goal sparked a 27-10 victory over the Cardinals. But New York Giants, 4-0, kept pace with the Cowboys in the Capitol Division with a 38-21 sweep over New Orleans Saints.

Baltimore Colts and Los Angeles Rams, each 4-0, were unable to shake each other in the Coastal Division as the Colts rode Earl Morrall's four touchdown passes past Chicago Bears 28-7 and Roman Gabriel directed the Rams by San Francisco 49ers 24-10.

DEFEAT STEELERS

Cleveland Browns took the Century lead Saturday night with a 31-24 triumph over Pittsburgh Steelers.

Kapp returned in the second half for Minnesota to set up Fred Cox' 29-yard field goal before Bill Munson's 30-yard touchdown pass to Mel Farr tied it for Detroit.

But Kapp, running two yards and passing for 24 on one drive and throwing 53 yards to Gene Washington on a second, took the Vikings 73 and 39 yards for touchdowns.

The Packers climbed back into the race with 21 third-quarter points that spoiled Norm Van Brocklin's debut as Atlanta coach. Leading only 10-7 at the half, Donny Anderson ran for one score and then a fumble and a pass interception set up Bart Starr's second and third touchdown passes of the day.

Noble Prize For Victory

PARIS (AP) — Vaguely Noble, the favorite, scored a three-length victory over Sir Ivor Sunday in the $519,000 Arc de Triomphe, one of the richest horse races in the world.

Vaguely Noble, purchased for $400,000 as a two-year-old last year, covered the 1½ mile Longchamp track in 2:35.2 to claim the $200,000 top prize.

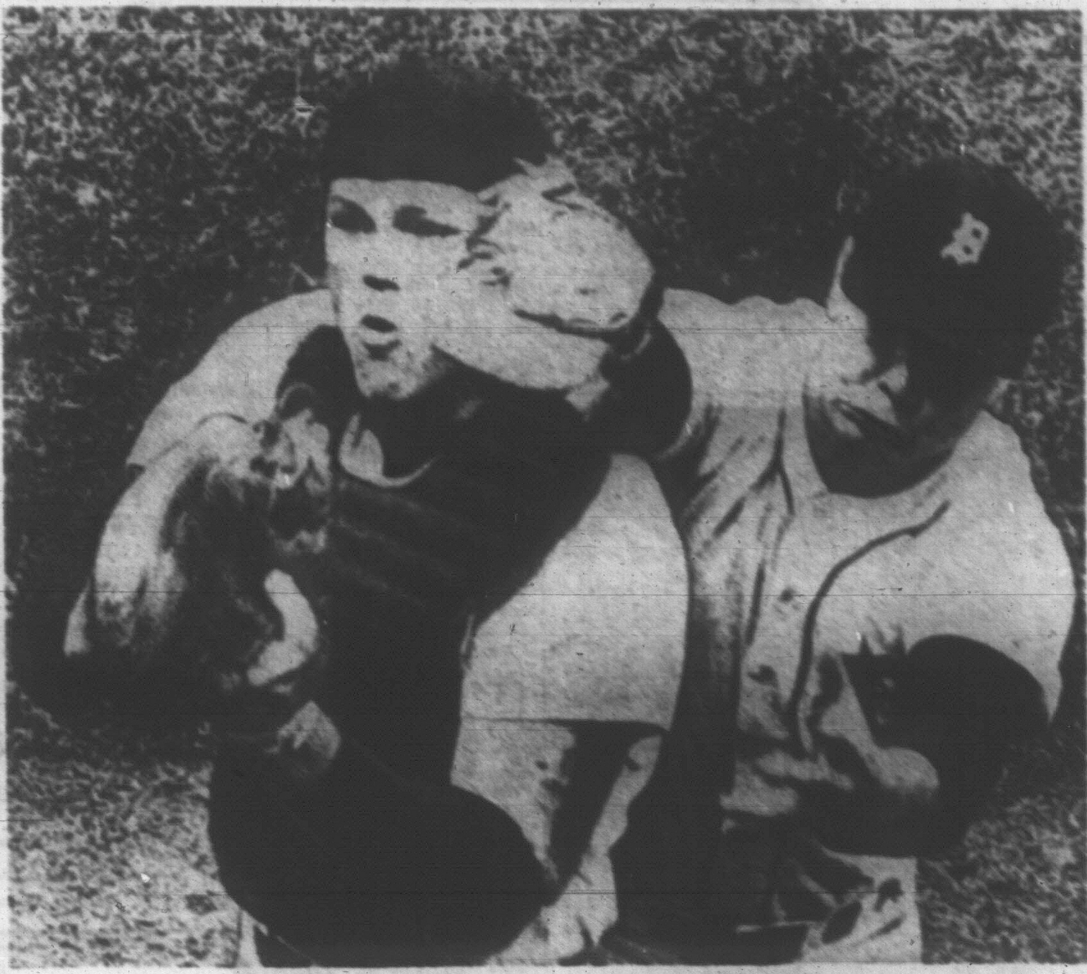
Holmes Sparkles In Shutout Romp

Janet Holmes scored three goals to lead Oak Bay to a 7-0 victory over Grasshoppers in one of three Vancouver Island Women's Field Hockey Association matches played Saturday.

Sandra Coupe added two goals while Robin Wilson and Pat Nichols each counted once for Oak Bay.

In other games, Dona Lee MacDonald scored two goals to help Mariners past University of Victoria, 3-1, and a pair by Heather Seymour sparked Varsity's 4-1 conquest of Sailors.



MORE TROUBLE FOR TIGERS

Another spot of trouble for Detroit Tigers in Sunday's world series game arrived in fourth inning when catcher Bill Freehan (left) and first-baseman Norm Cash collided while chasing foul fly. Ball popped out of Freehan's mitt and he was charged with error. (AP Wirephoto.)

Esks Solidify Hold on Third

By The Canadian Press

Edmonton Eskimos fought off one challenge for third place in the Canadian Football League's Western Conference Saturday and former Eskimo Tommy-Joe Coffee spearheaded a win for Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Edmonton shaded British Columbia Lions 13-5 while Coffey scored 17 points in leading Hamilton to a 23-13 triumph over Winnipeg Blue Bombers.

The results left Edmonton solidly entrenched in the WFC's third and final playoff spot. The Eskimos, with four games remaining, have a six-point bulge over B.C. and seven over Winnipeg. B.C. and Winnipeg have five games reach remaining.

In an interlocking contest Sunday, Saskatchewan Roughriders rode into first place in the West by defeating Montreal Alouettes 11-7 before 18,430 fans in Regina.

Saskatchewan now has 17 points, one more than Calgary Stampeders, who have a game in hand.

INTERCEPTION PAYS

At Edmonton, a crowd of 16,551 saw the Eskimos march 40 yards for the game's only touchdown after a pass interception late in the second quarter.

Jerry Griffin, a second year middle-linebacker, grabbed a Paul Brothers pass on the B.C. 51 and returned the ball to the 40 to set up the winning march.

Six plays and two B.C. penalties—totalling 26 yards—later, quarterback Charlie Fulton plunged over from the B.C. one on a third-down gamble.

Peter Kempf scored the other seven points for Edmonton on three singles, a 37-yard field goal and convert.

Ted Gerela kicked all the B.C. points—two singles and a field goal.

BEATS THE ALS

Saskatchewan had to put down a late scoring bid to defeat Montreal.

Carroll Williams of Montreal twice threw incomplete passes into the Saskatchewan end zone in the final minute of play.

George Reed scored the only touchdown, crashing over from the three to cap a six-play, 71-yard drive in the first quarter. Bill Goods converted.

Jack Abendschan added a field goal and a single point.

Jackson Regains Old Form

By The Canadian Press

It's still anybody's guess who will finish first in the Eastern Football Conference, although the Ottawa Rough Riders and Hamilton Tiger-Cats loom as favorites after weekend play.

The Rough Riders galloped back into first place in the EFC Sunday by trouncing Toronto Argonauts 31-10 before 25,545 fans. The victory gave Ottawa 13 points, one more than Toronto and Hamilton Tiger-Cats, now tied for second.

Hamilton stayed in solid contention for top spot Saturday by whipping Winnipeg Blue Bombers 23-13 behind the 17-point performance of Tommy-Joe Coffey.

Montreal Alouettes, occupants of last place in the EFC, dropped an 11-7 decision to Saskatchewan Roughriders in another interlocking game Sunday.

Rookie Vic Washington, switched from defence to offence, was the key factor in Ottawa's victory. Washington scored two touchdowns, gained 73 yards running and caught four passes for 47 yards.

PILE UP POINTS

Margene Adkins also scored two touchdowns for Ottawa. Don Sutherin kicked four converts and two singles and Bill Van Burkleo also kicked a single.

End Mel Profit caught a seven-yard touchdown pass from Wally Gabler for the Argonauts who had won three straight. Dave Mann kicked a convert and added a 16-yard field goal.

The fine performance by quarterback Russ Jackson helped Ottawa to its victory and improved the Riders' chances of finishing first. Jackson, apparently recovered from a troublesome shoulder injury, threw touchdown passes of 57 and 31 yards to Adkins. In all, he completed 10 of 20 passes for 213 yards.

KICKS AND RUNS

Coffey led Hamilton to its triumph by catching an eight-yard touchdown pass from Joe Zuger, kicking two field goals, three singles and two converts.

CANADIAN SOCCER CLUB ROMPS PAST BERMUDA

TORONTO—Canada displayed too much finesse and ball control here Sunday for the speed of the Bermuda team and defeated the visitors 4-0 in a World Cup soccer game.

Ahead after three minutes, the Canadians took a well-deserved 3-0 lead in the opening half. The visitors showed remarkable speed but couldn't match the Canadians in ball control before 4,311 fans.

Canada meets the United States here next Sunday, travels to Bermuda for a match on October 20 and plays the United States in Atlanta on October 27.

Tibor Vigh, Sergio Zanatta and Nick Papadakis, with two goals, scored for Canada in Sunday's match.

OUT FOR SERIES?

Denny Forgot His Pain Pill

DETROIT (AP)—Is Denny McLain washed up for the rest of the World Series.

Detroit Tiger manager Mayo Smith says Denny "will be able to pitch again in the Series".

But McLain isn't sure.

"I'm finished for the Series," said McLain, who complained about a sore shoulder after the Tigers got bombed 10-1 in the fourth fame Sunday as St. Louis Cardinals took a 3-1 Series lead.

McLain was the starter and loser and was relieved by Joe Sparma after 2 2-3 innings with the score 4-0.

Denny said later that he wouldn't know until results of an appointment with a doctor today if he would be okay to pitch again against St. Louis.

"I don't know what's going on right now," he said.

PAIN IN SHOULDER

He said he told Smith to take him out ofthe game because of the pain in his right shoulder.

The 31-game winner has been undergoing x-ray treatments for his ailment since the beginning of September, but he said: "Any more x-ray treatments would be harmful to my system, so I'm not taking any more.

"I forgot to take a pain pill before the game, and it took that much longer for me to get loose," he said of his pitching troubles Sunday.

"They wanted to give me a shot for pain today, but I didn't want it.

"When you start getting shots you're on your way out, and I'm only 24. I want to remain shot-free."

MIXUP ON BASES

"It takes four to win," said manager Red Schoendienst after his Cardinals moved to a 3-1 lead.

The fourth victory could come today, but Schoendienst refused to speculate further.

Vice-President Humphrey visited the Cardinals' dressing room, but most of the attention centred on Lou Brock and Bob Gibson.

Brock had a fine day with a home run, a triple and a double which would have been a triple had it not been for a mixup of signals at third base. That play came with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

"The pitcher (Bob Gibson) was three strides in front of third base and I was one pace off," said Brock, explaining the play.

"The coach (Joe Schultz) put the hold sign up and I knew it was for me. But I saw Gibson coming back and that would have put two of us on the base.

"So I turned around and went back," Brock continues. "I didn't see Gibson break for home or I would have tried for third."

TIES RECORD

Later Brock claimed third with his seventh stolen base during the current World Series and 14th Series stolen base—which ties a record owned by Eddie Collins. Ws it necessary with a nine-run lead?

"If you get a chance at a record, you take that chance," Brock replied. "I take every base they give me."

The start of the game was delayed more than 30 minutes because of rain and the issue of delay—and speedup—surfaced later as the Cardinals jumped to an early lead and it looked like the game might be called before the required five innings had been completed. Plate umpire Bill Kinnamon discussed the issue with both managers as the game neared the end of the crucial fifth.

Season Ticket Sales Secure Tacoma's Club

TACOMA (AP)—Tacoma Cubs have surpassed a season ticket sales goal of 600 to keep Pacific Coast League baseball in the city. A reported 610 season tickets were sold within a week.

An agreement between the city and Chicago Cubs stipulated that 600 tickets must be sold as a condition for the team remaining here next season.

Ontario Retriever National Champion

REGINA (CP) — Mi-Chris Drambuie, a four-year-old male black Labrador, owned and handled by Barry Chute of Komcka, Ont., won the 1968 National Retriever Club of Canada championship stake on the weekend.

Even Rain, Delay Didn't Cool Bob

St. Louis Takes Control With 7-3 and 10-1 Wins

DETROIT (AP)—Now that Bob Gibson has made another farce of his celebrated world series confrontation with Denny McLain, the pitchers may call a cease-fire and join the same team.

Gibson, who overwhelmed McLain and the rest of Detroit Tigers with a five-hit, 17-strikeout performance in the Series opener, threw another five-hitter as St. Louis Cardinals battered McLain and five other pitchers 10-1 Sunday.

The Cardinals won the third game 7-3 here Saturday on three-run homers by Tim McCarver and Orlando Cepeda. Ray Washburn picked up the victory with relief help from Joe Hoerner.

Earl Wilson took the loss for Detroit which received home runs from Al Kaline and Dick McAuliffe.

Cepeda's blast in the seventh inning came with St. Louis holding only a 4-3 lead and seemed to deflate the Tigers.

The two wins gave the Cardinals a 3-1 edge in the series and left it up to Mickey Lolich, the only successful Tiger hurler, to keep the season alive in his duel with Nelson Briles today. Lolich beat Briles in the second game last Thursday.

Before gaining his seventh straight complete game Series victory, Gibson had to work and wait through four hours and 25 minutes of rain, mist and cold.

Cardinals Counter Detroit Stall

That was a lot longer than McLain was around—the 31-game winner removed himself from the game during the 74-minute, third-inning rain delay. But when the game ended, the pitchers found themselves making similar post-Series plans.

The plans revolve around Vice-President Hubert Humphrey, the Democratic presidential candidate who visited both clubhouses after sitting through the long afternoon.

"I'm going to back that man," McLain said, adding he would join Humphrey's campaign tour for two or three days after the Series.

"I'll probably get into Washington after the season, and I imagine we'll probably get together," Gibson said following an invitation from Humphrey to meet with him.

"I'm a Democrat, but I'm not a politician. I'm a pitcher."

McLain said he asked to be taken out of the game because his right shoulder was bothering him. But he refused to use that as an alibi for a performance in which he was rocked for four runs and six hits in 2 2-3 innings.

McLain's trouble began on the second pitch of Sunday's game, when Lou Brock smashed a 415-foot home run after his lead-off appearance had been delayed by rain for 37 minutes.

Shoulder Ailment Bothers McLain

By the time the rain was heavy enough for time to be called—in the third inning—the Cardinals had rapped McLain for five more hits and three more runs.

When play resumed 74 minutes later, McLain no longer was the Detroit pitcher, and the teams started a game of stall-and-speed-up.

The Tigers did their best to delay the game long enough for the rain to become unbearable.

In the top of the fourth inning, first baseman Norm Cash went to the mound to talk to relief pitcher Daryl Patterson. In the bottom of the inning, Willie Horton went to the dugout to clean his spikes and his bat and Jim Northrup exchanged his broken bat.

The Cardinals countered in the fifth inning when Julian Javier, on base with a two-out single, tried to steal second and was out easily.

Cardinal manager Red Schoendienst insisted Javier had the steal sign and just left first too soon. But that move, and the others, induced the umpires to call Schoendienst and Tiger boss Mayo Smith to the plate for a conference.

GIBSON HOMERS

"We didn't want one team to be hurrying and we didn't want one team to be stalling," plate umpire Bill Kinnamon said.

After allowing a hit in each of the first four innings, Gibson struck out Jim Price and Dick McAuliffe and retired Mickey Stanley on a fly to centre in the fifth to make the game official, three hours and 25 minutes after play was to have started.

The Cardinals, meanwhile, amassed 13 hits, including a home run by Gibson in the fourth and three hits by Brock—a homer, a triple and a three-run double in the eight.

Gibson's blow made him the only pitcher ever to hit two homers in Series play, and Brock stole third after his double, giving him a record-tying seventh steal in this Series and a record-tying 14th for all of his Series play. The first mark he tied was his own; the second belonged to Eddie Collins.

The victory left the Tigers with the almost impossible task of coming back from a 3-1 deficit—only three teams have done it.

Clansmen Nipped

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — Quarterback Glenn Hadland threw end Gary Aagaard an 18-yard scoring pass with only 44 seconds left on the clock Saturday night as Western Washington Vikings took a 7-6 college football victory over Simon Fraser University.

Scots Driver Captures U.S. Grand Prix

WATKINS GLEN, N.Y. (Reuters) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland, driving a Matra-Ford, won the U.S. Grand Prix Sunday and moved into second place in points toward the world driving championship.

Graham Hill of England finished second in his Lotus-Ford, and John Surteis, also of England, was third in a Honda over the twisting 2.3-mile circuit.

Dan Gurney of the United States was fourth in his McLaren-Ford. He was followed by Joe Siffert of Belgium in a Lotus-Ford, and Bruce McLaren of New Zealand, who was driving a McLaren-Ford.

Steward, who started the 248-mile grind with 27 points towards the world championship, picked up nine points for his victory for a total of 36.

Hill, who was tied with New Zealand's Denis Hulme at 33 points going into the race, gained six points for second and moved into the lead for the championship with 39 points.

The championship will be decided in the Grand Prix of Mexico next month.

Stewart set a new lap record for the course, averaging 126.37 m.p.h. in his 70th lap. The previous record of 125.45 m.p.h. was established last year by Hill.

The 29-year-old Scot won $20,000, the winner's share of the $102,400 purse. Hill earned $10,000 for second.

Once-Great Houston Upset by Miami Crew

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The end may be just around the corner for Houston Oilers but it probably won't be anything like the end around that did in Boston Patriots Sunday.

The Oilers, defending champs in the American Football League's Eastern Division, were stunned by Miami Dolphins 24-7 and fell into a last-place tie with Buffalo Bisons. Both have 1-4 records.

Boston held a 10-7 half-time lead over the AFL champion Oakland Raiders. But a 41-yard end around by Warren Wells gave Oakland the lead in the third period and when the fireworks were over the Raiders had a 41-10 triumph, their 14th straight, equaling the league record.

In the only other Sunday game, Denver Broncos turned back Cincinnati Bengals 10-7 on a fourth-period touchdown pass from Steve Tensi to Mike Haffner.

Saturday night, New York Jets edged San Diego Chargers 23-20 and Kansas City Chiefs beat Buffalo 18-7.

FINAL ON A PASS

After Wells' touchdown, Daryle Lamonica passed 27 yards to Hewritt Dixon for another score and the unbeaten Raiders got their final tally of the third period on a 20-yard pass from Lamonica to Charlie Smith, who fumbled on the Boston seven. Fred Biletnikoff, who caught six passes for 107 yards, scooped up the loose ball and ran it in.

Houston, minus injured quarterback Pete Beathard, was no match for previously-winless Miami despite an early touchdown by Woddie Campbell. Willie West ran 20 yards with a lateral from John Bramlett, who recovered a Houston fumble, to tie the score and Larry Csonka gave the Dolphins the lead on a two-yard plunge. Bob Griese's 30-yard scoring pass to Karl Noonan iced it.

UNDERGROUND ARMY PLANS TROUBLE

Villa Olympica Gay Oasis Unaware of Violence

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Army plans to throw a ring of steel around the Olympic Stadium for the opening of the Games here Saturday and would-be saboteurs were warned by a top security officer:

"Beware. That may be a secret service man at your elbow."

The government of President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz is taking every precaution to protect athletes and visitors in the face of new threats of violence by an underground army of liberation.

At the Olympic Village itself, a picturesque conglomeration of high rise buildings, Aztec pyramids, statues and 7,000 athletes from more than 100 nations, crack Mexican Army troops stand guard at every portal and move in crisp-stepping squads from one part of the village to the other.

"We cannot give the number of troops in the village—it is secret information," said a spit-and-polish little colonel, Jose Ma Rios de Hoyos, chief aide of the commandant, Gen. Miguel Badillo Vizarra. "But we have enough to handle any situation."

These are crack troops brought from units throughout the country. There apparently are hundreds.

They wear white steel helmets, a white scarf at the neck, white belts and white leather strings—washed every night — in their paratroop boots.

They carry no guns or sticks.

"We do not want to have weapons in the village," the colonel said. "We can do the job without it."

Colonel Rios said troops would be enlarged many fold for the opening ceremonies and will stand guard at every avenue during the 14 days of competition.

"We will have many secret service men mingling among the spectators," the colonel said.

Any organized demonstration will not be permitted within miles of the stadium or other points of activity. Soldiers and grenaderos, hand-picked riot forces, will be on hand with full battle gear.

The organizing committee was stunned by revelation Friday of an underground liberation army which has vowed to disrupt the Games in an effort to embarrass the Mexican government.

While portions of downtown Mexico City remained tense and under guard as a result of gun battles a few days ago, killing 30 and wounding hundreds, the Villa Olympica was a gay casual oasis almost completely unaware of the flaring violence.

The athletes wander over the broad plazas, play games in International Centre, watch movies and go about their way untroubled by gun play, death and violence a few miles away.

Bookies Face Heavy Losses

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — Major Rose, 9-to-1 favorite, won the Cesarewitch Stakes Saturday and threatened heavy losses to British bookies on the traditional autumn double.

Betters try to couple the winners of the Cesarewitch and the Cambridgeshire, scheduled for Oct. 19 at the same track.

Major Rose provided Lester Piggot, Britain's champion jockey, with his first Cesarewitch success. He finished 1½ lengths ahead of Promotion Year, a 100-to-6 shot.

Line Wolf, a 40-to-1 outsider, was third, eight lengths behind Promotion Year.

Grid Birds Bombed

HONOLULU (AP) — The University of Hawaii rolled up its biggest score of the season in beating the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds 46-0 for its third football victory of the season as the Canadians suffered their third consecutive shutout.

Goals Come Easily To Speedy Cougars

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Victoria Cougars may not have to bother with the book. They seem to have come up with their own ideas on "How to Win Friends and Influence People".

They're winning games and influencing their B.C. Junior Hockey League customers with goals, speed and apparent know-how.

The victories, the goals and even speed were scarce commodities when junior hockey made its debut here last season. The crowd-pleasing items all were in evidence Saturday night at Memorial Arena as the Cougars bounced New Westminster Royals 10-5.

It was the second straight victory for the Cats, who opened the campaign by clipping the Royals 6-5 on the mainland Friday.

The 3,421 fans who witnessed Saturday's skate had to be impressed if memory allowed them to compare last year's Cougar team with the new edition.

In rebuilding, Victoria coach Doug Anderson has come up with players whose average age is younger than last year's. Yet the first official look would indicate that this season's team is superior in the areas of skating and know-how.

Cats Too Ambitious Near the End

Against Royals, Cougars skated strongly and, for most of the part, made it easier for themselves by remembering that magical thing called teamwork. The forwards passed smartly and used their point-men wisely.

Saturday's five-goal spread actually flatters Royals. The Cougars made it 10-2 at one stage and in their eagerness to pile up more goals, they tended to neglect some defensive duties.

Victoria's defence, sparked by the play of Laurie Moore, looks delightfully promising. Apart from Moore, it is a young defence that should improve greatly with experience.

ONE QUESTION

The big question-mark, after Saturday's game, seems to be in goal. Holdover Ron Grahame went the distance Saturday while newcomer Ed Forslund handled the job Friday. Both were tagged for five goals, and will have to prove they are capable of filling the vacancy created by the departure of the brilliant Murray Finlay.

Certainly, it looks as if Anderson won't be confronted with the lack of a goal-scoring punch. All three lines on display Saturday look capable, and the outlook will be even brighter if and when Cougars secure the release of centre Dave Cousins from Kelowna.

The main sparkler on offense was Grant Evans. The ex-Kamloops speedster is perhaps the smallest Victoria forward. But he's big in front of the net.

SIX POINTS

All he did Saturday was to score three goals and three assists to go along with his two-goal, one-assist effort on Friday.

Doug Gibson and Len Barrie each scored twice while singles went to John Van Horlick, Graham Brown and Moore. Westminster's scorers were Peter Kuzak, with two; Mike Andruff, Terry Thomson and Kenny Love.

The big test for Cougars—and a chance for greater assessment—comes up next weekend. Victoria moves into the Interior for a game against each of the four Okanagan clubs.

BILL WAKEHAM

Wakeham Leads B.C. Tour Trio

MIAMI (AP) — Three British Columbia golfers finished among the leaders Sunday in a field of 39 golfers trying to break into the new American Professional Golfers tour.

Robert Wolf of Beaumont, Tex., shot a 71—the only sub-par round of the day—to lead after the first round.

Bill Wakeham of Victoria shot 37-39-76 to enter a three-way tie for fifth while Wayne Vollmer of Vancouver and Bob Cox of Richmond, were tied for eighth with four others who shot 77s. Vollmer and Cox both shot 37-40.

Wolf's nines of 37-34 were good for a two-stroke, first-round lead in the APG's 144-hole qualifying school. Claude Harmon, Jr., of New Rochelle, N.Y., and Robert Lockett of Mount Pleasant, Tex., turned in one-over-par 73s to tie for second place.

The low 20 rookies will get player cards for the proposed 1969 tour.

Hornets Fly High; Timbermen Topple

Les Hudson did most of the damage Sunday at Nanaimo as Saanich Chew Excavating Hornets churned their way to a fifth straight triumph and a fourth shutout in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League by flattening the Rams 32-0.

In the other league game, Oak Bay Farmer Construction edged Cowichan Timbermen 19-18 at Carnarvon Park.

Hudson crashed over for three Hornet touchdowns, two on passes from Dave Granlin and one from a John Smith toss.

Granlin also kicked the two converts in a game that broke wide open after Hornets managed only a 7-0 lead in the first half.

Ted Kissinger and Steve Parker accounted for the other TDs.

Hornets were again brilliant on defence and their attacking offensive unit ran up over 500 yards in combined rushing and passing.

COWICHAN LEADS

Greg McMartin and Brian Mann gave Cowichan a 12-6 lead at the half with two unconverted touchdowns at Carnarvon while Mike Blades had answered for Farmers.

In the third quarter, Lee Doney went two yards for the equalizing and then Blades kicked what was to be the vital extra point for Farmers.

Don Wallis ran 59 yards for another Farmer six-pointer in the last frame.

McMartin then snagged a pass that bounced off two Farmer defenders and marched 75-yards for the last touchdown but the Cowichan kicker missed the convert that would have produced a tie.

Bade, Simon Sparkle For Kamloops Squad

KAMLOOPS (CP) — A two-goal performance by rookie Larry Simon gave Kamloops Rockets a 4-3 victory over Vernon in a British Columbia Junior Hockey League game Saturday before about 800 fans.

The game, which had been scheduled as a Vernon home game, was played here because of a civic employees' strike in Vernon.

Rick Beauchamp and Steve Sanders scored the other Kamloops' markers. Vernon goals came from Jack Marsh, with two, and Lawrence Quechuk.

Jack Bade kicked out 34 Vernon shots and played an outstanding game behind a porous defence.

Kamloops hit the ice with only four holdovers from last season, and Vernon had six. The rest were rookies.

Successful Defence

TOKYO (AP)—Hiroshi Kobayashi of Japan retained his world junior lightweight boxing title Saturday by outpointing Jaime Valladares of Ecuador in a dull, cautious 15-round bout watched by fewer than 4,000 fans.

GAYLORD POWLESS
. . . five-goal spree

Powless Powers Olympics

NEW WESTMINSTER — Gaylord Powless can expect some extra attention from New Westminster Salmonbellies when the best-of-seven National Lacrosse Association final resumes here tonight.

Powless scored five goals Saturday night for Detroit Olympics Saturday night as the Eastern Division champions outhustled the Salmonbellies for a 21-12 victory in first game of the series.

Russ Jones, Bob Haw, Jerry McKenna and Charlie Marlow each scored twice for Detroit.

Playing-coach Cliff Sepka fired three goals to pace the Western Division champions, who were obviously weary after playing 14 games in 24 days.

Firemen Ice Columbus; O'Keefes Turn on Heat

VANCOUVER — University of B.C. Thunderbirds and Vancouver Firefighters tossed the leadership of the Pacific Coast Soccer League around like a hot potato during weekend matches while Victoria O'Keefes were establishing their position as solid contenders.

Thunderbirds vaulted past the Firemen into the top spot Saturday by pinning a 5-0 defeat on Croatia on the university pitch.

Firefighters climbed back into the top spot at Callister Park Sunday by cooling off Columbus 2-1 before 1,451 fans.

All the scoring came on the first half with a penalty goal by Steve Djorik sending Columbus ahead and Firefighters coming back to even the count on a tally by Chung Chi Doy, formerly with Vancouver Royals of the North American League. Louis Trischuk fired the winner at 34 minutes.

O'KEEFES TRAILED

Continuing to display steady improvement, coach Bill Abbott's O'Keefes appeared capable of challenging for another league title although the Victorians were trailing Eintracht by one goal early in the second half.

However, once O'Keefes started turning on the heat they had too much ball-control and too much experience for Eintracht. They turned a 2-1 deficit into a 6-2 advantage in a space of 30 minutes before Glen Johnson scored his second goal for the losers in the closing minute.

Ike MacKay, a surprise starter, Marty Taylor and Peter Brett each scored two goals for O'Keefes.

MacKay and Johnson scored in the opening half and Franz Walls sent Eintracht ahead just after the intermission.

From there, O'Keefes were in charge. Taylor started the surge with his first goal, MacKay made it 3-2 and Taylor collected what turned out to be the winning marker.

Brett then had his turn in the spotlight, providing two tallies to put the Islanders out of reach.

Soccer Vikings Display Power in Routing Lions

University of Victoria Vikings blew up the biggest storm Sunday during the first weekend of regular play in the First Division of the Victoria and District Soccer Soccer League.

Vikings posted the only decisive triumph and stirred speculation that they may be the team to beat in the new campaign as they unveiled considerable scoring power and thumped Red Lion Inn 7-1.

In other first division matches Sunday, Hourigans Kickers gained a 3-3 tie with Gorge Molsons at Topaz Park and Tally-Ho wound up with the same count in Central Park against London SC. During the division opener on Saturday, Canadian Scottish played to a scoreless tie with Victoria West.

Greg Pearson led Vikings to victory with three goals while single tallies went to Jack Magi, John Pennington, Rick Baldwin and Owen Richman. Don Munroe saved Lions from the shutout.

FOUR-GOAL EFFORTS

In second division action Sunday, Royals counted four goals from Rudy Kuebler to post a 5-5 tie with Saanich. Greg Sam scored four times for the opposition.

London SC held Colony to a 2-2 tie while Hotspurs used two goals from Louis Michielin in a 3-1 defeat of Falcons.

Cowichan XV Belted 12-0 By James Bay

James Bay Athletic Association blanked Cowichan 12-0 Sunday in First Division Victoria Rugby Union play at Duncan's McAdam Park.

In the only other scheduled first division match, Castaways defeated Oak Bay Wanderers 12-3 at Windsor Park.

Bernie Sinclair scored two trys for JBAA. Paul Copeland and Don Cowan added single tallies, all unconverted.

Paul Longridge paced the Castaway win with two trys. Bill Ross contributed a single try and Alan Rees added a penalty goal.

Oak Bay replied with a penalty goal by Bob Panton. Rock Caton added a try, which Panton converted.

In Saturday's play, Vancouver Meralomas downed an injury-ridden University Viking squad 19-3 in an exhibition match at Centennial Stadium.

Barry Burnham led the winners with a penalty goal and two converts. Fred Sturrock scored two trys while John Mitchell and Jim Boivin added single tries to the Vancouver score.

Vikings' lone score was on a 45-yard penalty goal by Ted Hardy in the first half.

CLOSE TUSSLES

Barbarians edged Oak Bay 13-12 and Cowichan fought to an 11-11 tie with Crusaders in Saturday's second-division tussles.

Copeland paced Barbarians with two trys, Ray Ramsay kicked two converts and George Jones added a single try.

Vince Calendar was leading point-getter for Oak Bay with two penalty goals while Jerry Karaginis and Jim Lang each contributed one try.

At Vancouver Saturday, UBC frosh thumped UVic Saxons 17-3.

Burgess' Boots Boost B.C. to Canadian Final

EDMONTON — Veteran Victoria fullback Don Burgess set the scoring pace here Saturday as British Columbia's representative side won the Western Canada berth in the national football rugby final.

With Burgess collecting 13 points by booting three penalty goals and a pair of conversions, the B.C. squad defeated Alberta 28-21 to advance to the Canadian championship game at Vancouver on November 9. Ontario and Quebec will play October 18 to decide which will represent Eastern Canada.

Tom Brown, of Victoria, scored six points for British Columbia with two tries, while former Victorian Jim Ryan, Brian McKee and Brian Barker each added one try.

Alberta was paced by Bruce Raines, who kicked three penalty goals. Bill Yeamans went over for two trys and Rick Rollins scored one. The remaining points came on a field goal by John Procter.

Viceregal Wins Cup and Saucer

Times News Services

Viceregal, a chunky son of Northern Dancer, capped his Canadian racing season at Toronto Saturday by making his eighth victory of the year an exciting triumph in the $43,555 Cup and Saucer Stakes at Woodbine Raceway.

Ridden by Richard Grubb, the flashy two-year-old finished a neck in front of Grey Whiz. Nine lengths back in third place was Quillo.

Viceregal earned $28,310 and boosted his winnings to $117,649 as he covered the mile and one-eighth in 1:46.

At Vancouver's Exhibition Park, Grand Bolero survived an inquiry and overcame a classy field of two-year-olds to win the $5,000 added Juvenile Championship.

Jockey Joe Baze got the Kentucky-bred colt to the wire a neck in front of the challenging Ballistic Missile and two lengths ahead of Royal Hala. Time for the six and one-half furlongs was 1:19 3-5.

Stewards posted the inquiry sign but decided after viewing films that Grand Bolero had not interfered sufficiently with Ballistic Missile to change the order of finish, which gave Grand Bolero his fourth win in eight starts.

MATCHMAKER VICTORY

At Atlantic City Saturday, Mrs. Richard C. Dupont's classy five-year-old mare Politely scored an easy four-length victory in the unique $100,000 Matchmakers Stakes, earning $30,000 and services to the European stallion Ribot.

Politely equalled her own track and stakes record of 1:55 1-5 for the mile and three-sixteenths as she easily outran the Rokeby Stable entry of Green Glade and Amerigo Lady in the stretch.

Green Glade, a four-year-old filly, beat her stablemate by three-quarters of a length for second.

As a result of taking second and third in the second running of Matchmaker, Rokeby Stable, owned by Paul Mellon, earned a total of $16,500 and the services of Hail to Reason and Intentionally, the other two stallion prizes offered to the first three finishers.

BAFFLE SETS RECORD

In New York, Shuvee, whose only previous victory was in a maiden race, caught Gallant Bloom just before the wire and won the $130,650 Frizette Stakes.

Dihela was third in the field of 11 two-year-old fillies, who were going a mile for the first time. The time was 1:37.

Shuvee, starting the race with earnings of $12,682, collected first money of $82,150.

Frank McMahon's Baffle defeated favored [illegible] at Bay Meadows in the $20,000 added San Francisco Handicap and set a track record as he covered the mile and one-sixteenth in 1:39 4-5.

Wilcox Fractures Ankle

(Times News Services)

The Western Hockey League season opens in Vancouver on Tuesday, but Phoenix Roadrunners may have to go without winger Rollie Wilcox.

The speedy winger who broke into pro hockey with Victoria Maple Leafs suffered a possible fractured ankle Saturday night as Phoenix defeated Vancouver 6-2 in their final pre-season tuneup.

In another warmup, Seattle goalie Jim Armstrong and a two-goal effort by Marc Boileau carried Totems to a 6-2 win over Portland Buckaroos.

Wilcox suffered his injury when checked by a Canuck defenceman.

Another one-time Victoria player was the game's standout. Tom Polanic scored three times and set up a fourth Phoenix goal.

Weatherman Had Variety For Weekend Team Races

Royal Victoria Yacht Club's entry of Sid Halls, Geoff Arndt, Brian Woodward, John Newhouse, Geoff Buck, and Rick McBride won the first annual RCNSA team race by a narrow margin over a strong Kitsilano Yacht Club contingent in a weekend meet at Esquimalt Harbor.

Final standings were Royal Vic-175¾ points; Kitsilano-172½ points; RCNSA-158¾ points; West Vancouver-143¾ points; and Maple Bay-129¼ points.

The weatherman flung the whole gamut of racing conditions at the yachtsmen, who all sailed 20 races during the two-day affair. Saturday's winds never exceeded 10 mph. Sunday's races were delayed because of wind velocity, and were finally sailed in winds gusting over 30 as contestants used 420 dingies (so-called because they are 4.20 metres long).

Each team of three boats met every other team twice in a full round-robin series.

Competition was keen, particularly between the two top teams, which saw all six boats finish within 20 seconds in one of their races.

Other team members were: KITSILANO — George Kirkwood and Dave Farthing; Rich Helmer and Marian Johnston, and John Windsor and Tege Thomsen. RCNSA—Robin Spear and Greg Hemphill; Paul Jensen and Ed Maloney, and Mel Steffans and Lon Boulganger. WEST VANCOUVER—Gordon Weir and Darlene Weir; Craig Yeats and Phil Yeats; and Rod Reynolds and Marshall Purdy. MAPLE BAY — Bruce Samson, Keith Robertson, Dan Gillingham, Bob Gardiner, Bruce MacKenzie, Bill Heath and Jamie McAdams.

Thirty-three Turkey Head sailboats made short work of a 15-mile course in Sunday's race, which went from Willows Beach to Zero Rock, leaving Fiddle Reef to port.

Winds averaging 30 mph brought Ralph Higgens' 48-foot Gabrielle II home in just over two hours. Second boat across the line, half an hour later, was one of the smallest contestants, Jean Pierre le Dallic's 24-foot La Marquise.

Sunday's results were:

A REPORT ON PROGRESS!

Twenty years ago our Company was started with a little money but a lot of determination, ambition and enthusiasm. We were confident success could be achieved by hard work, careful planning, imagination and good management.

Twenty years later a part of this ambition has been accomplished. From a start of 1200 square feet, the area of the original store in Sidney, B.C. a local company, the leader in it's field, has emerged. The earnings of this Company has been shared with hundreds of friends and customers, each of whom have purchased a part of Slegg Brothers common shares or preferred shares since we became a Public Company.

Here is what 1200 square feet has grown to—★ Victoria, Sidney and Duncan stores. ★ Gold Star Credits Ltd.—customer budget plans. ★ Maryland (98 lots) and Melville Park Development (148 lots) land developments. ★ Leader Realty Ltd.—for contractors' new home sales. ★ Goldstream Sawmill Ltd.—for our own sawmill and planer mill. ★ Leader Holdings Ltd.—for building frame apartments. ★ West Bay Investments Ltd.—highrise apartment complex already consisting of our fully-rented "Princess Patricia," 208 suites, the first of five buildings which will total over 500 suites when completed.

YOU have helped us accomplish all this—NOW you can participate further in this tremendous growth.

Remember there are two ways of making money—one is to work hard and earn it, the second way is MAKE YOUR MONEY WORK FOR YOU.

Slegg Brothers Lumber Limited now offers you the opportunity, with safety and security, to make your money earn a yield each year, for the next five years of 9.23%.

Put some substantial part of your capital into Slegg Brothers Sinking Fund 8½% Debentures. Every $100.00 Debenture is presently DISCOUNTED $2.50. Little Gabon Seen As Troublemaker

By HAROLD MORRISON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

The former French colony of Gabon appears to be playing a role in world affairs which some Western diplomats view as out of character with its local interests, population and resources.

The sparsely-populated state on Africa's west coast caused uproar in Ottawa last year by inviting Quebec to a conference of French-speaking countries without consulting the Canadian government.

Ottawa later broke diplomatic relations with Gabon, which has a population of about 500,000, mostly French-speaking.

Now authoritative reports claim Gabon is shipping large quantities of French-made automatic weapons to beleaguered Biafrans resisting against hard-pressing federal Nigerian troops.

The view in London is that this will prolong the war and the suffering already evident without offering hope of any fresh ideas for an acceptable peace in which a federated Nigeria can be restored.

SUSPECT GABON

It is no secret some British officials suspect Gabon, which may have no real interest in power politics on a grand scale, is being manipulated by French President de Gaulle to pursue his own foreign policy. A similar accusation was aired at the time of the French-language conference, seen by some as an initial attempt to recognize Quebec as a separate state.

The French government has denied it is sending arms to Biafra and, of course, the fact that French-made weapons may be finding their way into Biafra does not necessarily point to a French source of supply.

French officials suggest the only reason why planes are moving between Gabon and Biafra is to provide medical aid. The French defence department is setting up a field hospital for Biafran wounded and refugees at Libreville, Gabon's capital.

Britain is sending large supplies of arms to the federal Nigerian forces, confident the war might soon be over with the defeated Biafrans ready to rejoin the federated Nigeria in which Britain has a great deal of influence and interest.

While France so far has not recognized Biafra, President de Gaulle has stated he will give it all the help he can. The implication of his words, together with events, suggest he may be ready to play a larger role, even though some military strategists conclude Biafra cannot hope to withstand the federal onslaught for any long period.

Anglican Bishop Marries Son To Catholic

EXETER, England (AP)—Dr. Robert Mortimer, Bishop of Exeter and one of the Church of England's leading theologians, presided Saturday at the marriage of his youngest son to a Roman Catholic in the city's Anglican cathedral.

Special dispensations from the Vatican were required so the bishop could perform the ceremony, assisted by a Roman Catholic priest.

Edward Mortimer, 26, who works as a correspondent for the London Times in Paris, was married to Elizabeth Zanetti, 22, who has been working for a London publishing firm.

French, Viets Draw Closer

PARIS (UPI) — Political quarters said Saturday France and South Vietnam were slowly moving towards a full resumption of diplomatic relations broken off by Saigon over French criticism of the Vietnam war.

French sources said the government, motivated by its hosting of the Paris talks on Vietnam, looked on with approval at Saigon's bid to improve strained ties.

The government of President Charles de Gaulle was reported to have taken note of the South Vietnamese government's praise of its handling of the Hanoi-Washington talks here.

Doctors Protest B.C. Fee Schedules

VANCOUVER (CP) — A resolution to be submitted to the B.C. Medical Association this week will ask that more power to negotiate doctors' fees be placed in the hands of rank-and-file members.

It will ask the annual convention in Kelowna to permit full membership ratification of agreements with the provincial government.

In a letter to the 2,600 BCMA members, DR. E. A. Horniman of Cloverdale, a member of the executive committee, said:

"Once more we have fallen sadly behind the Indices in our latest negotiations for a fee increase."

Dr. Horniman said doctors sought a 9.9 increase in fees starting Jan. 1 but a negotiation team sent by the committee to Victoria was able to get only 6.75 per cent.

BCMA president-elect DR. R. M. Lane of Victoria said a similar proposal was made at the convention two years ago in Trail and it was virtually ignored.

Big Beat Yields Little Crime

RESOLUTE BAY, N.W.T. (CP) — RCMP officer Al Ritchie has one of the biggest police beats in the world, but his chances of encountering any crime as he makes his rounds are about zero.

His beat starts at Resolute Bay, 1,500 miles north of Winnipeg on Cornwallis Island, and runs north through Canada's Arctic islands to the North Pole—an area of thousands of square miles.

"I never get a good case," he says. "Crime just doesn't exist here as it does in other places. There has never been anything like an armed robbery.

"I have a room as a cell here, but it is usually just used for letting the odd drunk cool off."

During the winter, when temperatures, with wind-chill factor, may go as low as the equivalent of 120 below zero, about 200 people live on his beat. He knows them all.

In the summer, resource survey crews move in, and "incidents" increase slightly. Much of the officer's work consists in helping the year-round residents of his area with day-to-day problems.

ROUNDED HORN FIRST

A statue has been dedicated in Buenos Aires to Vito Dumas who made the first solo conquest of Cape Horne in a 27-foot sailboat in 1943.

He hunts with Eskimo friends and does much of his travelling by dog team. In an emergency, he charters an aircraft.

Constable Ritchie, who joined the RCMP in 1962, expects soon to return to conventional police work. He plans to marry in the fall and says he probably will be posted next to Manitoba.

"I think a man can stay out in the wilds too long."

$100 grows to $250 with Canada Savings Bonds

$250 for each $100. That's what you can get with this year's Canada Savings Bonds. Here's how.

The new Bonds have fourteen regular annual interest coupons which can be cashed each year as they come due. The first pays 5.75%; the second, 6.50%; the next three, 6.75% each, and the last nine a big 7.00% each. Total regular annual interest amounts to $95.50 on each $100 Bond.

If you choose you may hold all these regular annual interest coupons uncashed until your Bond matures. If you do, you will then get interest on your interest totalling an additional $54.50 on each $100 Bond.

At maturity, therefore, you can get back total interest of $150 plus your original $100 investment. This way each $100 Canada Savings Bond becomes worth $250. Other denominations can grow at the same exciting rate.

Adults, children, businesses and institutions—all may buy Canada Savings Bonds. They are available in convenient amounts of $50 up to $50,000 for cash or on instalments, wherever you work, bank or invest. And, as always, Canada Savings Bonds are cashable any time at full face value plus earned interest.

Few investments are so profitable. None builds more surely for the future. Buy Canada Savings Bonds and make your savings really grow.

Buy yours today!

Experts Give Boost To Creative Drama

By AUDREY JOHNSON

A strong movement is under way in Victoria to provide children and young people with creative drama.

The drive follows the arrival here of some highly qualified experts in the field.

The importance of creative drama and the difference between it and the usual round of school plays and formal presentations is that it functions for the child's own personal development, not for audiences or as a "theatre art."

Developmental drama (or drama in education) is already a force at the University of Victoria where students are being well served by an exciting program initiated by Professor Richard Courtney.

Professor Courtney started the program last winter and has been working to extend the field as chairman of the Greater Victoria branch of the Canadian Child and Youth Drama Association (CCYDA).

A meeting and showing of a film to promote wider interest in the association's work was held recently in Uvic's MacLaurin Building.

An audience consisting of parents, private and public school teachers, developmental drama students and executives of the CCYDA, saw an interesting display of photographs and recommended books and pamphlets.

The lecturer, in the absence of Professor Courtney who had been suddenly called to England, was Peter McWhir, a recent arrival.

A creative drama specialist from England, who was prominent in school drama work in Saskatchewan for two years before coming to Victoria, Mr. McWhir was vice president of the Saskatchewan Child and Youth Drama Association. He won a provincial award for outstanding direction.

Mr. McWhir is conducting two creative drama workshops at the Thomas More Centre at Gordon Head.

Children, Mr. McWhir told his audience, should not be directed but allowed to find their own personal fulfilment through improvisation, where each child gives of his best.

He laid great emphasis on the fact creative drama cannot and must not involve any competitive element.

The lecture and question period surrounded the presentation of a noted BBC film: Discovery and Experience: Movement in Time and Space.

This film dealt specifically with creative movement as one aspect of the dramatic process of learning.

It gave an enlightening, charming, sometimes hilarious picture of what really good work in creative drama can do for children from ordinary environments.

Despite the poor sound quality, the audience was enthralled and moved by the absorption, the imagination and sheer beauty of the children's work.

Staryk's Violin Masterful

PROGRAM

Tchaikovsky—

Symphony No. 5 in E Minor, Op. 64.

Tchaikovsky—

Concerto for Violin and Orchestra in D, Op. 35.

Difficulties of Tchaikowsky's only violin concerto pose no problem for astonishing Canadian virtuoso, Steven Staryk.

At Sunday's Victoria Symphony concert he swept through the most daunting passages with fluent confidence, surrounding sheer technique with effortless artistry and grace.

The concerto was played with the intensity of temperament such a work demands, for Tchaikowsky has drawn upon the melancholy, the passion and vigor of Russian folk melodies and rhythms for its themes.

Staryk, now well launched on a concert and recording career, has been concertmaster of some of the world's most famous orchestras, including the Royal Philharmonic under Sir Thomas Beecham 12 years ago, at the age of 24.

His tone throughout the concerto was like silk and velvet, and what absolute purity and sweetness in his incredible harmonics. Scale passages are limpid perfection.

The first movement cadenza, long and unaccompanied, emphasized Staryk's splendid master of the bow as he negotiated wide-arching arpeggios, and the dazzling fingering that made light passages in sixths.

CHARMING DIALOGUE

There is a charming dialogue between woodwinds and the solo violin in the second movement, which came off well.

In the finale also, oboe, clarinet and bassoon spoke balance between orchestra and soloist could be improved by some lightening of the accompaniment.

One hears an artist of Steven Staryk's calibre all too seldom these days not to wish to hear him to the best possible advantage.

Once again a recital follows on Wednesday at McPherson Playhouse when we will be able to hear this exceptional Canadian artist in a comprehensive program. Robin Wood will be at the piano.

The warmth and sensitivity, outstanding brilliance and authority of Steven Staryk, assure his guest appearance here being one of the season's most memorable.

Laszlo Gati opens this pair of concerts with a performance of the stirring Fifth Symphony. The lilting "waltz" movement suits the orchestra well and this was played on Sunday with grace and buoyancy.

Things did not go too well with the first movement. There was a looseness of texture and the horns were in trouble almost throughout. There was improvement in the second, the andante cantabile, when the familiar melody of the principle theme was taken up by the horn, after pleasing string treatment.

All through this lyrical section strings and woodwind were summoned to a maximum effectiveness and achieved much that was beautiful and pleasing.

Possibly the unsettled feeling of the first movement contributed to the diminished sense of the opening of the finale, with its echoing of the first movement's theme.

But while something of the breadth and nobility was lacking at first, Mr. Gati achieved in the ultimate magnificent bravura, a splendid sense of climax.

We Got Rats, Rats Big as Alley Cats

Don't tell it at tea time—but there are rats in Oak Bay.

Which may be of some consolation to the Saanich resident who reported Friday he saw three rats crossing Patricia Bay Highway near Swan Lake.

"There are rats all over the area," says Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread, senior medical health officer on southern Vancouver Island.

If you get up early enough in the morning, you can see them "on Hillside and in Oak Bay," he said.

The Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health receives 20 to 30 calls a day from the public about rats. That's about 6,500 calls a year.

Rats, it seems, are no respecters of municipal boundaries or property values.

But if you are troubled by rats, you can do something—phone the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Board of Health.

If you live in Victoria, Oak Bay or Esquimalt, they will send a health inspector out to look at the situation and lay down poison.

In Saanich, you should call at the health office on Vernon Avenue (next to the municipal hall) and pick up your own supply.

In either case, says Dr. Whitbread, the service is free.

He hopes the rodent control program now in operation in Victoria, Oak Bay and Esquimalt will be extended to neighboring urban areas, such as southern Saanich.

Increase in Dental Welfare Fees Sought

The B.C. government will be asked to speed up negotiation with dentists so a greater portion of dental fees will be paid for welfare recipients.

The decision was made Friday night by Victoria Low Income Group, a voluntary association of people who try to improve their economic situation. Most of the members are on welfare.

"Several mothers in our group have experienced refusal by dentists to do preventative or emergency care," said Reg Clarkson, executive secretary of the group.

"One mother said this applied to her foster children. One lady said one child has a bad hole in a tooth and the dentist gave her an appointment three months away."

Asked if this was the same thing as refusing treatment, he replied "that's right."

Officials of the Victoria branch of the B.C. Dental Association, were not available for comment this morning.

Mr. Clarkson said the reason for the refusals is that the fee paid by the welfare department does not cover the charge for dental work.

He estimated there are about 4,000 individuals effected in Greater Victoria. They are adults on welfare and their dependents plus foster children of people not on welfare.

However, he said he sympathizes with the dentists' situation.

In the past, he said, welfare recipients have been treated "shabbily" by dentists because the fee paid by the welfare department was low.

NO EFFORT MADE

"I put the blame on the department," he said. "The percentage of fees is too low. I don't think the minister (Dan Campbell) has made much effort to resolve this."

Last May, the B.C. Dental Association announced that 700 dentists were advised to refuse all but emergency care to welfare persons starting June 30.

Association president Dr. A. E. Swanson said the move, affecting 75,000 persons, was an effort to get the provincial government to pay a higher percentage of the cost of treatment.

The government pays dentists 57 per cent of their 1966 fee schedule for treatment of welfare persons. Total cost of this in the 1966-67 financial year was $2.4 million.

"We believe in rendering service to the indigent but feel it's time the government started paying for it," he said then.

He said the association wants the government to pay 90 per cent of the schedule. It has been negotiating with the government for a year.

Speech Team Aids Chest Fund Drive

A group of community-minded citizens have taken to story-telling as part of their contribution to the United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal.

Volunteer canvassers from every walk of life are telling fellow employees and other interested groups how the 23 Community Chest agencies and the Red Cross help the citizens of Greater Victoria.

Head storyteller is L. J. Glassford, manager of Ocean Cement and president of the board of directors of the Community Chest. He and his volunteer group will address meetings of donors during the United Appeal campaign.

Arrangements for speakers can be made by calling the Community Chest office at 385-6708.

Mining Sets Pace For Industry

British Columbia continued to make strong economic advances through the third quarter of 1968, Waldo Skillings, minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, has reported.

In his monthly summary of B.C. business activity, Mr. Skillings said the pace was set by the mining section.

"In comparing production figures for the first seven months with the same period last year, the only major mineral product to show a decline was copper.

"Increases ranged from as high as 42 per cent for silver to three per cent for coal," he said.

The forest industry continued to make "strong gains" despite a cutback in pulp and paper mill production resulting from over-capacity.

He said a lull in residential housing construction should only be a temporary one because of the continued demand for new housing and recent easing in interest rates and the money supply.

Outbound cargo from the port of Vancouver in July was 12 per cent higher than in July 1967 and imports were 15.5 per cent higher.

"British Columbia's role in Canada's international trade increases each year as the Pacific rim countries, particularly Japan, become more important both as customers and suppliers," Mr. Skillings said.

Two Boys Hurt In Collision

Two boys riding bicycles were treated for leg injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital Friday following an accident on Hampton at Orillia.

Luca Beran, 9, of 304 Doris, and Paolo Loglisci, 8, of 3084 Albany, collided with a car driven by Trevor Smith, 1267 Pearce Crescent.

OFF TO REZAIEH Agricultural College in Iran is Victoria native Leonard Yager, now of Mt. Vernon, Washington. He goes as adviser of the college, sponsored by American philanthropic group Near East Foundation. Former teacher of horticulture in Ethiopia, Mr. Yager will help organize Rezaieh College. HOSPITAL FOR BIRDS

A free hospital service for sick budgies has been set up by pet lovers in Leicester, England.

Local Plower Places Ninth

Jim Mar of Saanich, a champion B.C. plowman, placed ninth Friday in the Canadian plowing championships held at St. Augustin, Que.

Jack Andrew of Chilliwack, the only other B.C. entrant, was seventh.

Winner of the tournament was Douglas Reid of Brampton, Ont. Rose Kennedy of Little Brittain, Ont., second, and Barry Wilson of Cornwall, P.E.I., third.

Reid and Wilson will represent Canada in the world plowing contest in Yugoslavia next fall.

Five-Year-Plan Pending For Tourist Industry

By JOHN MOSHER

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP) — Long-range planning is necessary for the Canadian Tourist Association, its new president said today at the first business sessions of the annual CTA convention.

This planning, said Dalton M. Waller of Toronto, is needed "to ensure our basic objectives will be met for priorities of programs and functions, for organizational structure, practices and procedures, for staff in their functions and growth, for physical planning and for financial planning."

By the time of next year's annual meeting in Ottawa April 20-22, "we plan to have an aggressive five-year plan, the pattern of a dynamic new concept for tourist development in Canada."

Mr. Waller, who succeeded Victor Oland of Halifax as CTA president after Mr. Oland became Nova Scotia's lieutenant-governor in July, said a majority of association members had favored spring for the annual conventions. He expected the switch from fall meetings would result in greater attendance and interest.

This year, the president's report said, Canada will probably reach the predicted $1,200,000,000 target for foreign-currency earnings from outside visitors.

CITE TRAFFIC FIGURES

"It is significant that long-term U.S. visitor traffic from April to July inclusive was up strongly in the Maritime provinces and British Columbia compared to the same period in 1967. It was up modestly in Alberta, down somewhat in Saskatchewan, worse in Manitoba. Ontario had a substantial drop and Quebec is drastically down."

Many had asked whether the 1967 distortion in normal travel patterns, due to Expo and centennial celebrations, would continue.

"The answer seems reasonably clear: Normal patterns have been restored."

The president suggested that Montreal's Man and his World, "better in some ways than Expo 67," would have produced more visitors if suitably promoted.

Aberations in the generally satisfactory tourist scene included fishing resorts. Uncertain or poor weather and the mail strike were two big factors, the latter adversely affecting hunting and fishing business this fall.

Steady progress was reported in the association's continuing large projects—Project Hospitality and Keep Canada Beautiful. The newest is Explore Canada, a program to promote more travel in Canada by Canadians.

Arctic Rescue Attempt Fails

LONDON (CP) — An attempt to evacuate an injured British explorer from an ice floe has been abandoned and he now will have to stay there during the Arctic winter, the committee for the British trans-Arctic expedition says.

Canadian flyer Weldy Phipps Friday made a 1,000-mile dash to the expedition's camp in an attempt to rescue injured Allan Gill but was unable to land due to ridged ice.

With the six-month-long Arctic night setting in, Gill, who has a suspected slipped disc, will have to stay with three other members of the party as they float over the North Pole.

15 Jesuit Teachers Back Priests

By MARTIN WEIL
The Washington Post

WASHINGTON — Fifteen Jesuit priests at Georgetown University defended Washington's penalized priests Sunday and took issue with Patrick Cardinal O'Boyle's stand in the dispute over conscience and birth control.

The Jesuits said in a statement that the penalized priests' position on conscience seems "firmly grounded in the teaching of Vatican II and the tradition of theologians." They said it is also held by several European hierarchies.

Bishops throughout the world have interpreted the papal encyclical on birth control differently from the cardinal, the Jesuits said. But here, "only one possible interpretation is permitted. This creates a serious problem."

According to the cardinal the encyclical is a ban on artificial birth control which must be strictly obeyed. The priests say they will respect the rights of individuals in certain circumstances to disagree in conscience with the encyclical. The cardinal has restricted the public ministry of some 40 of the priests.

Signers of the Jesuit statement included Rev. William C. McFadden, chairman of the theology department at Georgetown, and Rev. Royden B. Davis, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences.

LOCAL MAN RE-ELECTED

Group Captain (ret'd) Alex M. Jardine of Victoria was re-elected national president of the 10,000-member RCAF Association at annual convention in Kitchener, Ontario, Friday.

Shortly after his re-election, Group Captain Jardine announced that the 1969 RCAFA national convention will be held in Victoria, sponsored by 809 Pacific Wing.

Representing Victoria's 809 Wing at the three-day convention were Kenneth Cutler, president, and Rex Collard, second vice-president.

Criminal Code Amendments Back in House

MONTEBELLO, Que. (CP) — Justice Minister John Turner says the government's omnibus bill of amendments to the Criminal Code, which died with the last Parliament, will be reintroduced with minor changes and will be studied by the Commons during the first two weeks of November.

Mr. Turner made the statement at a weekend meeting of the Quebec conference of judges in Montebello, on the Ottawa River 55 miles west of Montreal.

The bill, brought before the last Parliament by then justice minister Trudeau, stirred up controversy over a number of its clauses, including those dealing with abortion, homosexuality, guns and lotteries.

Mr. Turner said the bill he is presenting will be essentially the same, but some details will be altered. He gave no hint as to the nature of the changes.

Press Seen As Antidote To Anarchy

NELSON (CP)—A task of a free press is to preserve a free people from anarchy, says Andrew E. Soles, principal of Selkirk College of Castlegar, B.C.

It is too easy to drift into revolution by default and to accept violence as a condition of modern-day life, he said Friday in an address to a dinner meeting that followed the annual west regional meeting of The Canadian Press.

"Over the years a free press has guarded a free people from tyranny. It's task today is to preserve them from anarchy."

Mr. Soles said he was not suggesting that minorities should be ignored; only that they should not receive the disproportionate amount of attention because they make better copy. It was too easy for the press to become the voice of the lunatic fringe.

He said coverage of recent disorders in Paris and Chicago ignored the "great silent majority—the millions of men and women who prefer peace to violence."

"It is in the silent majority that we must put our trust . . . and that the press must give a tongue."

No Vote . . . No Licence

ATHENS (AP) Greeks who failed to vote in last Sunday's constitutional referendum without valid reason will not be entitled to a driver's licence or renewal of their old one, the renewal of their old one, the communications ministry has announced. A ministry order said defaulters also would not be able to obtain or renew an automobile circulation permit or sell or trade their car, or to buy or sell gasoline stations.

In addition, all persons who deliberately did not vote in the referendum can be fined or imprisoned from one month to a year if convicted.

'Only Educated Public Can Sway Politicians'

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER — The retiring president of the British Columbia School Trustees Association abandoned quiet diplomacy here Sunday night to deliver some straight-from-the-shoulder shots on the education scene.

Frank Beinder of Trail opened the association's 64th annual convention at Bayshore Inn with a blunt review of what he thinks makes politicians tick.

Assessing his two years as leader of trustees from the province's 81 districts, he chided his school board colleagues, warned teachers and sympathized with students.

But his sharpest barbs were aimed at jolting the public awake on school issues.

"Don't tell me all we have to do is install another government," said the man who has in the past favored behind-the-scenes negotiation to preserve goodwill.

'SAME FUEL'

"Because so far as I am concerned they all run on the same kind of fuel.

"You can't browbeat the politicians into anything that isn't dictated by public demand but you can mould public opinion in a good cause."

"Presumably, people enter politics because they think they already have the answers. Regretably, this can render them virtually uneducable.

"They are, however, sensitive to the demands of an educated public and it may be that we have somewhat arrogantly underestimated the power of the people in our kind of democracy."

The public has difficulty understanding developments in education, mainly because most taxpayers were educated in a system with a totally different philosophy.

"Nobody who left school more than 20 years ago has any yardstick with which to judge the school of today." The school boards aren't "getting through" to the public.

'TELL WORLD'

"We've got to tell the world we know why Johnny can't read, we know why Johnny drops out, we know why Johnny breaks school windows, we know that the mind of a child is a wonderful, complicated and sometimes frightening mechanism, with undreamed of potential for good or evil, and given the resources and given the understanding and the co-operation of the people, we know what to do about it."

When a $50 million offer for a new Burrard bridge was "so easily pulled out of the hat" where were the voices raised on behalf of nearly 4,000 kids on shift in one school district? asked the trustees' president.

"Who said 'what about gymnasiums?' . . . when our premier so gaily announced another $50 million for the highest building in Canada?"

Who, he asked, questioned the vast allocation of Centennial funds to Victoria's new provincial museum, "monument to an increasingly irrelevant past," when school libraries throughout the province are sub-standard?

"I am unable to recall any discussion between the department of education and this association prior to the decision to change teacher certification procedures. . . .

ARBITRARY

The government's cost ceilings on classroom construction were arbitrarily set with trustees getting no opportunity to examine regional problems.

Two government committees have been studying school construction and utilization, he said. He wondered if school boards would be consulted.

To teachers Mr. Beinder said:

"I feel bound to point out that there are serious differences between us. They must be examined and dealt with. If we can operate only on the basis of repeated and unconditional capitulations on the part of school trustees, then the death knell of school boards has already been sounded."

On regional colleges he had this to say:

"Where is the plan?

"Why have we allowed what must be regarded as one of the most enlightened concepts in education in the last half-century to become a miserable, discredited bone of contention between municipalities, assorted pressure groups and school boards?"

Of students he said:

A lot is heard from students these days and there's more to come, he said.

"And it's not surprising that our young people, better educated than any previous generation, thrust into an era of progress undreamed of when their parents were young, should question the validity of traditional attitudes."

Civil Defence Going To Regional Board?

The Regional District Board has established a sub-committee to study the advisability of bringing Civil Defence under regional jurisdiction.

At present each municipality has its own civil defence group trained to meet disaster emergencies in the community in which it operates.

But, although closely co-ordinated with neighboring municipalities, the organization likes tight regional control.

Proponents of the proposal to bring the organization under regional control as a district function feel the entire community from Sooke to the Gulf Islands would be better served by emergency teams under the jurisdiction of one board.

No deadline was set for the committee to report to the full board but is expected to take at least two months to co-ordinate the report.

CLOSED MEETING

The decision to call for a study was made Friday at a closed-door session of regional board members.

At present the regional district is responsible for firecracker control throughout the region, for the purchase of land for development as regional parks, for main sewer trunk construction and the development of sewage disposal systems and for hospitals.

It has been proposed that within the next six months the regional district also take over regional planning and the Greater Victoria Metropolitan Health Board.

B.C. Foresters Get Warning

PENTICTON (CP) — Forests Minister Ray Williston has warned British Columbia forest producers that some of them will be forced to adopt "close utilization" methods on their allocated resources.

In a speech given to the B.C. section of the Canadian Forestry Association, Mr. Williston said he was giving warning of a change of government policy.

Mr. Williston said the change would mean greater use of the timber resource and would cut down on waste.

Dropouts Probed In Church Talk

Victoria psychiatrist Dr. Charles Gregory will discuss the Dropout Phenomenon in School and Society at a meeting in Christ Church Cathedral Memorial Hall Wednesday at 8 p.m.

Dr. Gregory is the second speaker in a series of talks on Society in Evolution or Revolution. He is a member of the board of governors and the senate of the University of Victoria.

MISSILES have been supplied to the Philippines by the U.S., President Ferdinand Marcos disclosed Sunday. He did not specify type or number but army officials said they are small and have been there for more than a year, for use "in event of attack . . ."

Output Boosted By CKDA

Radio station CKDA will become the most powerful station on Vancouver Island this week, with an increase in strength from 10,000 to 25,000 watts.

David Armstrong, president and general manager of the station, said the increase would be put into effect early this week.

Installations totalling nearly $250,000 have just been completed at a new transmitting plant on Chatham Island, just off Oak Bay. The plant has a capacity of 50,000 watts but will use only 25,000.

The station received approval more than a year ago from the Board of Broadcast Governors (now the Canadian Radio and Telvision Commission) for the increase.

An application to set up facilities for broadcasting at 50,000 watts from Sidney Island was turned down by the board in February.

Color Camera Pinpoints Pollution

Color photography is now being used in delineating areas of water pollution, says A. C. Kinnear of Victoria, president of the Puget Sound Region, American Society of Photogrammetry.

"It is particularly valuable in compiling studies of currents which may be used in the dispersal of pollution from our waters."

Mr. Kinnear, who is co-ordinator of lands in the B.C. lands and forests department, presided at the fall dinner meeting of the Puget Sound Region in the Red Lion Inn Friday night.

The region takes in British Columbia, Washington and parts of Oregon and Montana.

William A. Radlinski from Washington, D.C., president of the American Society of Photogrammetry, spoke on the progress of photogrammetry in relation to mapping.

COMPUTORS

He said computors are now being used to speed up the drawing of maps from air photographs.

"This is important because of the increasing use being made of air photographs in mapping and the interpretation of natural resources," Mr. Radlinski said.

Seventy-one members, guests and wives from Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle and Portland attended the dinner. Among them was B.C. Surveyor-General G. S. Andrews, who received a meritorious award in Washington, D.C., earlier this year.

Mr. Kinnear presented a citation to H. O. Tutmark, Seattle, secretary of the Puget Sound Region for "his unceasing efforts over the years."

Deputy Lands Minister David Borthwick also attended.

Saturday morning, members and guest were taken on a conducted tour of the survey and mapping branch of the provincial lands department.

Steady Flow Of Funds, Prime Need

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — Uncertainty about the flow of federal funds into housing is indirectly adding to housing costs, the Hellyer housing inquiry was told today when it opend hearings here.

The housing committee of the Association of Ontario Mayors and Reeves said the flow of money from the federal government into housing should be "steady and assured."

Sudden and unpredictable changes in the supply of federal funds discourages builders from investing in land inventories, the association said.

Its brief wsa presented by the committee's chairman, Mayor John Wheelton of Windsor, who also presented a brief for the city.

The association's brief was drawn up and submitted to the task force in writing before the announcement last week in Ottawa by Transport Minister Hellyer that another $170,000,000 will be put into housing during the balance of this year by the federal government.

Mr. Hellyer is the minister responsible in the federal cabinet for housing and head of the enquiry.

ENCOURAGE BUILDERS

The Ontario Mayors and Reeves association said builders should be encouraged to amass inventories of raw land on which they could provide services for housing developments at a later date.

If there were an assured and steady flow of funds into housing, the builders could do this more economically and at cheaper cost to the house buyer over a period of time, than they can when federal financing is on a stop-and-go basis.

Press Baron Takes Issue With McLuhan TV Theory

LONDON (CP) —Publisher Lord Thomson takes issue with Marshall McLuhan, the Canadian communications philosopher, in an article in The Times today.

The Toronto-born press baron expresses disagreement with McLuhan's view that the role of the printed word is diminishing, in a lead-off article to a 20-page supplement on the world's press.

"I believe Marshall McLuhan is right in saying that the electronic media opens vast new opportunities," says Thomson, whose organization controls The Times.

"But I do not believe that the medium is the message. I believe the content remains equally important whether it is delivered through the written word or through television."

Thomson writes that "the press still has a great future in the seventies provided proprietors and editors . . . shape it so that it is complementary to and not just competitive with the new media."

STRESS NEW IDEAS

He and the author of another article for the press supplement, Hugh Cudlipp, emphasize such technological developments as new methods of color printing.

Cudlipp, chairman of the International Publishing Corp., says that high-speed web offset printing in a series of satellite plants "is the answer to the regional advertising facility television already affords."

Hilary Brigstocke, Times correspondent in Canada, writes that the trend in Canadian journalism "is to an increase in evening papers and the reverse in morning papers."

"With an expanding population in Canada . . . there would appear to be still room for the daily in the smaller communities not touched by the big metropolitan papers and where the commercial interests of which do not clash," Brigstocke reports.

Among other contributors to the supplement are Gavin Astor, chairman of the Commonwealth Press Union, and Gerald Long, general manager of Reuters news agency.

Astor outlines the various international bodies developed over the years to improve the press.

The power of newspapers to help or hinder in shaping the future of mankind, he says, has increased with the rising standard of education and the technology of instant communication.

"Thus the responsibilities and integrity of the press — as purveyors of information, as guardians of taste and as leaders of thought—become increasingly onerous," he says.

Long, outlining the role of world news agencies, notes that though the bulk of news is furnished by such agencies, few readers are aware of their existence "and hardly anyone outside the profession of journalism knows what they are and how they work."

LULLABY BY WOLVES

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Manning, Alta., motel where Larry Lesage was staying didn't appreciate his six Arctic wolves.

Mr. Lesage, assistant curator of the Stanley Park Zoo here, said he was on his way back home from Fort Smith, N.W.T., with the wolves when he checked into the motel.

"The motel operator asked me to find another place for the wolves when they started howling at 4 a.m. But I didn't want to leave the wolves alone so we packed up and left."

Mr. Lesage, and his wolves, arrived here Sunday.

Blades to Flash At New Arena In Two Weeks

ADDRESSING invited guests at the official opening of the George R. Pearkes Arena in Saanich is Mayor Hugh Curtis.

The new Saanich arena was officially opened Sunday before many invited guests.

Officiating at the opening was former lieutenant-governor George Pearkes, after whom the arena off Tillicum Road is named.

Costing just over $500,000, the arena has seating for 528 persons and an ice surface 185 by 85 feet.

It is expected to be open for regular activity in about two weeks, after ice has been laid.

FIRST OF FOUR

The arena is the first of four indoor recreational facilities to be built since ratepayers approved a total expenditure of $1.25 million in March, 1967.

Dedication of the arena was by Rev. Brian Cowan of St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church.

Const. Norman Christman, president of the Saanich Policemen's Union, presented a portrait of the Queen and George Garside, president of the Saanich Municipal Employees Association, presented a commemorative plaque.

After the opening ceremonies, hundreds of Saanich residents toured the arena during "open house."

Music was provided by the Mount View senior secondary school band under the direction of Howard Denike.

New Saanich arena will have 185x85-foot ice surface.

Passersby Drag Man From Fire

Kitchen Blaze On Shelbourne

Two young men are credited with saving the life of an elderly man burned in a fire in his home Sunday morning.

Edward Hamer, 88, of 3904 Shelbourne, is listed in good condition in the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He suffered burns to his hands and face.

Police said the fire broke out about 8:30 a.m. while Mr. Hamer was attempting to light an oil range in his kitchen. He lived alone. A neighbor called Saanich fire department.

Police said Vincent Quin, 535 Princess, and Joseph Thompson, 682 Alpha, both 25, dragged Mr. Hamer from the floor of his home. They were passing by the house when the fire broke out.

Flames were shooting out the back door when fire trucks arrived, but the blaze was extinguished quickly.

Damage estimated at less than $2,000 was confined to the kitchen, hallway and back porch of the two-bedroom house.

Oak Bay Man Elected By 'Servants'

Norman Richards, 2812 Larkdowne Road, was elected president of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Saturday at its annual convention in Vancouver.

The 47-year-old member of the provincial government's own postal branch here has been an active member of the BCGEA since he joined the civil service 17 years ago.

He served for the last six years on the provincial executive, including the last two as first vice-president.

Gordon Boyd of Vancouver was named vice-president and Nancy Person of Vancouver secretary.

Elected to the 13-man executive board as representatives of various areas were:

WEEK DELAY IN ARRIVAL OF BARQUE

Faithful Victoria boat-watchers, disappointed when the square-rigged barque Monte Cristo failed to appear in the Inner Harbor Saturday, are assured by the ship's owners she is coming—likely next Saturday.

A spokesman for Capt. Alexander Brigolo said unexpected difficulties prevented departure from Vancouver.

The captain of the 138-foot ship is reported making arrangements with the recreation and conservation department for a reception when the ship arrives in the capital.

'Don't Clutter Vote' On Hospital Program

By JIM HUME

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark today asked hospital authorities not to clutter the Oct. 26 hospital referendum vote with arguments on location.

Less than three weeks from now property owners from Sooke to the Gulf Islands will be asked to approve a $9.3 million referendum to clear the way for building 600 extended care beds to relieve acute care bed pressure in existing hospitals.

"The location of those beds can be determined later," the health minister said. "It would be most undesirable to clutter up the main issue now by introducing the planning debate which can take place later.

"What the regional hospital district needs is authorization to expend the funds asked. It can then proceed with its planning in conjunction with the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service."

FIRST STEP

Mr. Loffmark said the Oct. 26 vote is the first step towards solving serious hospital bed shortages.

"I would say two things," he said. "One, it was important that the vote be called as soon as possible. Two, I hope the people look on it with favor."

Mr. Loffmark's appeal means that proposals on the various sites on which to build the new extended care beds will be left in abeyance until after the vote.

Early proposals recommended 200 new extended care beds to replace Mount St. Mary; 200 new beds at St. Mary's Priory, Colwood; 150 new extended care beds at Gorge Road Hospital and 20 extended care beds for Lady Minto Hospital, Ganges, leaving 30 beds to be planned later.

FOUR PARTS

A later proposal suggested that the extended care program be divided into four sections with Mount St. Mary, St. Mary's Priory and the Gorge getting 150 beds each and a 150-bed hospital being built to replace Rest Haven.

Rest Haven authorities have already taken an option on a 42.9-acre site in Central Saanich overlooking Saanichton Bay. They will hold the option until a final decision is made on the disposition of the beds.

If accepted the new Rest Haven hospital would be built under the extended care program, but with 50 of the beds upgraded to meet acute care standards, thus giving the north end of the peninsula the hospital it feels essential to the well-being of Central Saanich, North Saanich and Sidney residents.

Estimated cost of the Rest Haven recommendations has been set at $2.7 million.

"But," says Mr. Loffmark, "this is the sort of thing that can be worked out later."

EARLIER START ORGANIZED TO HANDLE CAR TEST RUSH

The province's motor-vehicle testing station in Victoria now opens 1½ hours earlier to cope with the pressure of customers.

More staff will be hired to handle the 8:30 a.m. opening at the station on McKenzie near Quadra, a weekend announcement said.

Of 28,628 cars that have gone through the test in three months since the station opened, only 16,220—less than two-thirds—were approved first time around.

The station will continue to close at 8 p.m.

'MAN NEEDS HIS PRIVACY'

Privacy is one of the major needs of man, a Saskatoon psychiatrist told the annual convention of the Community Planning Association of Canada this morning.

But privacy must be voluntary or it loses its main effect, said Dr. Abraham Hoffer.

"Involuntary privacy may be just as dehumanizing as involuntary lack of privacy and people will go to any extreme to overcome it," he said.

"I think the best examples are the private cells or black holes of some of our prisons."

If privacy is not guaranteed, social groups break down because without rules to the contrary people tend to intrude on other's privacy, he said.

"This is why we have peeping Toms, electronic snoopers and so on.

"Institutional intrusion into our privacy is called surveillance and may take any form including psychological tests by industry of applicants."

Privacy can be attained by careful design of space.

Visual privacy can be produced by walls and opaque barriers, in public waiting places by seating arrangement and visual barriers. Sound barriers and baffles and sound-absorbing materials on floors and walls achieve this in buildings.

Discussing the consequences of insufficient privacy, he said rats undergo profound changes in overcrowded conditions. Law and order breaks down, predator rats develop and there is a great increase in morbidity and mortality.

Riots perhaps have their roots in the need for privacy, he said, pointing out that black people and other minority groups have not been given access to the same privacy as have the majority groups.

Desirable human values will be possible only when the design of communities and institutions take into account human privacy.

The planning convention continues until Wednesday at the Empress Hotel and the McPherson Playhouse.

Oct. 14 Deadline for Briefs To Sewage Disposal Conference

Deadline for briefs to be submitted to a one-day seminar on sewage disposal methods is Oct. 14 not Oct. 7 as stated in a recent advertisement.

Regional District executive secretary William Long said today a recently published advertisement on the seminar should have stated that briefs must be submitted between Oct. 7 and Oct. 14.

"Unfortunately the latter date got lost in transmission," he said. "A new advertisement will be run correcting the error. The final date for submission was set at Oct. 14 sometime ago and remains the deadline."

In the meantime the Times has learned the $10,000 one-day study wavered close to complete cancellation last week.

Called to ascertain once and for all which method of disposal was best—deep sea outfalls, composting or treatment plants—the findings of the seminar will be academic in the light of Health Minister Ralph Loffmark's recent pronouncements.

Mr. Loffmark has stated that all new sewage collection systems have a minimum of primary treatment before ultimate disposal.

He has indicated his department will permit existing outfalls to operate under non-conforming legislation providing no additional flow of sewage is introduced into the main trunks.

This is construed to mean Victoria can continue with its plans to extend the Clover Point outfall, but leaves in some doubt the future plans for Macaulay Point outfall which serves populated areas at present but which will also be sought in the near future as a sewage disposal outlet for areas yet to be built up.

Several members of the regional district board felt the minister's statement was positive enough to call for cancellation of the plans for a full day debate on an issue already solved.

They called for abandonment of the plan and the saving of $10,000.

Other board members felt public interest is so high the $6,000 to $10,000 expenditure to bring international experts on sewage disposal to Victoria for the session was still justified.

As a result the Oct. 19 debate at the McPherson Theatre starts at 9 a.m. and runs until the last questions are answered.

Young Mother Killed In Two-Car Collision

Husband Receives Serious Injuries

By DERYK THOMPSON

A two-car crash early Sunday claimed the life of a young Victoria mother, the 18th person to die this year in traffic mishaps in Greater Victoria.

Killed at Rockland and Linden was Mrs. Dorothy Schofield, 23, of 404 Superior.

Five other persons were taken to Victoria hospitals following the 3:07 a.m. crash. One was seriously injured.

MRS. DOROTHY SCHOFIELD
. . . third in city

In fair condition in the intensive care unit of St. Joseph's Hospital is Robert Schofield, 26, husband of the dead woman.

He suffered chest injuries and was earlier listed in critical condition.

Krista, the two-year-old daughter of the Schofields was admitted to hospital but discharged after observation.

In "good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital are Christopher Albertson, 19, of 1190 May, with chest and head injuries and Patricia Pelan, 19, of 1128 Craigflower with head injuries and face cuts.

Ronald Olding, 20, of 225 Kingston, brother of the dead woman, was discharged from hospital after treatment.

Police said Mr. Schofield was travelling west on Rockland in a car containing his family and Mr. Olding.

The other car, driven by Mr. Albertson, was northbound on Linden. The collision was in the intersection, which is controlled by stop signs on Lidnen.

The Schofield car veered north on to Linden, police said, hitting a telephone pole on the west boulevard 41 feet north of Rockland. The car then hit a parked car on the west side of Linden which was pushed into another parked car.

Mrs. Schofield was the third person to die in traffic accidents in Victoria city this year.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said he had ordered an autopsy at St. Joseph's Hospital. He said an inquest will be held, probably starting on Wednesday.

RECEPTION

Funeral service will be held at Haywards Funeral Chapel, 734 Broughton. Time and details have not yet been arranged.

The Schofields were returning home from a wedding reception at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Schofield is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Olding, 225 Kingston, and a sister Barbara, four and a half years old.

The Schofield's had been married about four years and had only one child. Mr. Schofield is in the navy.

Investigation Of Shop Holdup 'Draws Blanks'

'Get Down On Knees' Owner's Father Told

Victoria police have so far "drawn blanks" in their investigation of the weekend armed holdup of a small grocery store at 1871 Oak Bay Avenue, a spokesman said.

About 8 p.m. Saturday a man walked into John's Grocery, levelled a pistol at Harry Woo, the 60-year-old father of the store's owner, and ordered him to "give me your money."

He took $100 in small bills and change from the till and ran out into the night.

Owner Kenneth Woo later told police the man had been in the store some minutes before the incident. He walked over to a shelf near the cash register, appeared to reach for some rice on the shelf then turned with the pistol in his hand.

"GET ON KNEES"

Mr. Woo was told to "get down on your knees," his son said.

From the older man's description, police believe the pistol was probably a pellet or B-B gun.

Police say Mr. Woo could give only a sketchy description of the robber: "Unfortunately he was more interested in looking at the barrel of the gun."

None of the money taken was marked and no serial numbers were listed.

Mr. Woo was shown mug shots of several known offenders and police say they have a good impression of what the robber should look like and "clues to a few local boys."

"But we've drawn blanks so far."

The man is believed to be about 30 years old, 5 feet 10, with black hair and no accent. He was neatly dressed, wearing a black jacket.

Kenneth Woo was out at the time of the incident, but his wife and four children live in the back of the store and he said his wife came into the shop just as the robber was departing.

She phoned her husband who notified police. Within minutes Victoria and Oak Bay police had the area sealed off and were questioning possible witnesses.

Mr. Woo, who said the loss was covered by insurance, has owned the store for 21 months.

GRADUATING with bachelor of science degree Friday from Royal Military College in Kingston, Ont., was officer cadet William Deacon, 22, of Victoria. Former graduate of Royal Roads College at Colwood, cadet Deacon was section commander during senior years, active in college athletics. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Deacon, live at 5083 Wesley Road.

Russ Ship Refuels, Heads Out

The destroyer-escort St. Croix returned to Esquimalt Sunday following the departure of the Russian naval vessel Gavril Saritshev.

The St. Croix had been shadowing the Russian since she appeared Friday off the south end of Vancouver Island.

The Gavril Saritshev—an oceanographic research ship—is not a newcomer to Canadian waters. She was followed in a similar incident last December.

When last spotted early Sunday, she was 60 miles off the north end of Vancouver Island and heading out.

A naval spokesman said the Gavril Saritshev travelled steadily northward about 40 miles off the coast since first sighted. She refueled from a larger Russian ship Friday night about 25 miles off Triangle Island in the Queen Charlotte Sound.

Court Martial To Open at 10

The court martial of Commander N. S. Jackson will open in the Wardroom, CFB Esquimalt, at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Members of the public must be seated by 9:45.

Commander Jackson was in command of the destroyer-escort Saskatchewan when she struck a submerged rock in Active Pass Sept. 8.

Nanaimo Man Injured On Malahat

Three accidents occurred on the Malahat Highway near "Suicide Corner" over the weekend.

One man was injured and a woman's car nearly tumbled over a cliff after knocking down 120 feet of guard rail.

Don Bray of Nanaimo is in "fair" condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries after the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and rolled into a ditch Saturday evening.

Colwood RCMP said the car, driven by Raymond Thorpe of Nanoose Bay, was southbound and attempting to pass a car.

SAME CORNER

While police were attending the accident a car driven by Robert Peace of Lake Cowichan was in collision with another vehicle driven by John Oddson of Nanaimo at the same corner. No one was injured and damage was light.

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday police said a car driven northbound by Edith Leeming, 3853 Jeunet, struck the guard rail, breaking the posts for a distance of about 120 feet before rolling over. It did not go over the cliff.

The driver, alone at the time, was not reported injured. Damage to the car is estimated at $1,300 and $500 to the guard rail.

Suicide corner, just north of Goldstream, has been the scene of many fatal accidents.

Ask The Times

Q. Can you tell me something about the Baha'i faith?—P.N.

A. The Baha'i faith regards the founders of the major religions—Abraham, Jesus, Buddha, Muhammed, Zoroaster, Krishna and Baha'u'llah (Baha'i founder)—as messengers of one God. Its purpose is to promote the unity of mankind. The faith originated in Persia in 1844, and is based entirely on the writings of Baha'u'llah. Presently the Baha'i World Community is established in 305 countries and territories. The ultimate authority is the Universal House of Justice, an elected body with its seat in Haifa, Israel.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve contests or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Burnaby Queen Undergoing Annual Refit

The B.C. ferry Queen of Burnaby arrived at Esquimalt graving dock today for her annual refit.

Work on the vessel is being done by Yarrows Ltd.

About 80 men are employed in the four-day cleaning, painting and minor repair job.

Earlier the Queen of Esquimalt was refitted and the Queen of Tsawwassen is next in line.

Bushels of Beans Fall Nightmare

By PENNY SAVER

I could quite understand that the Wilsons were tired of beans. Last year their bean growing was not a success. Mr. Wilson put in a row of scarlet runners and between the birds and some sort of bug, very little came up. This year he decided to multiply his chances by planting a longer row. Naturally the birds left the garden alone and the bugs did likewise. The plants began producing in July and just kept on producing. The Wilsons ate beans at every meal, while between meals Mrs. Wilson labored to get the pounds of beans the children picked into the freezer. The freezer is now full; the whole family is fed up to the teeth with beans and the faithful plants are still heavily laden. For the past few weeks friends of the Wilson family, the Savers included, have been making weekly pilgrimages to help keep the bean crop from going to waste.

Jayne is less patient and skilled at wielding a knife than either Mathilda or I so it was she who discovered a bean slicer to help her with the job of preserving beans. This is a gadget made of cast metal that sticks firmly to the table by four suction cups. It consists of a revolving knife attached to a handle. The bean is fed in through one of two holes (one for large beans, the other for smaller ones) and the handle turned. Presto—the perfect slices of bean appear on the other side. A bracket affair on the side of the slicer is for slicing off the stringy edges, I learned. These bean slicers are $4.95 and come in blue or green. They should be washed regularly and the directions should be followed carefully to get perfect results, but once you have caught the knack they are simple to use.

Donut Maker Destroys Excuse

Years ago my husband bought me one of those electric pots that keep an even heat because he likes my donuts. My excuse for not making them in pre-pot days was that it was so difficult to keep the fat just the right temperature. Post-pot I needed a new excuse, so I said it was too fiddly to do often. The fiddly part, I explained, was rolling and cutting the dough. To counter this he bought me a donut maker. This is much like a cookie press, except that it is made to make donuts, complete with centre hole. It comes completely apart for washing and is made of aluminum and spring steel. The box has two recipes, one for vanilla donuts, the other for yeast donuts, as well as hints on how to make them. The whole machine is $2.65. Now I have no excuse for not making donuts.

Jayne's cooking nook is as well organized as a hotel kitchen. Her measuring cups, utensils and supplies are all within easy reach and there is an ample work area near the stove. "But I am always fumbling for measuring spoons in the drawer," she complained. "Have you ever seen any on a rack like my measuring cups?" I have. They are $1.39 a set and made of stainless steel. The set contains the tablespoon, teaspoon and half and quarter teaspoon measures. The handles are longer than usual making it easy to reach deep into a jar or over a pot. The bowls of the spoons are squared off making an attractive set. The rack just screws onto the wall. This set is made of stainless steel.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Proper Breathing Helps Combat Fatigued Feeling

Lowman

You can untie those knots of tension you bring home at the end of a day with some slow-motion and deep breathing exercises. These are also excellent to do a few times during the day. Try executing one such as that I am giving you for just five minutes, three times each day. This robs you of only a few minutes daily and you will find yourself much more rested when evening arrives.

Many people breathe shallowly. This is called "chest breathing." They use only the top part of their lungs. Sit in a chair or lie on your back and try inhaling and exhaling in the following manner.

Breathe in slowly and smoothly through your nose with your mouth closed. First expand and fill the lower part of your abdomen and then continue on up to your chest. When exhaling (slowly) push the air out of the chest and then slowly continue to the lower abdomen. At the very last, pull in with the abdominal muscles sharply.

You will find the following exercise extremely restful. It is especially beneficial for tension through the shoulders and the back of the neck. This is where fatigue so often hits us.

Lie on the floor on your abdomen with your head resting on the floor. Bend your elbows and place your lower arms on the floor, elbows opposite or a little back of your shoulders. Now slowly raise your head upward and back until you are looking up toward the ceiling. Arch your back as you do this. Hold for a few minutes and slowly return to starting position. Keep the lower arms on the floor throughout this exercise.

The way you breathe during this exercise is an important part of it. Inhale slowly and deeply as you raise your head. Exhale as you return to starting position, with your head on the floor.

If you would like to have my deep breathing exercises send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for the leaflet "The Fountain of Youth." Address your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Youthful Beauty

From the early twenties, bedtime massage with a vitalizing night cream is ideal for softening traces of surface skin dryness and tiny lines. Apply Olay vitalizing night cream to cheeks, forehead and throat and coax it into the skin with light, upward moulding strokes, then remove with a tissue. Such care will encourage complexion loveliness.

Sophistication For Cocktails

This sophisticated tunic dress and trousers set with a fascinating Oriental look was part of the unusual collection revealed in Britain by the Associated Fashion Designers of London at their recent mid-season fashion show. The eye-catching cocktail wear, designed in Chinese symbolic flower brocade of rich gold and magnolia, is a dual-purpose garment. When the occasion demands, the tunic dress can be worn independently. THE FABRIC DOCTOR HAS THE ANSWERS

QUESTION:
Are Puffed Fabrics Serviceable?—Mrs. R. J. K.

Dear Mrs. R. J. K.: No. The fabric is bonded to a fiberfill batt and then stitched with a stretch yarn to create a puffed design. The stretch yarn is made with a rubber core wrapped with a cotton and nylon yarn. The rubber swells and the fabric shrinks in drycleaning. Also, the stitching is done with a chain stitch, which may break and alter the design.

Daily Diary of Working Mother Dispels Envious Misconceptions

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (UPI) — There's a myth that the housewife, hair up in rollers, sits at her picture window and glares green-eyed at the well-groomed career woman-mother on her way to work.

If such misplaced envy exists, perhaps the housewife would like to glance at the diary of a working mother:

6:30 a.m. — Alarm clock clangs. Hide head under pillow along with conscience. Try to go back to sleep.

6:31 a.m.—Loud baby noises wake mother and conscience. Get up, change diapers, smile at baby, baby smiles back, prepare bottle, begin feeding.

6:32 a.m.—Remember about forgetting to plug in percolator.

7 a.m.—Plug in percolator while baby takes burp break.

7:15 a.m.—Change diapers, tuck baby into crib. Resist temptation to climb into crib, too. Run bath.

7:45 a.m. — Make more coffee while fresh hot tub fills.

8 a.m.—Cook breakfast after getting into all work gear except dress and lipstick. Baby messes dresses; lipstick messes baby.

8:30 a.m.—Wake husband and serve breakfast.

8:55 a.m. — Baby changed and in playpen. Breakfast now cold.

9 a.m. — Wash breakfast dishes because housekeeper-babysitter believes they are beneath her dignity.

9:30 a.m. — Housekeeper should arrive but doesn't.

9:45 a.m.—Housekeeper not arrived but husband leaves. Forgets laundry.

9:55 a.m. — Housekeeper shows up. Baby cooing at housekeeper while being bathed. Refused to smile at departing mother.

10:05 a.m.—Arrive at work five minutes late. Mother has all morning to sulk over child's refusal to smile.

1 p.m.—Lunch break. Go to supermarket. Disposable diapers sold out.

1:15 p.m.—Get on shortest supermarket checkout line.

1:45 p.m.—Realize line composed entirely of comparison shoppers haggling over prices with non-English-speaking clerk.

2:05 p.m.—Arrive home to feed baby. Baby won't smile at mother despite whistling, singing, finger-snapping and funny faces.

2:10 p.m—Feed baby applesauce. Baby smiles because she loves applesauce, not because she loves mother.

6:05 p.m.—Arrive home, set out meat to warm to room temperature; take off dress and don milk-stained robe reserved for baby-feeding.

6:06 p.m.—Run in to howling baby who has spit up cereal. Take over feeding as housekeeper rushes out as if house afire. Check house for fire.

6:45 a.m. — Meet newly arrived husband, burp baby, dress for dinner, apply false eyelashes, collect burped baby and dress her up, too.

6:55 p.m.—Answer doorbell, holding baby. Whoops, forgot rubber pants for baby.

7 p.m.—Watch baby smile at guests, put her to bed, finally get smile.

MARRIED 60 YEARS

The Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, of 2333 Beach Drive, will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary Tuesday, October 15. The couple was married in Government House, Halifax, N.S., when Mrs. Wilson's father, the late Hon. Duncan Cameron Fraser was lieutenant-governor. The couple's 40th wedding anniversary was also celebrated there, this time when Mrs. Wilson's brother, the Hon. Alistair Fraser, was lieutenant-governor. (Bill Halkett Photo.)

University Dean Commends IODE's Aid to Education

Dr. D. L. MacLaurin, said that stories of unrest in the universities were "far from the whole story" when he addressed the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire bursary tea, Saturday, in the Student Union Building at the University of Victoria.

The acting dean of arts and science said, "There are a good many academic students working to get a solid education. It is comforting to know that part of the support for this kind of student comes from this Order."

Describing the IODE scholarships, bursaries, and grants as "under-girding education," Dr. MacLaurin recalled the visits of the regent and members of the Camosun chapter to North Ward school when he was a pupil there.

"Times have changed," he noted, "and the Order has changed with them. Its major concern is now education. Every year in Canada more than a third of a million dollars is gathered and expended in the interest of academic pursuits."

Dr. MacLaurin was introduced by Miss Margaret Dodimead, assistant educational secretary, municipal chapter, and thanked by Mrs. J. A. Dunn, first vice-regent.

Sharing the head table with him were Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard, regent, municipal chapter; Mrs. J. F. MacIntyre, educational secretary, provincial chapter, who came from Vancouver for the occasion; and chairman, Mrs. T. Lumsden, educational secretary, municipal chapter.

The Royal Bride Chapter was in charge of the refreshments served after the presentation of the bursaries.

Presiding at the head table were Mrs. J. Cheil and Mrs. R. T. Wallace. Serving were the educational secretaries from the primary chapters.

The arrangements of chrysanthemums that decorated the room were made by Mrs. Peter W. Bell of the Major J. R. Gillespie Chapter. Mrs. L. E. Collard was pianist.

Mrs. V. H. V. Sheppard presented bursary certificates and cheques to Miss Linda Wilkinson, George W. C. Hall, Raymond Choy, Richard William Girard, all of Mount View Secondary School; Miss Barbara A. Jones, Oak Bay Secondary School; Miss Stephanie Wong, Miss Laurel Burgess, both of Victoria Secondary School; and Roy McVie, Esquimalt Secondary School.

Miss Wendy E. Clarke who won a municipal scholarship in Canadian History, was unable to attend, but the other municipal winner, Michael Brock, general proficiency, received his award from Mrs. Sheppard.

More Help for Native Indians Promised by Provincial Minister

One of British Columbia's women ministers without portfolio, Hon. Isabel Dawson, hinted that the provincial government intends to increase its assistance to the province's native Indians when she attended the charter banquet of the Zonta Club of Victoria, held in the Empress Hotel's Crystal Ballroom on Saturday evening.

In commending the women's service club on its first community project, that of working with local Indian bands and supplying a $100 scholarship which will enable an Indian girl to attend the Adult Studies Institute, the minister promised that her government plans to be more active in this field of community need.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Service project chairman, Mrs. Norma Mickel, who had outlined the club's project, said that the need for such work was made more apparent to her when she worked on one of the reserves this summer.

Many distinguished guests attended the colorful banquet, the men dressed in tuxedos and the women in evening gowns. Adding to the scene in the newly decorated ballroom were table-centres of gold and bronze chrysanthemums, each accented with toning candles and some of the flags of the 32 countries in which Zonta International has branches.

FROM TORONTO

Among the guests was Miss Edna Nairn, Toronto, immediate international past president, who presented the charter to the club's president, Mrs. Phoebe Noble, who also received a bouquet of red roses from her husband, Jack Noble. The gavel used at the banquet was a gift from Mrs. Shirley Baker, the club's original president, who is now serving in Africa. Miss Virginia Coleman, Seattle, district governor, welcomed the new club into District No. 8.

Also bringing greetings to the club, the first women's service club to be formed in the city, were Mayor Hugh Stephen of Victoria, Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Mayor Fred Hawes of Oak Bay, Acting Mayor, Alderman Archie Galbraith of Central Saanich, and Municipal Engineer W. G. Gerry of Esquimalt.

In his speech, Mayor Stephen said that women will be called on to play a more effective role in society with its increased emphasis on social and cultural growth. He noted that women's importance had been advanced through political changes which has seen men playing a dominant role "in the C. D. Howe days," this role being shared more equitably with women in "the just society of Pierre Elliot Trudeau."

Vice-president Mrs. Irene Warren was chairman for the evening. Other officers are secretary Joyce Mair, treasurer Grace Cuthbert and director Ruth Scott. The latter gave the invocation.

The evening was rounded out with a program of songs by one of the group's members, Adele Lewis.

CHARTER MEMBERS

Other charter members are Nan Bailey, Olga Bowes, Pat Martin Bates, Davinder Bains, Ida Clarkson, Audrey Harness, Margaret Harness, Mary Henderson, Nora Higgins, Catherine Horne, Iris Morrison, Elizabeth Nicholson, Gladys Pettersen, Betty Ross, Arden G. Simpson, Nan Walmsley, Freda Wolfe, Anna Wocilon and Norma Fitzsimmons, who donated the floral arrangements and corsages.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Secretaries Become Wives—Be Wary

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am sick and tired of these aggressive, gutsy secretaries who act like fools over their bosses.

My husband's secretary hung a sign over his desk saying, "Happiness is a warm secretary." (It stayed there until I saw it and refused to have anything more to do with him until he took it down.)

She calls my husband by his first name and stands about an inch from him when she talks to him. When she goes on vacation she sends him postcards signed, "Love," saying, "I miss you so much." (And this dumbbell sends them to his home address yet!)

My husband isn't entirely innocent, either. He knows she is out of line, but he says, "What can I do? She's an excellent secretary and I need her."

I have come to the end of my rope, Abby. What do I do now?

HAD IT.

DEAR HAD IT: I'll tell you what not to do. Don't tell him if he doesn't fire her you'll leave. There are more secretaries who have become wives than wives who've become secretaries. Steer clear of his office. Never mention her name, and forget her. And most important, don't let him become the kind of husband whose wife doesn't "understand" him.

DEAR ABBY: We are newlyweds and have this problem with my folks: When we want to use something of theirs we cannot yet afford, they let us use it without hesitation, then they won't take it back. For example:

We asked if we could use their deep freeze just for the winter because they hardly ever used it. Last night they came over and told us we could keep the freezer because they had bought themselves a new one!

Abby, we really were mad. Can't they understand that we don't want them to give us things like that? I feel like returning the freezer. We didn't want it as a gift, we only wanted to use it for the winter. We can't afford very much just yet, but we want to be on our own. What can we do with parents like that?

ON OUR OWN.

DEAR ON: If you sincerely want to be "on your own," don't ask to borrow anything for the day, the week, or for the winter.

DEAR ABBY: I work in a mail order house and would you believe that about 20 per cent of the people who place an order send us cash, but they forget to send their names and addresses?

We have no idea who they are or where they live. We could just cry. All we can do is wait until they write again, complaining that they have not received their order, then we can fill it.

Please print this. It may help.

DISTRESSED IN DECATUR.

DEAR DISTRESSED: Move over. I, too, am distressed when a desperate reader writes with an urgent and serious problem, but neglects to send his name or address. Freud said, "There are no accidents." I wonder.

Confidential to "Charlene K's Mother in Bellmawr, N.J.: Your 17-year-old daughter wrote, "My mother isn't just a mother. She's also my best friend."

No daughter could ever pay her mother a finer compliment. I salute you!

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Hate to write letters? Send $1 to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif., 90069, for Abby's booklet, "How to Write Letters for All Occasions."

New Laboratory Opened At Local Boys' School

A new well-equipped science laboratory has replaced the converted classroom which formerly served as a laboratory at St. Michael's School.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. E. P. Gillespie cut the ribbon officially opening the Memorial Science Laboratory, dedicated to the memory of the 29 "old boys" of St. Michael's who were killed in World War II.

Dr. Raymond LeHuquet, president of the board of governors of the school, introduced Mrs. Gillespie, and later introduced Mrs. Kytle Symons, who officially opened the fall fair.

Special guests of the headmaster, including Oak Bay mayor Fred Hawes and Mrs. Hawes, were served tea in the gymnasium.

Special attractions at the fair included an auction, and sale of decorative flowers later in the afternoon.

The fair was arranged by members of the Mothers Auxiliary to the school, under the convenership of Mrs. T. A. Irvine, Mrs. K. R. H. Roberts and Mrs. David Burr.

Proceeds amounted to approximately $2,000.

A choice of necklines and wool to be used is given in the leaflet instructions on cardigans which May Mac Lean offers today.

KNIT AND CHAT By MAY MAC LEAN

Pattern Can Be Easily Adapted

Mac Lean

Dear May: I have seen some lovely patterns for knitted dresses, but they all seem to have high necklines. Is it possible to make the neck line lower? I have not had too much experience, I usually follow the pattern exactly. I would appreciate your help.—Mrs. J. P., Flin Flon, Manitoba.

Dear Mrs. J. P.: I know exactly how you feel, for the high round neckline just does not suit me. I much prefer a lower round, scoop neckline or V-neck.

It is relatively easy to alter the neckline, it just needs a little thought and planning. After the armhole shapings have been completed, the instructions usually call for a certain number of inches of knitting to be worked from the beginning of the armhole shaping, to the point where the neckline is commenced.

Now if you wish to lower the neckline, commence the shapings one or two inches before the amount stated. The same works in reverse, if you want to raise the neckline, work one or two inches more than the pattern states at this point.

After the neckline shapings have been completed, continue to follow the instructions, working the exact number of inches that the pattern calls for, to the shoulder.

For a V-neckline, by simple arithmetic, arrive at the number of stitches that are decreased for the entire neck shaping. Divide this number into two (as you decrease evenly each side of the V-neck).

Determine by the tension the exact number of rows that will be required to complete armhole to the shoulder. Divide the stitches into the rows, which will give you the number of rows between each decrease at the neck edge.

Useful warm cosy cardigans are great for the fall days ahead! And children just love the raglan style. Instructions contain sizes for 2-4-6-8-10-12 years and are given for both round or V-neck, suitable for either girls or boys. Instructions are also given for use with three groups of wools, 4-ply fingering, double knitting or a synthetic—all on the one leaflet!

To order Leaflet 6706, send 35c in coin or money order (stamps and personal cheques cannot be accepted), together with a long 5c stamped self-addressed envelope, to: May E. MacLean, "Knit and Chat," care of Victoria Daily Times. Please be sure to state pattern number when ordering.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

"When man first sets foot on the moon that foot had better be a healthy one or all else involved in the expensive preparations for this mission will have been in vain."

So said Dr. Clarence Bookbinder, the new president of The American Podiatry Association, in his inaugural address.

I buy that idea, as well as the thought that without foot health there can be no foot beauty. The down-to-earth abuses our poor feet suffer are happening all around us on this planet!

True, the ancient Greeks added their footnote to history by espousing the naked foot, a practice (embellished by the briefest sandals) still strongly evidenced in Mediterranean countries. But this is a far cry from the barefoot (dirty foot) trend that many teen-agers consider the with-it thing today.

Given the number of bones joints, muscles, ligaments and nerve endings in the much put-upon foot, it stands to reason that although walking barefoot on soft carpeting, sand or grass is kindly, hard surfaces such as concrete, cement, rough ground or even wood floors can unduly jar the nervous system — to say nothing about the unhygienic, disease-producing organisms picked up on the soles of unshod feet. Moreover, putting dirty feet into shoes only perpetuates the problem and increases the possibilities of bacterial infection, particularly athlete's foot and ringworm.

Your feet deserve as much attention as your teeth. Therefore, why not set aside 10 or 15 minutes daily to insure gratifying foot loveliness and comfort.

End each day with a soothing foot bath. Add a cupful of epsom salts or strongly brewed tea to a basin of fairly warm water. Or fill the bottom of the tub and sit on the edge. The tea will impart a healthy color and helps prevent callouses. Peppermint tea, incidentally, feels twice as refreshing.

While soaking, wield a pumice stone — the triangle or mouse-shaped types are best. Always use pumice on WET feet and an emery board on dry feet to erase little callouses and corns. Leave big jobs for the podiatrist!

After soaking five or 10 minutes, dry feet and seat yourself comfortably, one leg crossed over the other so the sole faces upward. Massage the toes, rotating the big toe round and round; then knead all joints deeply, using your knuckles. Professionally speaking, this is called "Zone Therapy," especially helpful when a headachy or all-gone feeling takes over.

An effective morning foot-saver — extra-important if you don't wear stockings — is the favorite technique of contemporary Italian lovelies. Approximate the special type of alcohol they use by adding 20 grains of menthol crystals or one ounce of spirits of camphor to one pint of unscented rubbing alcohol. Massage well into feet but, before it dries, shake on baby powder and "work" both together. This adds a luminous glow to the skin and seems to form an invisible, fine stocking. While you're at it, sprinkle extra baby powder into shoes.

Podiatrists claim flat feet are no longer considered unhealthy. It's the muscle tone, not that beautiful arch which counts. Strengthen your feet by spending leisure time walking about in wooden-soled exercise sandals — a treat for feet first created by monks centuries ago and now worn by smart girls the world over.

JUST FOR YOU: Are ultra-dry feet your problem? Get yourself a bottle of wheat germ oil capsules. Puncture each capsule with a pin; squeeze out the oil, rub into feet and toenails. Two capsules per foot will do the trick!

Makes Rough Wrinkled Necks Smoother
If your throat is rough, wrinkled and old looking let me suggest you apply a delightful lotion-like substance you can get at any drug or department store. It's called 2nd Debut and it exclusively contains the Wiesbaden Discovery known scientifically as CEF 600 which carries needed moisture into and under the skin. Not only is wrinkled, loose flabby skin pushed up and made smooth again but at the same time the aging look of a crepe paper throat disappears and you look years younger fast. You can also get "2nd Debut" with CEF 1200 for double strength moisturizing action. Remember the name . . . 2nd Debut.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Oswald: "It is a pretty good rule to win a trick when you can, on the theory that it might never come back to you, but there are plenty of occasions when it is far better to hold off for awhile."

Opening lead—♣ K

Jim: "They say that aces were made to take kings. They also were made to take queens, jacks and even deuces. The winning player will take his aces when they will do him the most good."

Oswald: "I made four no-trump with the South hand. There was no problem in the play. I ducked the first club and won the second. Then I led a diamond and called for dummy's king. East said, 'Not through the Iron Duke,' and produced the ace. Later on I finessed against West's jack and made my 10 easy tricks."

Jim: "It was certainly fine co-operation on the part of the Iron Duke. If they gave a special bonus to a player who made his trick early, he would have been in line."

Oswald: "West wanted to know what I would have done if East had quietly ducked that first diamond. Naturally, I told him that I would have been able to come back to my hand, lead a second diamond and play dummy's nine."

Jim: "You might have done that. My guess is that you would have tried to win the next diamond with the queen, whereupon East would take his ace and West would make his jack and two club tricks later on."

Oswald: "If I were playing against top opposition, I might still be sitting there trying to guess which diamond to play. Against this East, I would surely have gone wrong but it is all academic. He is not capable of holding back an ace when it can take a king."

10-MILE POINT UNUSUAL—ATTRACTIVE

This attractive home, built with a high regard for Japanese architecture, also uses the best functional aspects of Western architecture to produce better living because — it is located in the 2nd best area (Uplands is first) — the lot is large, 70x220 — it's treed, offering you a natural park of your own. The privacy extends also to the home. The living room is peninsular with a separate entrance (how many times have you crossed through a living room or dining room to get to another room — A living area should not serve as a passageway). Between the living room and the large dining room is a free-standing stone fireplace — serving both rooms and it soars to the full height of the open beamed roof. The wall between the dining room and kitchen is translucent and has a Japanese design. The lighting from either room through the panelling adds a most interesting feature to these rooms. The kitchen has black walnut cabinets that only Tech. Designed Homes would produce. This is a room that most ladies will not be able to resist. The bedrooms are large, 2 have feature walls and special lighting and there are two full bathrooms. In addition there is a large rumpus room, finished in yellow cedar with a floor to ceiling fireplace. There are many more features. The price is $[illegible] and there is a [illegible] per cent mortgage available. B. Price, 385-2458.

Maverick Board Ousted

NEW YORK (AP) — The board of education, acting to forestall a third strike threatened by teachers against New York City's 1,100,000-pupil public school system, has suspended the controversial governing board of Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville district.

The board announced Sunday a 30-day suspension of the local board and directed Superintendent of Schools Bernard E. Donovan to assume direct supervision of Ocean Hill's eight schools.

The suspension stemmed from the local board's steady refusal, backed by parents and demonstrators in the predominantly Puerto Rican and Negro section, to take back 85 teachers. The appearance of the teachers has either touched off violence or they have been admitted to the schools but not allowed to teach.

HOME GARDEN

Winter Risky for Plants

By HILDA BEASTALL

Hilda

Last winter was lacking in prolonged hard frosts so that gardeners who left dahlia tubers, gladiolus corms and chrysanthemum roots in the ground were lucky. Enough survived the wet ground to give a feeling that these are quite safe in the garden during winter.

Some varieties of each of these three kinds of plants will survive for years without being lifted in fall for indoor storage.

This is particularly true when soil is gravelly or otherwise very well drained in winter, or on a southerly slope, or close to salt water.

In general, however, it is not advisable to risk the loss of valuable plants by leaving them over winter outdoors.

New varieties of gladiolus corms do not survive a cold wet soil even when planted in early spring.

This is why some of the best colors disappear from a mixed lot of glads. We hear of only white ones blooming when a couple of dozen mixed colors have been planted at the same time.

Chrysanthemums are notorious for dying out in winter. It is not so much low temperatures as wet cold soil around roots. They rot away instead of producing new growth buds in spring.

There is an old bronze variety flowering in late October which seems to survive practically any weather and any soil. This is what tempts us to take chances.

We soon find that our good whites, pinks, and yellows disappear, especially those blooming in early September.

Leave the glads in long enough for leaves to brown off; the dahlias until frost finishes most of the blooms; and chrysanthemums will probably last with good blooms until November.

Winter storage of the roots will be explained later.

YOUR HEALTH

Hardening Of Arteries In Brain

By DR. WALTER ALVAREZ

Alvarez

People often ask whether there is a cure for cerebral arteriosclerosis. And I cannot help them much. So often, after the artery has become thick and narrowed and perhaps has had a blood clot form in it, and a little stroke has come, there isn't much a doctor can do. Fortunately, in some cases, if the person has been able to keep active, and perhaps if he can be kept at work, which will give him some interest in life, he will improve greatly.

If he is allowed to stay in bed all day, without any interest in life, there is not much chance of improvement. In some cases, I have seen spectacular improvement after the giving of a couple of tablets of Lipoiodine a day.

If the person is stout, it may help if he can be reduced. That will usually lower his blood cholesterol. If he has high blood pressure, it may help to lower that with drugs.

* * *

Is there anything that a person can do to prevent the coming of arteriosclerosis? Yes. If a person wants to do something to avoid the coming of the sort of hardening and narrowing and roughening (on the inside) of his arteries, he should hold his weight down by living on a moderate amount of lean meat, fish, chicken, ham, and not over 4 eggs a week. He will not eat the fat on meat, and will use vegetable oils rather than butter, cream and fats of animal origin. He will keep hunger away by eating vegetables, lettuce, tomatoes and some low calorie fruits. He will not smoke many cigarettes a day, and he will drink liquor only in moderation.

* * *

Hundreds of people write, asking me why they have a burning in their mouths or on their tongues, and what to do for it. Because the person has not given me any idea of what brought on the burning, I cannot help. One thing I do know, after seeing a few hundred people with these burning tongues are in older people, and then I think they are due to what I call "little strokes," and the cause is an injury to a little nerve that comes out of the brain. Sometimes a sore burning tongue comes with a big stroke.

* * *

Conceivably, the trouble might be due to the eating of some particular food to which the person is sensitive. For instance, if I eat even the tiniest amount of chocolate, I get painful sores on my tongue or in my mouth. I have rarely had these sores since I gave up eating chocolate, but occasionally, by accident, I get a little chocolate in my mouth, and then my tongue may get sore.

Of late, I have found some people who have a mild, usually unrecognized epilepsy, will have sore tongues, much as they have burning patches of skin or numb patches.

If I had a burning tongue, my main hope would be with time it would go away. Also, if it made life miserable for me, I would try taking some pain relievers like Percodan.

FLASHBACK ON CANADA

Fire Drove People, Animals Into River

By BOB BOWMAN

People in New Brunswick like to sing and always produce some of the finest choral groups in the country. They are also noted for their folk songs, many of which describe stirring or sad events that have taken place in their communities.

In some cases the music and words have never been written, but have been handed down from generation to generation and sung without accompaniment.

A favorite folk song is about the great Miramichi Fire that swept the famous hunting and fishing area Oct. 7, 1825. In the afternoon the wind had been moderate and shifting, but there was a broad cloud of smoke rising vertically northwest of Newcastle. Suddenly, about 7 p.m., the sky darkened as ashes and cinders began to fall so heavily that people were blinded and could hardly breathe.

One hour later the wind had increased to hurricane force and the whole area seemed to explode into flame. Houses began to burn furiously within three minutes.

The people of Newcastle ran into a marsh about half a mile away and burrowed into the mud and water to get some protection from the heat. All through the Miramichi Valley people took to the river in boats or hung onto logs, and were followed by their cattle.

Then wild animals began to get into the river with them. At one place a bear was seen sheltering with some cattle. The Atlantic salmon were terrified and rushed from pool to pool. Many of them were bruised and killed by the rocks.

The fire spread over 80,000 square miles of forest, and 2,000 people lost their homes and possessions. It was never known how many people died because so many lived in isolated shacks in the woods, but it is believed that the death toll was about 200.

Other Events Oct. 7:

1663 — Jean Baptiste Legardeur de Repentigny was chosen mayor of Quebec.

1691 — William and Mary issued charter to Massachusetts that included Acadia.

1763 — Treaty of Paris went into effect. The island of St. John (now P.E.I. and Cape Breton were annexed to Nova Scotia.

1798 — Refugees from the French Revolution landed at Quebec and went to York (Toronto) where they were given land on Yonge Street.

1812 — Miles Macdonell planted wheat at Red River.

1852 — First railway locomotive in Upper Canada was demonstrated at Toronto.

1863 — Lieutenant-Governor Gordon of New Brunswick threatened to break off diplomatic relations with Canada.

1876 — Northwest Territories were organized with government and capital at Battleford.

1910 — Forest fire and tornado at Rainy River, Ont., killed 42 people.

1913 — Oil was discovered at Okotoks, Alta.

WAR GAMES NON-TOXIC

SUFFIELD, Alta. (CP) — The three-week chemical war games at this testing grounds in southeastern Alberta ended Sunday.

About 1,300 Canadian, United States and British soldiers took part in the games designed to test training agents, equipment, procedures and clothing.

An army spokesman said only tear gas and non-toxic chemical agents were used during the games.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a World Book Atlas.

Andy sends a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Greg Fetty, age 11, of St. Albans, West Virginia, for his question:

What causes the body temperature to rise during sickness?

When the body is attacked by the germs of yellow fever or scarlet fever, its everyday temperature rises several uncomfortable degrees above normal. It also runs high fevers when attacked by measles and a whole lot of other infections. A bad case of sunstroke can bring on a high fever. When body temperature rises eight degrees above normal, certain nerve tissues that control muscle movement may be permanently destroyed, and temperatures higher than this may be fatal. These facts explain why medical researchers are so eager to solve all the secrets involved in the general problem of fevers.

Recently a team of researchers demonstrated what actually happens inside the body to cause an abnormal rise in temperature. Like true scientists, they attacked the problem from at least two sides. They considered the body as a whole and also certain microscopic cells that spring into action during a fever. The body as a whole has a number of automatic mechanisms that keep such vital operations as heart beat and oxygen supply adjusted to balanced levels. The complex system that keep this body temperature at around the normal 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit is another such mechanism. The tendency of the body to maintain itself on an even keel by means of these self-operating devices is called "homeostasis," from words meaning staying the same.

Attacks Germs

The Homeostatic temperature control is triggered by two thermostats in the hypothalamus section of the brain. The body constantly produces heat by consuming fuel, and the thermostatic orders are issued to the skin to get rid of the surplus. When the air around becomes too cold for comfort, reverse orders are issued to hold in the body's heat. During a fever, this comfortable system appears to blunder. The patient's skin becomes flushed, hot and dry and a thermometer records a rise in the body's entire internal as well as external temperature.

The migdets involved in Feverish attacks are white cells called phagocytes floating among swarms of red cells in the blood stream. these little half moons attack and engulf invading germs. Then they give off a special chemical that mingles with the lymph and liquid blood. When it reaches the brain, this chemical triggers the thermostats to signal for heat and still more heat. And for reasons unknown, the skin does not release the surplus as usual. The homeostatic thermostatic system appears to rage out of control, and this causes a fever. Perhaps the adnormal heat helps against the sickness, but at present we cannot say whether or not the body has sensible reasons for allowing a fever to happen.

A fever of course is merely a sypmton of a basic attack against the body's health. But doctors regard it as an important threat to be brought under control. They prescribe dependable drugs such as aspirin and in severe cases they may order cold baths to bring the temperature down to normal.

* * *

Andy sends a World Book Globe to Julie Madsen, age 8 to St. Paul, Minnesota, for her question:

Where do you find a two-toed or three-toed sloth?

The sloth cousins are strictly New World animals but they do not make their homes in North America. The two-toed sloth enjoys his lazy life in certain dense jungles of Central and South America. His favorite countries are Costa Rica and Panama, Colombia and Equador. The three-toed sloth can be found over a somewhat larger territory. He too enjoys life in the treetops of tropical jungles. And he is even lazier than his two-toed cousin. He can be found in the jungles of Honduras, all the way south to Peru where streams run down the slopes of the Andes mountains to join the mighty Amazon River.

In olden times, the sloth was another world for sloppy laziness. It was borrowed from the sloth cousins who are so very slow and lazy in their ways. They are dog-sized animals with sleepy faces. Their feet look like shaggy mittens with long, strong claws. They hang by their four feet, sagging from the boughs. The sloths move so slowly that plants have time to grow in their fur. Their dark, shaggy coats are often tinged with miniature green algae plants.

Basement Recreation Nerve Centre

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Forbes

When I read Mayor Fred Hawes statement that a community centre development will likely be started in Oak Bay next year, I immediately thought of Mrs. M. I. Craig. No one could be more pleased at this announcement.

Right now, as secretary of the Oak Bay Recreation Commission advisory council and director of program planning, Isabel Craig works from a small room in the basement of Municipal Hall.

In this cramped space, with the help of Mrs. Kenneth C. Murphy a part time assistant, she plans, organizes, directs and co-ordinates 25 year-round recreational programs that are scattered at present in various parts of Oak Bay.

Active, energetic and dedicated as these women are, it takes time and careful thought to keep in touch with everything. In their own words "we bounce from one place to another .... it's the only way to describe it."

In a community centre the work could be co-ordinated in one place. It would be much easier to handle efficiently and certainly would attract many more people.

* * *

Recently when I sat with Isabel Craig in her small basement office, an afternoon oils class was meeting for the first time in an adjoining room.

We looked in on the group of 12 women clustered around volunteer instructor Mrs. Elizabeth Middleton, president of the Oak Bay Art Club.

That club was formed some years ago. Now it is helping to start the oils class. Mrs. Craig believes it is through this kind of co-operation that "we keep together and our programs grow".

She is also strong in praise of the co-operation received from schools in the municipality. "We've got programs rolling after school hours in nearly every one."

In Oak Bay Junior High there's badminton every night but Tuesday. Monterey School has a lively bridge club that commenced its third year last week in such numbers it was necessary to put in more tables.

At Willows School family table tennis is in progress with players ranging in age from 11 to 80. "They all have fun."

* * *

There are senior citizen groups for bingo, cards, ceramics and "always a cup of tea."

A "Lore" program too, starting its second year and of which Isabel Craig is very proud. It sees a group of enthusiasts meet once a week to learn more about their surroundings. Field trips are arranged to places like Hancock's research centre, the Nielsen wood carving shop at Goldstream, Spencer Castle and to see navy divers at work. This year an even more ambitious program is planned.

Last summer's program for boys and girls included an experiment in creative drama. Trial run, as Mrs. Craig calls it, was at Henderson playground with all three Oak Bay park groups included. The school board helped by offering school facilities which made it possible to work both in and outdoors.

The project was a success. So much so that now Mrs. Craig hopes to start a winter creative drama program for five to 12-year-olds on Saturday mornings in the municipal hall basement.

Isabel Craig has been active in Oak Bay's recreation program ever since former police chief Hugh Reston (with the blessing of council) started a senior citizens' group in Girl Guide Hall, 11 years ago.

* * *

"We branched out in a very modest way at first and with a small budget of $600," she reminisces. "Then, as the need grew and programs expanded the recreation commission advisory council was formed. Today we work on a budget of around $20,000."

'Total' Projects Now Key To School Building Policy

Trustees Cool To New Plan

By DON VIPOND
Times Staff Reporter

VANCOUVER—Education Minister Don Brothers today gave a green light to new school construction—where new schools are a top priority need.

But in easing the freeze he also warned that while complete school projects will be approved, some additions will not.

See Story Page 18

Laboratories, libraries, service and administravtive space are in under the new government policy — but Mr. Brothers said, gymnasiums and activity rooms for new schools cannot be approved at this time.

The minister caused unhappy muttering among B.C. school trustees as he made the announcement at their annual convention here.

In his first major address since being made education minister in May, he told the 850 trustees that "total" school projects will now be processed by his department — a switch from the government's "essential classrooms only" policy of the past two years.

"With this announcement I am hopeful a number of projects that have been held up may proceed forthwith," he said.

"At the same time, I cannot stress too strongly that the government will share only in functional schools which, by design and specification, reflect a sincere and conscientious effort to get the best value for the dollar and which will incorporate some of the cost-saving principles enunciated earlier."

The new education minister's speech comes at a time when B.C.'s 83 school districts have about $24 million in school construction waiting education department approvals. Some of it has been pending for almost two years.

School boards have withheld submitting plans for another 200 classrooms.

Initial reaction to the minister's speech was cool. Some trustees suspect nothing had changed—because the issue all along has been "what's essential?" and "what's functional?"

On these questions the education department and school boards have been frequently at odds.

30 PER CENT OF BUDGET

The heart of the problem is money for education and Mr. Brothers pointed out today that almost 30 per cent of the provincial budget is being poured into the field.

Education is eating up funds at the rate of $750,00 a day, he said. Budgets have soared from $26 million in 1962 to $90 million last year.

So far this year, $30 million has been spent in the field.

The education minister said that in his dealings with teachers and students as well as trustees he has found "everybody seems to have a different opinion about which way we are going in education."

He said he has never made political promises but followed this by promising "action" in his new post.

"I am in the process of listening myself," he said in referring to his brief time in the portfolio. "I ask you not to judge me now but to judge my actions in to the next year."

He said he intended visiting each of the province's school boards and discussing their problems with them.

He skipped briefly through an 11-page prepared text, touching on only a few points in it, then wetn on to give his "impressions" since his appointment as education minister.

One is that the government's new formula for calculating school board operating grants "was working out very well indeed."

That brought another rumble from the convention floor. The complex formula has been under five since it was announced last spring.

Mr. Brothers mentioned educational television as an area getting close study from his department. A provincial audio-visual resource centre will be formed (the did not detail its structure) and he is considering establishing an educational television advisory committee to gether the best advice available in the field.

At a press conference later, he confirmed that the government is expanding its formula for approving school construction but would not produce specific figures on how much.

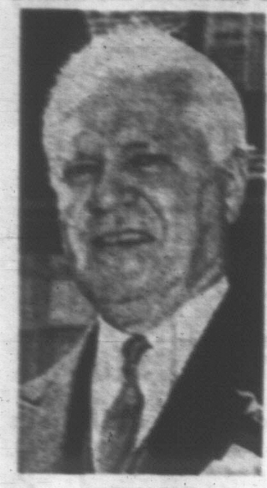
Each project submitted by school boards to his department for approval will be considered on its merits.

Of the continuing ban on gymnasiums, he said he personally would like to see them go up but at $200,000 to $250,000 each they represented money for many badly-needed classrooms.

Bennett Scores Nicholson For Policy Talk

By JOHN MIKA

A serious clash over constitutional proprietry appeared to be shaping up today between Premier Bennett and Lieutenant-Governor John Nicholson.



NICHOLSON
. . . offers advice

Premier Bennett, displaying obvious anger, this morning accused the province's new vice-regal representative of over-stepping the boundaries of his role during a speech Sunday in Vancouver.

Mr. Nicholson, however, told the Times that he did nothing wrong and did not expect any furore over his speech.

At issue were his remarks during opening ceremonies of the B.C. School Trustees' Association annual convention in Vancouver when he preceded Education Minister Donald Brothers among dignitaries extending welcomes.

Mr. Nicholson told the audience he agreed with a number of resolutions being presented to the convention and specifically singled out two which he said should be sympathetically received by Mr. Brothers and the cabinet.

He said a resolution that penalty clauses and incentive bonuses in school board construction contracts should be allowed by the government—in a change of policy—as a "very practical" help in view of serious classroom shortages in B.C.

The cabinet should consider carefully this method of speeding up school construction because "we needed them yesterday," he said.

"Time limits and penalties for school construction should be carefully considered," he added.

CLOSE ATTENTION

Mr. Nicholson also said the government should give close attention to another resolution which would extend to boarders at private schools the present boarding allowances permitted to out-of-town students attending public elementary and secondary schools in some cases.

Mr. Brothers, who followed Mr. Nicholson in the speech line-up, assured the convention that the Lieutenant-Governor's remakrs would be studied by the government along with the resolutions.

But Premier Bennett, in Victoria this morning, indicated the government will spend more time studying Mr. Nicholson's right to make such remarks.

Asked for comment, he snapped to a reporter—before slamming down the phone:

ALL KINDNESS

"That's a matter that doesn't come under the jurisdiction of the Lieutenant-Governor, and I say that will all kindness. Goodbye."

Mr. Nicholson, reached by phone in Nanaimo where he was to address the 10th annual meeting of the Canadian Port and Harbor Association, indicated surprise at the premier's reaction.

"I'm sure I said nothing wrong," the Lieutenant-Governor said.

"What I was doing was just commenting on the (school) trustees' own program—they had a printed program of their resolutions.

"I commented on the fact they were showing an interest in a number of things not just economic aspects.

"I'm perfectly sure that if the premier had been there he would have appreciated the comments.

"Certainly the Minister of Education was there and he thanked me for my comments and said he appreciated them."

Czechs Fear End To Reform

PRAGUE (AP — Czechoslovaks feared today that the Dubcek regime's program to liberalize and reform communism is nearing an end.

Ruling bodies of the Czechoslovak Communist party planned a series of meetings to discuss the commitments forced by the Soviet Union at talks in Moscow Thursday and Friday with Party Chief Alexander Dubcek and Premier Oldrich Cernik.

Communists said the alternatives were:

—To continue the policy of seeking accommodation with Moscow, agree to semi-permanent stationing of occupation troops in Czechoslovakia, and salvage as much as possible of the "post-January" program to make communism more humane and democratic.

—To balk and give the Soviets the same choice they had after invading the country Aug. 20-21, that is, formation of a military government to rule Czechoslovakia.

An authoritative party source discounted as "nothing but rumors" reports in the West that Dubcek has offered or threatened to resign.

FUMES KILL 16 BELGIANS

BRUSSELS (AP) — Because of the weather, 16 Belgians died in their homes during the weekend from carbon monoxide poisoning, authorities said today.

Mild, wet weather produced a layer of warm atmosphere which prevented fumes from household coal fires and stoves escaping efficiently through chimneys, officials said. The odorless fumes seeped through the victims' homes and overcame them.

MPs Describe Biafra Genocide In Rebuttal to Inspection Team

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — Two members of the Canadian Parliament Sunday painted a picture of genocide and starvation in Biafra in a sharp rebuttal of a report by a military inspection team that found neither.

David MacDonald, Conservative MP for Egmont, said he was "shocked" at the conclusions of the team of British, Canadian and Swedish observers.

He and Andrew Brewin, NDP MP for Toronto Greenwood, spent 1½ days last week in Biafra, under siege by federal Nigerian troops. In a homecoming news conference, they attacked the team's conclusions and called for strong Canadian initiatives to end starvation in the breakaway region and end the civil war.

Mr. MacDonald said the military team did not get close to the real action. There were real elements of genocide—the destruction of a people—in Biafra.

The MP, a United Church minister, said federal troops were "senselessly destroying" as they moved through Biafran villages.

Mr. Brewin said the military team was conducted on a tour arranged by the federal Nigerian authorities. He and Mr. MacDonald had gone into the Biafran camp and talked to priests and others who had spent most of their lives in the region.

SAY SOURCES UNANIMOUS

There was "a tremendous degree of unanimity" on the part of their sources about the destruction and the starvation. The observer team could not have received any such insight.

Both men called for a Canadian initiative at the United Nations to produce a cease-fire and a massive international aid program for Biafrans with Canada again taking the lead.

Adequate relief could not await a victory by federal forces. The Biafrans intend to fight to the end believing that the Ibo tribe in Biafra would be destroyed by the victors.

Mr. MacDonald said he and Mr. Brewin flew into Biafra on a Tuesday night flight from the Portuguese island of Sao Tome off the Nigerian coast.

The island is one of two—the other is Fernando Po—which serve as jumping off points for the nightly airlift that carries food supplies into a

Canada To Help?

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau is reported interested in federal financing of privately-chartered planes to carry food aid to starving Biafrans.

Mr. Trudeau suggested the idea in a 45-minute conversation today with two members of Parliament, according to one of them, Andrew Brewin, NDP member for Toronto Greenwood.

The prime minister suggested the federal government might be ready with money to help if a relief organizaton chartered Hercules transports to help in the Biafran aid airlift, Mr. Brewin told reporters after the meeting.

According to Mr. Brewin, the prime minister noted that privately-owned Hercules planes are available from such firms as Wardair in Canada.

TIGERS WIN 5-3

DETROIT (UPI) — Mickey Lolich scattered nine hits and veteran Al Kaline drove in the winning run with a seventh-inning bases-loaded single today to give the Detroit Tigers another chance in the World Series on a 5-3 triumph over the National League champion St. Louis Cardinals.

The result sent the series back to St. Louis for a sixth game Wednesday with the Cardinals leading three games to two and needing one more victory to clinch their second straight series championship.

Lolich, clubbed for a two-run homer by Orlando Cepeda in the first inning, settled down and held the Cardinals scoreless for the last eight frames, allowing only five hits over that stretch.

But it wasn't until the seventh that the Tigers, who won 40 games in the seventh or later during the American League season, could put him in front.

Then Lolich started the rally with a single off Cardinal starter Nelson Briles. The blow finished Briles and left hander Joe Hoerner relieved, giving up a single to Dick McAuliffe before walking Mickey Stanley intentially to fill the bases.

That brought up Kaline, and he swung viciously and missed the first pitch. On the next, though, he lined a single into centre to score both Lolich and McAuliffe and put Stanley on third.

Norm Cash followed with a single to drive in Stanley and ice the decision, Detroit's second victory against three for St. Louis.

Drive Reaches Quarter Mark

The United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal should reach the halfway mark by October 25 an Appeal spokesman said today.

"This morning we have 24.6 per cent of the objective and by tonight we should be just over the quarter mark," he said. "This is within a day or two of the date we reached the quarter mark last year."

Basing his predictions on the pattern established in the past five years, he said the halfway mark should be reached on October 25 and the three-quarter mark on November 6. But due to the $55,000 increase over last year's goal, the date the objective will be reached is not readily predictable.

All divisions of the campaign are now in operation with the exception of the residential division which begins its door-to door canvass October 15.

The residential division, under the direction of Mrs. Bonner Aust, is expected to collect $125,000, or about 20 per cent of the $655,000 goal.

PRISONERS OVERPOWER GUARD

BURNABY (CP) — Four Oakalla prisoners overpowered a guard, took a shotgun from him at knife-point and stole a truck in a bid for freedom today.

Two of the escapees were later recaptured in nearby Delta, and the shotgun was recovered by police.

The search for the other two was centred in the Burnaby area.

Minutes after their break the prisoners, three of whom are already serving terms for escaping custody, threatened a home-owner with the gun in an attempt to secure transportation but had the door of the house slammed in their faces.

They later stole a parked truck and began driving toward Vancouver.

Police identified the escapees as Joseph A. Hagerty, 21, Henry Fontaine, 18, Charles D. Russell, 19, and Francis Robert, 18. They did not say which two were recaptured.

McGeer Puts B.C. Grits 'On Election Footing'

PENTICTON (CP) — Buoyed by a victory Saturday in the race for the British Columbia Liberal leadership, Dr. Patrick Lucey McGeer says he's putting his grits on an election footing immediately.

"My first task as leader of the party will be to prepare for the next provincial election," the 41-year-old neurochemist told a news conference a few minutes after his victory was announced.

"We're ready for spring, or fall, or next week," he said. "We're through wandering in the political wilderness."

The Liberals have only six seats in the 55-seat house, dominated since 1952 by Premier W. A. C. Bennett's Social Credit party. Social Credit now has 32 seats and the Opposition NDP 17.

Dr. McGeer defeated his running mate in the Vancouver Point Grey riding, lawyer Garde Gardom, for the Liberal leadership.

A party spokesman said later the vote by more than 1,000 delegates to the two-day convention here was 686 to 316 for Dr. McGeer.

First elected to the legislature in 1962, Dr. McGeer succeeds Ray Perrault, who led the party for nine years. Mr. Perrault left the provincial scene when he defeated NDP National Leader T. C. Douglas, June 25 in Burnaby-Seymour federal riding.

Mr. Gardom, 44, earned his political spurs in the 1966 provincial election when he defeated former Social Credit Attorney-General Robert Bonner to share the Vancouver Point Grey riding with Dr. McGeer.

The new leader said he plans to take a leave of absence from the University of B.C., where he is an associate professor in the faculty of medicine and head of the Kinsmen Neurological Research Laboratory.

Dr. McGeer, one of the nation's top neurochemists, said he expects the Liberals will make "substantial gains" in the next provincial vote from disaffected Social Crediters and New Democrats.

"The election campaign starts tomorrow as far as I'm concerned," he said. "Our mem-

Brink Named President

PENTICTON (CP) — Russell Brink, 32-year-old Vancouver businessman, Saturday won the presidency of the British Columbia Liberal party on the second ballot in a hotly-contested three-way fight.

Mr. Brink, who owns a warehouse company, topped the polls on the first ballot with 344 votes. Lawyer Bryan Williams, 36, was second with 328 and Paul Plant, 40-year-old lumber company executive, finished third with 296.

Mr. Brink succeeds Lawrence Jolivet, 48, who left the post after four years service.

NDP Asks Douglas to Stay As Party Chief Until 1971

OTTAWA (CP) — Apparently reluctantly, T. C. Douglas has bowed to party pressure to review his decision to step down as NDP leader next year. He said Sunday he will reconsider.

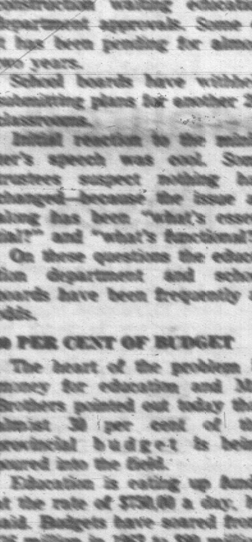
The 64-year-old politician told a news conference during a meeting of the party's ruling federal council that he thinks—as he did before—that it is better he step down early rather than late.

"I think there comes a time when the party needs younger men," the slight and sprightly leader said. "And if the time comes, you do it quickly, rather than drag it out."

However, out of courtesy to all those within the party who asked him to remain as leader until 1971, he would reconsider his position.

CHOOSE WINNIPEG

The requests to stay on, including pressure from the federal council, amounted to something close to a draft, Mr. Douglas said. His final decision will be made known within a matter of weeks.



DOUGLAS
. . . draft from party

In a surprise move, the council picked Winnipeg as the site of the party's next biennial convention over Ottawa, which was thought to be favored.

The convention, to be held in late October or early November of next year, was supposed to have been an expanded affair to permit the selection of a successor to Mr. Douglas.

It may still be, even if Mr. Douglas decides to give in to pressure and run. Mr. Douglas made it clear that if he runs, that does not preclude others running.

Each biennial convention is technically a leadership convention, although nobody has contested Mr. Douglas's leadership since he became the first leader of the newly-founded party in 1961.

Mr. Douglas said he personally favors the idea of picking a new man next year to permit

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today generally was dull. Oilseed prices, fractionally lower at the opening, rallied toward the mid-session and steadied toward the close.

Flax was on a moderate local and commission house trade while rapeseed met with fair exporter absorption of light hedge offers.

There was moderate domestic shipper trade in oats and barley.

Sale of 150,000 bushels of rapeseed and 20,000 of rye to Japan was confirmed on the weekend.

Firday's volume: Flax 971,000 bushels; rapeseed 274,000; rye 759,000.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures were mostly higher on the Board of Trade today.

Trade was fairly active and mixed. Active buying on the opening by some commercial firms produced an advance of more than 2 in the nearby soybeans contracts.

The scattered rain that tended to influence soybeans buying had some effect on corn futures. But late in the session some profit taking eased the corn advance.

Near the close new buying of the deferred corn futures strengthened the price structure.

Wheat futures traded within a one-cent range through most of the session.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Golds Bright Spot

Golds were higher in moderate trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today while New York traced a mixed pattern in late trading.

AT TORONTO the gold index rose as London gold dealers stepped up the price of bullion on the world's free gold market.

Kerr Addison rose ⅛ to 19¼, Patino ⅛ to 36⅛, Dome 2½ to 68½ and Campbell Red Lake 2 to 32½.

Among industrials CPR climbed ¾ to 69¼, Southam ½ to 34, Bank of Nova Scotia gained ⅜ to 21⅜ and St. Maurice Gas 10 cents to $2.55 the later on trade of 102,000 shares.

Federal grain dropped ⅜ to 9 and Overland Express ⅜ to 26¼ after the company announced it intends to split it shares four-for-one.

White Pass and Yukon jumped 1⅝ to 43⅝. The company said it planned to split its shares two-for-one and issue 500,000 preferred shares.

In western oils Home A dropped 1⅛ to 27⅞, and Canadian Superior ½ to 57. Canadian Gridoil rose 1 to 13⅜ and Charter reached a year's high of 18⅛, up 1.

Among base metals Noranda rose 1⅞ to a year's high of 58, and Inco ⅜ to 44. Rio Algom fell ⅛ to 34.

AT NEW YORK steels generally were lower and rails eased from recent strength.

Some analysts thought a market correction was in order after a three-week rally.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Among Canadians, Canadian Pacific was up 1⅛, Dome 2 and Inco ⅜, Alcan, Distillers and Hudson Bay were off ⅛.

AT MONTREAL senior mines, industrials and banks led the market upward in moderately active early afternoon trading.

Noranda climbed 2 to 58⅛, Cygnus B 1⅛ to 8, Maclean-Hunter 1⅛ to 15⅛ and Financial Collection 1⅛ to 22⅛. Velcro, Simpsons and Corby A added 1 each to 50, 38½ and 35 respectively.

Bank of Nova Scotia gained 1 to 22, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅜ to 18⅝ and Banque Canadienne Nationale ⅜ to 12⅜.

National Trust dropped 3⅛ to 21½ and Dension 1 to 76.

Dominion Explorers picked up 5 cents to 63 cents on 74,300 shares in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT LONDON the market advanced this morning then turned mixed at mid-session as buyers became more selective.

Government stocks showed losses of 1/16 or ⅛. Dollar stocks encountered small selling.

Trans-Canadian Pipe and Noranda shed 3 points among Canadians Trinidad-Canadian, Hudson's Bay, Hiram Walker and Cominco all lost between 1½ and 2. Inco, Dome and Imperial Oil moved against the trend with gains of $2 or $3.

Canadian banks fell with Toronto Dominion down 4 shillings four pence. Canadian Imperial and Nova Scotia both eased 2 shillings. Oils came back sharply after a firm opening.

AT VANCOUVER the mining section was strong in pre-noon trading. Dynasty, at $9.30, and Northlode at $2.50, led the way with 20-cent gains.

Atlas was up .20 at $2.90 and similar gains were posted by Lytton, at $2.70, and New Cinch, at .90.

Coast Silver, however, fell back, losing .25 to $2.85 on 30,000 shares.

White Pass and Yukon was strong in the industrials and rose $2.37 to reach $43.37. Losses went to SDP, down $1.50 to $25, and Cunningham, off $1.37 at $25.12.

Pension Controls For Executives

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal revenue department is tightening its control of executive pension plans, particulary those designed to benefit executives who are also shareholders.

New rules covering pension plans sent out to employers last week state that a plan "primarily for the benefit of shareholders and members of their families" will not be accepted.

A covering letter signed by E. A. Chater, director of the department's review and registrations division, says plays already registered that do not comply with the new rules need not be changed unless a specific request is made by the department.

But it adds:

"It is expected that such plans will be brought into line with these rules as and when amendments are required for other reasons."

Mr. Chater said in an interview Sunday that the directives are not aimed at executive pensions as such but against those where there are special benefits because the executive is also a shareholder.

In some of these cases, Mr. Chater said, the executive pensions have provided a loophole for tax evasion.

Time Appoints Youthful Manager

NEW YORK (AP) — Kelso Sutton, a 29-year-old Harvard graduate, was named general manager of Time Magazine Sunday.

Sutton, named by Time publisher James R. Shepley, has been business manager. He succeeds James A. Thompson, who retired last month.

John Keller, also 29, was named to replace Sutton. He was assistant business manager.

Bulls Are Charging To 1,000-Point Mark

By ROBERT M. KALB

NEW YORK (AP)—Why is the stock market going up?

Brokers say that for one thing, many anticipated fears have not been realized. For another, American business in an ever-expanding economy has just been too good to be ignored.

Investors seem to see only better things ahead.

Back in August the star of the bears was in the ascendancy. People were talking about the new United States income tax surcharge throwing a nose hold on business, tighter credit, international economic imbalance, and a host of horrid thoughts for the investor.

In Wall Street parlance, bears are pessimists who believe stock-market volume will shrivel and sink away and that prices will collapse and go lower.

Bulls are optimists who believe trading volume will expand and swell and prices will go higher and better.

KNOW MARKET

Both bulls and bears consider themselves sharp traders who know where the market is headed, and no emotion about it.

By mid-September the star of the bulls arose to challenge bearish concepts.

The impact of the surcharge might show up later, but it certainly was not hurting business at the moment. Official spokesmen say prospects of any international money crisis appear dim.

Manufacturers are raising prices, and inflationary implications are sprouting all over. Banks have eased their prime rates to lend more money.

A rash of merger fever has fallen upon the conglomerates. A hotel chain sought a cigarette maker. Diversified groups wooed a banana shipper. Insurance companies and banks fought to own each other.

A presidential election is coming up, but both candidates, Republican Richard M. Nixon and Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, are committed to driving the economy onward—a fact that scarcely could be discouraging to investors.

RE-ENTERED MARKET

The bears who had pulled out in August had a lot of cash on hand going nowhere. Little by little they eased it back into the market and became less bearish than bullish.

The big mutual funds with huge reserves on the sidelines began buying back into the action. As more and more money entered the market, it became more bullish than bearish.

All of which tended to confuse seasoned Wall Street observers, who thought the market at least would stand still for a moment for what are called technical corrections.

Instead, prices continued to rise and brought more money in with them. Big blocks crossed the tape as institutions and big-fund buyers and sellers rearranged their portfolios for the Sept. 30 reporting date to shareholders on the quarter's progress.

The major market indicators by which Wall Street takes its own temperature continued to reach for new peaks.

The widely-watched Dow Jones industrial average on Feb. 9, 1966, attained its historic closing high of 995.15. At the bottom of the bear market which set in that year, it closed at 744.32 on Oct. 7, 1966. Followed by nearly a year's rally, it climbed to its next highest mark at 943.08 Sept. 25, 1967.

Friday the DJ rose to 952.95, a climb of 3½ points, and some Wall Street observers are even talking of the Dow reaching 1,000 this year.

New Saanich arena will have ice in about two weeks.

Blades to Flash At New Arena In Two Weeks

ADDRESSING invited guests at the official opening of the George R. Pearkes Arena in Saanich is Mayor Hugh Curtis.

The new Saanich arena was officially opened Sunday before many invited guests.

Officiating at the opening was former lieutenant-governor George Pearkes, after whom the arena off Tillicum Road is named.

Costing just over $500,000, the arena has seating for 528 persons and an ice surface measuring 185 by 85 feet.

It is expected to be open for regular activity in about two weeks, after ice has been laid.

FIRST OF FOUR

The arena is the first of four indoor recreational facilities to be built since ratepayers approved a total expenditure of $1.25 million in March, 1967.

Dedication of the arena was by Rev. Brian Cowan of St. Martin-in-the-Fields Church.

Const. Norman Christman, president of the Saanich Policemen's Union, presented a portrait of the Queen and George Garside, president of the Saanich Municipal Employees Association, presented a commemorative plaque.

After the opening ceremonies, hundreds of Saanich residents toured the arena during "open house."

Music was provided by the Mount View senior secondary school band under the direction of Howard Denike.

Passersby Drag Man From Fire

Kitchen Blaze On Shelbourne

Two young men are credited with saving the life of an elderly man burned in a fire in his home Sunday morning.

Edward Hamer, 88, of 3904 Shelbourne, is listed in good condition in the Royal Jubilee Hospital. He suffered burns to his hands and face.

Police said the fire broke out about 8:30 a.m. while Mr. Hamer was attempting to light an oil range in his kitchen. He lived alone. A neighbor called Saanich fire department.

Police said Vincent Quan, 832 Princess, and Joseph Thompson, 682 Alpha, both 25, dragged Mr. Hamer from the floor of his home. They were passing by the house when the fire broke out.

Flames were shooting out the back door when fire trucks arrived but the blaze was extinguished quickly.

Damage estimated at less than $1,000 was confined to the kitchen, hallway and back porch of the two-bedroom house.

Oak Bay Man Elected By 'Servants'

Norman Richards, 2872 Larkdowne Road, was elected president of the B.C. Government Employees' Association Saturday at its annual convention in Vancouver.

The 47-year-old member of the provincial government's own postal branch here has been an active member of the BCGEA since he joined the civil service 17 years ago.

He served for the last six years on the provincial executive, including the last two as first vic-president.

Gordon Boyd of Vancouver was named vice-president and Nancy Person of Vancouver secretary.

Elected to the 13-man executive board as representatives of various areas were:

WEEK DELAY IN ARRIVAL OF BARQUE

Faithful Victoria boat-watchers, disappointed when the square-rigged barque Monte Cristo failed to appear in the Inner Harbor Saturday, are assured by the ship's owners she is coming—likely next Saturday.

A spokesman for Capt. Alexander Brigola said unexpected difficulties prevented departure from Vancouver.

The captain of the 134-foot ship is reported making arrangements with the recreation and conservation department for a reception when the ship arrives in the capital.

'Don't Clutter Vote' On Hospital Program

By JIM HUME

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark today asked hospital authorities not to clutter the Oct. 26 hospital referendum vote with arguments on location.

Less than three weeks from now property owners from Sooke to the Gulf Islands will be asked to approve a $9.3 million referendum to clear the way for building 600 extended care beds to relieve acute care bed pressure in existing hospitals.

"The location of those beds can be determined later," the health minister said. "It would be most undesirable to clutter up the main issue now by introducing the planning debate which can take place later.

"What the regional hospital district needs is authoriation to expend the funds asked. It can then proceed with its planning in conjunction with the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service."

FIRST STEP

Mr. Loffmark said the Oct. 26 vote is the first step towards solving serious hospital bed shortages.

"I would say two things," he said. "One, it was important that the vote be called as soon as possible. Two, I hope the people look on it with favor."

Mr. Loffmark's appeal means that proposals on the various sites on which to build the new extended care beds will be left in abeyance until after the vote.

Early proposals recommended 200 new extended care beds to replace Mount St. Mary; 200 new beds at St. Mary's Priory, Colwood; 150 new extended care beds at Gorge Road Hospital and 20 extended care beds for Lady Minto Hospital, Ganges, leaving 30 beds to be planned later.

FOUR PARTS

A later proposal suggested that the extended care program be divided into four sections with Mount St. Mary, St. Mary's Priory and the Gorge getting 130 beds each and a 150-bed hospital being built to replace Rest Haven.

Rest Haven authorities have already taken an option on a 42.9 acre site in Central Saanich overlooking Saanichton Bay. They will hold the option until a final decision is made on the disposition of the beds.

If accepted the new Rest Haven hospital would be built under the extended care program, but with 50 of the beds upgraded to meet acute care standards, thus giving the north end of the peninsula the hospital it feels essential to the well-being of Central Saanich, North Saanich and Sidney residents.

Estimated cost of the Rest Haven recommendations has been set at $2.7 million.

"But," says Mr. Loffmark, "this is the sort of thing that can be worked out later."

EARLIER START ORGANIZED TO HANDLE CAR TEST RUSH

The province's motor-vehicle testing station in Victoria now opens 1½ hours earlier to cope with the pressure of customers.

More staff will be hired to handle the 8:30 a.m. opening at the station on McKenzie near Quadra, a weekend announcement said.

Of 28,078 cars that have gone through the test in three months since the station opened, only 16,220—less than two-thirds—were approved first time around.

The station will continue to close at 8 p.m.

'MAN NEEDS HIS PRIVACY'

Privacy is one of the major needs of man, a Saskatoon psychiatrist told the annual convention of the Community Planning Association of Canada this morning.

But privacy must be voluntary or it loses its main effect, said Dr. Abraham Hoffer.

"Involuntary privacy may be just as dehumanizing as involuntary lack of privacy and people will go to any extreme to overcome it," he said.

"I think the best examples are the private cells or black holes of some of our prisons."

If privacy is not guaranteed, social groups break down because without rules to the contrary people tend to intrude on other's privacy, he said.

"This is why we have peeping Toms, electronic snoopers and so on.

"Institutional intrusion into our privacy is called surveillance and may take any form including psychological tests by industry of applicants."

Privacy can be attained by careful design of space.

Visual privacy can be produced by walls and opaque barriers, in public waiting places by seating arrangement and visual barriers. Sound barriers and baffles and sound-absorbing materials on floors and walls achieve this in buildings.

Discussing the consequences of insufficient privacy, he said rats undergo profound changes in overcrowded conditions. Law and order breaks down, predator rats develop and there is a great increase in morbidity and mortality.

Riots perhaps have their roots in the need for privacy, he said, pointing out that black people and other minority groups have not been given access to the same privacy as have the majority groups.

Desirable human values will be possible only when the design of communities and institutions take into account human privacy.

The planning convention continues until Wednesday at the Empress Hotel and the McPherson Playhouse.

Young Mother Killed In Two-Car Collision

Investigation Of Shop Holdup 'Draws Blanks'

'Get Down On Knees' Owner's Father Told

Victoria police have so far "drawn blanks" in their investigation of the weekend armed holdup of a small grocery store at 1871 Oak Bay Avenue, a spokesman said.

About 8 p.m. Saturday a man walked into John's Grocery, levelled a pistol at Harry Woo, the 60-year-old father of the store's owner, and ordered him to "give me your money."

He took $100 in small bills and change from the till and ran out into the night.

Owner Kenneth Woo later told police the man had been in the store some minutes before the incident. He walked over to a shelf near the cash register, appeared to reach for some rice on the shelf then turned with the pistol in his hand.

"GET ON KNEES"

Mr. Woo was told to "get down on your knees," his son said.

From the older man's description, police believe the pistol was probably a pellet or B-B gun.

Police say Mr. Woo could give only a sketchy description of the robber: "Unfortunately he was more interested in looking at the barrel of the gun."

None of the money taken was marked and no serial numbers were listed.

Mr. Woo was shown mug shots of several known offenders and police say they have a good impression of what the robber should look like and "clues to a few local boys."

"But we've drawn blanks so far."

The man is believed to be about 30 years old, 5 feet 10, with black hair and no accent. He was neatly dressed, wearing a black jacket.

Kenneth Woo was out at the time of the incident, but his wife and four children live in the back of the store and he said his wife came into the shop just as the robber was departing.

She phoned her husband who notified police. Within minutes Victoria and Oak Bay police had the area sealed off and were questioning possible witnesses.

Mr. Woo, who said the loss was covered by insurance, has owned the store for 21 months.

GRADUATING with bachelor of science degree Friday from Royal Military College in Kingston, Ont., was officer cadet William Deacon, 22, of Victoria. Former graduate of Royal Roads College at Colwood, caden Deacon was section commander during senior years, active in college athletics. Parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Deacon, live at 5083 Wesley Road.

Russ Ship Refuels, Heads Out

The destroyer-escort St. Croix returned to Esquimalt Sunday following the departure of the Russian naval vessel Gavril Saritshev.

The St. Croix had been shadowing the Russian since she appeared Friday off the south end of Vancouver Island.

The Gavril Saritshev—an oceanographic research ship—is not a newcomer to Canadian waters. She was followed in a similar incident last December.

When last spotted early Sunday, she was 60 miles off the north end of Vancouver Island and heading out.

A naval spokesman said the Gavril Saritshev travelled steadily northward about 40 miles off the coast since first sighted. She refueled from a larger Russian ship Friday night about 25 miles off Triangle Island in the Queen Charlotte Sound.

Court Martial To Open at 10

The court martial of Commander N. S. Jackson will open in the Wardroom, CFB Esquimalt, at 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Members of the public must be seated by 9:45.

Commander Jackson was in command of the destroyer-escort Saskatchewan when she struck a submerged rock in Active Pass Sept. 8.

Husband Receives Serious Injuries

By DERYK THOMPSON

A two-car crash early Sunday claimed the life of a young Victoria mother, the 18th person to die this year in traffic mishaps in Greater Victoria.

Killed at Rockland and Linden was Mrs. Dorothy Schofield, 23, of 404 Superior.

Five other persons were taken to Victoria hospitals following the 3:07 a.m. crash. One was seriously injured.

MRS. DOROTHY SCHOFIELD
. . . third in city

In fair condition in the intensive care unit of St. Joseph's Hospital is Robert Schofield, 26, husband of the dead woman.

He suffered chest injuries and was earlier listed in critical condition.

Krista, the two-year-old daughter of the Schofields was admitted to hospital but discharge after observation.

In "good condition in Royal Jubilee Hospital are Christopher Albertson, 19, of 1190 May, with chest and head injuries and Patricia Pelan, 13, of 1128 Craigflower with head injuries and face cuts.

Ronald Olding, 20, of 225 Kingston, brother of the dead woman, was discharged from hospital after treatment.

Police said Mr. Schofield was travelling west on Rockland in a car containing his family and Mr. Olding.

The other car, driven by Mr. Albertson, was northbound on Linden. The collision was in the intersection, which is controlled by stop signs on Lidnen.

The Schofield car veered north on to Linden, police said, hitting a telephone pole on the west boulevard 41 feet north of Rockland. The car then hit a parked car on the west side of Linden which was pushed into another parked car.

Mrs. Schofield was the third person to die in traffic accidents in Victoria city this year.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said he had ordered an autopsy at St. Joseph's Hospital. He said an inquest will be held, probably starting on Wednesday.

RECEPTION

Funeral service will be held at Haywards Funeral Chapel, 734 Broughton. Time and details have not yet been arranged.

The Schofields were returning home from a wedding reception at the time of the accident.

Mrs. Schofield is also survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Olding, 225 Kingston, and a sister Barbara, four and a half years old.

The Schofield's had been married about four years and had only one child. Mr. Schofield is in the navy.

Nanaimo Man Injured On Malahat

Three accidents occurred on the Malahat Highway near "Suicide Corner" over the weekend.

One man was injured and a woman's car nearly tumbled over a cliff after knocking down 120 feet of guard rail.

Don Bray of Nanaimo is in "fair" condition in St. Joseph's Hospital with head injuries after the car in which he was a passenger went out of control and rolled into a ditch Saturday evening.

Colwood RCMP said the car, driven by Raymond Thorpe of Nanoose Bay, was southbound and attempting to pass a car.

SAME CORNER

While police were attending the accident a car driven by Robert Peace of Lake Cowichan was in collision with another vehicle driven by John Oddson of Nanaimo at the same corner. No one was injured and damage was light.

At 1:30 a.m. Sunday police said a car driven northbound by Edith Leeming, 5053 Jenner, struck the guard rail, breaking the posts for a distance of about 120 feet before rolling over. It did not go over.

The driver, alone at the time, was not reported injured. Damage to the car is estimated at $1,300 and $500 to the guard rail.

Suicide corner, just north of Goldstream, has been the scene of many fatal accidents.

Ask The Times

Q. Can you tell me something about the Baha'i faith?—P.N.

A. The Baha'i faith regards the founders of the major religions—Abraham, Jesus, Buddha, Muhammed, Zoroaster, Krishna and Baha'u'llah (Baha'i founder)—as messengers of one God. Its purpose is to promote the unity of mankind. The faith originated in Persia in 1844, and is based entirely on the writings of Baha'u'llah. Presently the Baha'i World Community is established in 303 countries and territories. The ultimate authority is the Universal House of Justice, an elected body with its seat in Haifa, Israel.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the question along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Burnaby Queen Undergoing Annual Refit

The B.C. ferry Queen of Burnaby arrived at Esquimalt graving dock today for her annual refit.

Work on the vessel is being done by Yarrows Ltd.

About 50 men are employed in the four-day cleaning, painting and minor repair job.

Earlier the Queen of Esquimalt was refitted and the Queen of Tsawwassen is next in line.

Oct. 14 Deadline for Briefs To Sewage Disposal Conference

Deadline for briefs to be submitted to a one-day seminar on swage disposal methods is Oct. 14 not Oct. 7 as stated in a recent advertisement.

Regional District executive secretary William Long said today a recently published advertisement on the seminar should have stated that briefs must be submitted between Oct. 7 and Oct. 14.

"Unfortunately the latter date got lost in transmission," he said. "A new advertisement will be run correcting the error. The final date for submission was set at Oct. 14 sometime ago and remains the deadline."

In the meantime the Times has learned the $10,000 one-day study wavered close to complete cancellation last week.

Called to ascertain once and for all which method of disposal was best—deep sea outfalls, composting or treatment plants—the findings of the seminar will be academic in the light of Health Minister Ralph Loffmark's recent pronouncements.

Mr. Loffmark has stated that all new swage collection systems have a minimum of primary treatment before ultimate disposal.

He has indicated his department will permit existing outfalls to operate under nonconforming legislation providing no additional flow of sewage is introduced into the main trunks.

This is construed to mean Victoria can continue with its plans to extend the Clover Point outfall, but leaves in some doubt the future plans for Macaulay Point outfall which serves populated areas at present but which will also be sought in the near future as a sewage disposal outlet for areas yet to be built up.

Several members of the regional district board felt the minister's statement was positive enough to call for cancellation of the plans for a full day debate on an issue already solved.

They called for abandonment of the plan and the saving of $10,000.

Other board members felt public interest is so high the $6,000 to $10,000 expenditure to bring international experts on sewage disposal to Victoria for the session was still justified.

As a result the Oct. 19 debate at the McPherson Theatre starts at 9 a.m. and runs until the last questions are answered.

Women

MARRIED 60 YEARS ON TUESDAY

The Rev. Dr. W. G. Wilson and Mrs. Wilson, of 2532 Beach Drive, will celebrate their diamond wedding anniversary Tuesday, October 15. The couple was married in Government House, Halifax, N.S., when Mrs. Wilson's father, the late Hon. Duncan Cameron Fraser was lieutenant-governor. The couple's 40th wedding anniversary was also celebrated there, this time when Mrs. Wilson's brother, the Hon. Alistair Fraser, was lieutenant-governor. (Bill Halkett Photo.)

More Help for Native Indians Promised by Provincial Minister

One of British Columbia's women ministers without portfolio, Hon. Isobel Dawson, hinted that the provincial government intends to increase its assistance to the province's native Indians when she attended the charter banquet of the Zonta Club of Victoria, held in the Empress Hotel's Crystal Ballroom on Saturday evening.

In commending the women's service club on its first community project, that of working with local Indian bands and supplying a $100 scholarship which will enable an Indian girl to attend the Adult Studies Institute, the minister promised that her government plans to be more active in this field of community need.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCE

Service project chairman Mrs. Norma Michel, who had outlined the club's project, said that the need for such work was made more apparent to her when she worked on one of the reserves this summer.

Many distinguished guests attended the colorful banquet, the men dressed in tuxedos and the women in evening gowns. Adding to the scene in the newly decorated ballroom were table-centres of gold and bronze chrysanthemums, each accented with tapering candles and some of the flags of the 33 countries in which Zonta International has branches.

FROM TORONTO

Among the guests was Miss Edna Nairn, Toronto, immediate international past president, who presented the charter to the club's president, Mrs. Phoebe Noble, who also received a bouquet of red roses from her husband, Jack Noble. The gavel used at the banquet was a gift from Mrs. Stanley Baker, the club's original president, who is now serving in Africa. Miss Virginia Coleman, Seattle, district governor, welcomed the new club into District No. 8.

Also bringing greetings to the club, the first women's service club to be formed in the city, were Mayor Hugh Stephen of Victoria, Mayor Hugh Curtis of Saanich, Mayor Fred Hawes of Oak Bay, Acting Mayor, Alderman Archie Galbraith of Central Saanich, and Municipal Engineer W. G. Gerry of Esquimalt.

In his speech, Mayor Stephen said that women will be called on to play a more effective role in society with its increased emphasis on social and cultural growth. He noted that women's importance had been advanced through political changes which has seen men playing a dominant role "in the C. D. Howe days," this role being shared more equitably with women in "the just society of Pierre Elliot Trudeau."

Vice-president Mrs. Irene Warren was chairman for the evening. Other officers are secretary Joyce Mair, treasurer Grace Cuthbert and director Ruth Scott. The latter gave the invocation.

The evening was rounded out with a program of songs by one of the group's members, Adele Lewis.

CHARTER MEMBERS

Other charter members are Nan Bailey, Olga Bowes, Pat Martin Bates, Davinder Bains, Ida Clarkson, Audrey Harness, Margaret Harness, Mary Henderson, Nora Higgins, Catherine Horne, Iris Morrison, Elizabeth Nicholson, Gladys Petersen, Betty Ross, Arden G. Simpson, Nan Walmsley, Freda Wolfe, Anna Wocilon and Norma Fitzsimmons, who donated the floral arrangements and corsages.

University Dean Commends IODE's Aid to Education

Dr. D. L. MacLaurin, said that stories of unrest in the universities were "far from the whole story" when he addressed the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire bursary tea, Saturday, in the Student Union Building at the University of Victoria.

The acting dean of arts and science said, "There are a good many academic students working to get a solid education. It is comforting to know that part of the support for this kind of student comes from this Order."

Describing the IODE scholarships, bursaries, and grants as "under-girding education," Dr. MacLaurin recalled the visits of the regent and members of the Camosun chapter to North Ward school when he was a pupil there.

"Times have changed," he noted, "and the Order has changed with them. Its major concern is now education. Every year in Canada more than a third of a milion dollars is gathered and expended in the interest of academic pursuits."

Dr. MacLaurin was introduced by Miss Margaret Dodimead, assistant educational secretary, municipal chapter, and thanked by Mrs. J. A. Dunn, first vice-regent.

Sharing the head table with him were Mrs. V. H. V. Shepperd, regent, municipal chapter; Mrs. J. F. MacIntyre, educational secretary, provincial chapter, who came from Vancouver for the occasion; and chairman, Mrs. T. Lumsden, educational secretary, municipal chapter.

The Royal Bride Chapter was in charge of the refreshments served after the presentation of the bursaries.

Presiding at the head table were Mrs. J. Chell and Mrs. R. T. Wallace. Serving were the educational secretaries from the primary chapters.

The arrangements of chrysanthemums that decorated the room were made by Mrs. Peter W. Bell of the Major J. H. Gillespie Chapter. Mrs. L. E. Collard was pianist.

Mrs. V. H. V. Shepperd presented bursary certificates and cheques to Miss Linda Wilkinson, George W. C. Hall, Raymond Choy, Richard William Girard, all of Mount View Secondary School; Miss Barbara A. Jones, Oak Bay Secondary School; Miss Stephanie Wong, Miss Laurel Burgess, both of Victoria Secondary School; and Roy McVie, Esquimalt Secondary School.

Miss Wendy E. Clarke who won a municipal scholarship in Canadian History, was unable to attend, but the other municipal winner, Michael Brock, general proficiency, received his award from Mrs. Shepperd.

'Nixon the Only Man Who Can Run the Country'

By WALTER LIPPMANN

In the weeks that have passed since the Democratic convention in Chicago, it has become painfully clear that the Democratic Party is too disorganized to run the country. No doubt it is theoretically possible, though it is highly improbable, that Hubert Humphrey can do what Harry Truman did in 1948. But it is getting late even for that.

Lippmann

Should he win by some fluke or miracle, there is still no doubt that he would go to the White House as a minority president, opposed by a great heterogeneous majority consisting or Republicans, Wallacites and disaffected Democrats. It seems to me clear that the Democratic Party today is unable to offer the country the genuine prospect of a coherent government.

* * *

All this is even more true of what George Wallace has to offer. He does not have and has never had an organized party behind him. He has only an angry crowd behind him, and if he could be elected — which he cannot be — he would be at a loss as to what to do next, not having the supporters or the program or the experienced men to form a genuine government. Wallace does not offer the country a choice, only an expression of part of the people's discontents.

This leaves us with Nixon as the one and only candidate who can be elected and shows the promise, like it or not, of being able to put together an administration to run the government. Wallace is not a real alternative to Nixon because Wallace cannot put together an administration to govern the country.

Humphrey would be an alternative to Nixon were it not for the fact that the Democratic Party, as it has existed since Franklin Roosevelt's time, has come apart at the seams. It is now a disarray of discordant minorities. It has as its candidate a man who is inextricably bogged in the failures of the Johnson Administration. It would be one of the curiosities of politics if the voters chose to give a mandate to Lyndon Johnson's creature.

Neither of Nixon's two opponents is able to offer the prospect of a party sufficiently strong and united to govern the country. Thus, the actual choice before the voter does not lie among three candidates. The choice is between Nixon and some sort of abstention from the presidential contest. Abstention, if I understand him correctly, is Sen. McCarthy's choice.

* * *

It is a quite respectable choice for a man who is in his special position, which is that of a professional Democratic politician who wishes to keep his party affiliation for work in the future. But abstention means that the abstainers are not going to interfere with the choice of those who do not abstain.

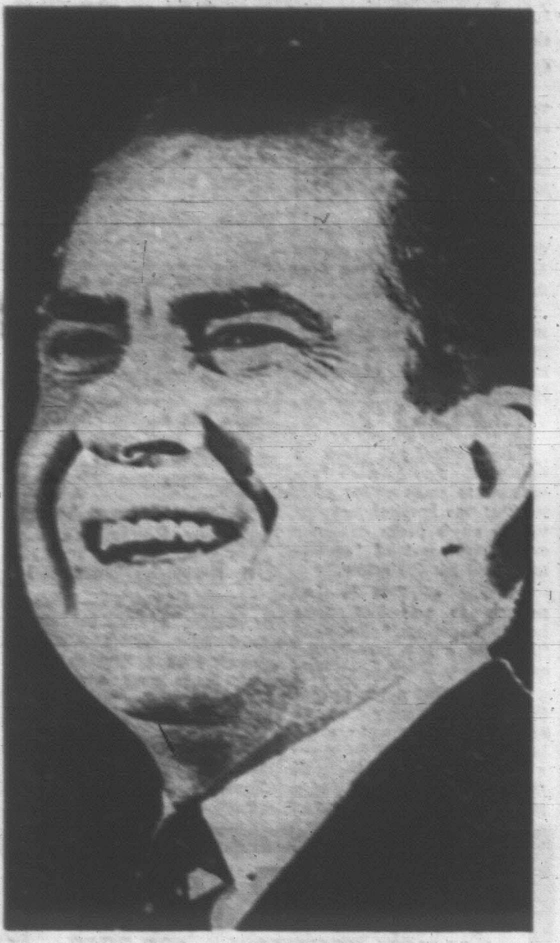
It means that they will not make a positive choice of the president and of the party which is going to govern the country in the next four years. Apart from abstaining, there is no choice but to support Nixon.

It is generally agreed that there is a movement, probably of landslide proportions, away from the liberalism of the past 40 years and toward, relatively speaking, a more conservative posture at home and abroad. This is not surprising and it is not in itself deplorable.

* * *

It does not mean that all the good things that have been accomplished will be repealed and undone. But it does mean that the virtues and ideals which conservatives cherish — particularly discipline and authority and self-reliance — will for a time prevail over the liberal alternatives of permissiveness and largesse and environmental improvement.

The liberal era has lasted for some 40 years, and if it has now provoked a reaction, it must be that it is not now working sufficiently well to command general support. Leaders of the party in power have in some considerable measure run out of ideas.



Richard Nixon
. . . a different man?

In any event the country is turning to the conservatives and this means that Nixon and Spiro Agnew will almost certainly be elected. I regard the selection of Gov. Agnew as a serious mistake which could have tragic consequences.

* * *

But all things considered — the disintegration of the Democratic Party after the colossal mistakes of the Johnson Administration — I do not shrink from the prospect of Nixon as President. He is a very much better man today than he was 10 years ago, and I have lived too long myself to think that men are what they are forever and ever.

Franklin Roosevelt in the White House was a quite different man after he had passed through his long illness than he was to those who had known him when he was a young man about town. Few who knew Mr. Truman as senator foresaw that he would preside over such great measures as the Marshall Plan and NATO.

The John F. Kennedy of the Camelot legend was not visible to those who knew him in the 50s as a young Boston politician. So I do not reject the notion that there is a new Nixon who has outlived and outgrown the ruthless politics of his early days.

Having argued that he alone among the candidates brings with him a prospect of an administration that can govern, I go on to say that the country will need a government that can govern in the troubled days which lie ahead of us.

* * *

Much as I believe in the justice and wisdom of large-scale reconstruction and reform, there remains the fact that our social order cannot conceivably be reconstructed quickly. Yet the injustices and the miseries are obviously painful. Thus there will probably remain a considerable body of irreconcilable revolutionary dissent.

There are no easy and there are no quick solutions for the discontent that will have to be dealt with, and we would be hiding our heads in the sand if we refused to admit that the country may demand and necessity may dictate the repression of uncontrollable violence.

My view is that it will be in all ways better if the conservatives are in power should these necessities arise. It would be a disaster, I think, if a man like Humphrey had to do what is against the whole grain of his nature.

It would be another example of President Johnson adopting Barry Goldwater's war policy in Vietnam. It is better that Nixon should have the full authority if the repression should become necessary in order to restore peace and tranquility in the land.

It will be better also that the disorganized Democrats should be on the sidelines, reforming their programs and their views and offering opposition to extremism and be making themselves ready for the inevitable reaction against reaction. The Democrats can unite only when they are in opposition, and only when enough time has passed to retire the older men who have made the Johnson disaster and nominated Humphrey.

* * *

There remains the agonizing problem of the Vietnamese war. There is no easy and short way out of the disaster after all the entanglements which have been created. I am writing at the end of September and there does not appear today any real prospect of concluding the war.

Such confidence as I have in Nixon's foreign policies rests on the belief that his greatest ambition will be to be elected for two terms, and that he knows just as well as anyone else that if he is bogged down in Vietnam, he will become as unpopular as Johnson and Humphrey are today.

He must find a solution to Vietnam in order to be more than a one-term President. I think Nixon's whole future will be staked on getting a cease-fire and a self-respecting withdrawal of our land forces. That is the best I am able to hope for. But I see nothing better in Humphrey.

All in all we cannot deny that the near future will be difficult, and I have come to think that on the central issue of an organized government, to deal with it Nixon is the only one who may be able to produce a government that can govern.

MARTIN

Martin's Senate Ploy Runs Into Opposition

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

A quiet drama seems under way in the Canadian Senate. At its simplest the plot involves the new Government leader in the Senate, Paul Martin.

Fisher

It began with his opening address, a magisterial speech full of echoes of Winston Churchill. He had not come to preside over the liquidation of the Senate but to make it more important.

The two means he outlined to achieve this are a reform of the rules of the Senate and more investigative or inquiry work, the specific example of which came very naturally from him, i.e., a continuing Senate committee on external affairs.

Crowe

The Senate is a sweet-talking place and the round, windy, style and complimentary platitudes of Mr. Martin are most suitable to its discreet partisanship. Rarely does rancor or bite shake the Senate.

Thus one has to look sharply in order to discover that the flowery welcomes given Mr. Martin tend to conceal some doubts about his purposes.

What are the doubts? We'd guess they are these: The senators are not pleased at the prospect of their institution becoming another sounding-board for Paul Martin, the indefatigable, incessant politician.

Some senators believe the investigating gambit may be very nice but they want more legislative work rather than inquiries.

Concerned, Critical

A few of the senators are concerned and already critical about the vague but firm determination of Mr. Trudeau to give the Senate a new or much altered constitutional role.

It's always been rather difficult to find out who really runs the Senate. On the face of it the Government leader would seem to be the man but it is our impression that for the past 10 or 15 years a small group of senators, with Arthur Roebuck, Salter Hayden, and more recently, David Croll, at the core, has had the initiative, experience and prestige to direct the operations of the Senate along the lines they wish.

During the Diefenbaker years, the overwhelming majority in the Senate was Liberal. It slipped along in its secondary role, not creating much opposition or embarrassment for the Government or the Commons, except in the Coyne affair.

Since Mr. Pearson became Prime Minister in 1963 there have been 42 Liberal appointments to the Senate, many of them as a result of retirement at 75 (for those who wanted it) which he introduced.

The 30-odd Tory senators are not strong enough in numbers or prestige to challenge the old establishment. Their leader, Jacques Flynn, is a tough, brusque realist.

It is our impression that the reigning cadre in the Senate is not ashamed of the Senate's work in recent years with its increasing emphasis on committee work, both alone and jointly with the House.

Therefore, the idea that the advent of the old pro in person with the message that he'll pull the institution through to greater importance has not created the enthusiasm which all the genteel exchanges of recent days might suggest.

Confidential

Take Sen. John Connolly, the retired Senate leader. The other day he became confidential:

"I want to tell Hon. senators something — and I repeat, I do not think I am opening the door of the Privy Council even a crack. I could never tell Sen. Thorvaldson this.

"One of the problems I had with my colleague, then secretary of state for external affairs, was that of trying to persuade him to allow Canadian ambassadors and foreign representatives, when they returned to Canada from a tour of duty, to be allowed to come before our external relations committee, not to explain Canadian policy abroad — that is the prerogative of the minister — but to speak about conditions in those foreign countries . . .

"I did not have very much luck . . . so, I do hope, in telling you the story, I can say to the new leader of the Government in the Senate, that I hope he has more success with the new secretary of state for external affairs than his immediate predecessor as leader of the Government had with the former secretary of state for external affairs."

Then Sen. Connolly went on to put another dart into Mr. Martin:

". . . I think there is one thing we should realize. There are certain limitations on the inquiry side of the work that the Senate can do. After all, this is primarily a legislative body, one which deals with the law, with new legislation, sometimes initiating it, sometimes reviewing it as it comes to us from below."

Not Big Enough

Sen. Connolly believes that the small numbers of the Senate preclude too many, too ranging inquiries if the legislative chore is to be done well.

He was too polite to add, but it was probably in his mind, that other occupations and the age pattern of the 100-odd senators means that a sizable minority is never likely to be available for thorough, persistent, day-to-day work.

A much more indirect but very definite challenge to Paul Martin's dreams of using the Senate to further his importance as a major minister in the Government lies in several resolutions on the Senate order paper, particularly two in the name of that veteran scene-stealer, David Croll.

We've written before that Mr. Martin was the key person in the Pearson cabinet in squelching Guy Favreau's plan to establish an ombudsman for the federal system. Well, Sen. Croll's resolution, if passed, will effectively make a Senate committee the "ombudsman agency" for federal matters.

This is more than a motion to consider whether there should be an ombudsman as this part of it shows:

". . . and in particular to investigate and report upon any grievance complained of as a result of administrative action for which no other remedy is available."

The other Croll motion — to investigate and study all aspects of poverty in Canada — is another blockbuster. If both committees get operating, and so does Sen. Lamontagne's deep investigation of science policy, then Sen. Martin's hopes of getting attention with external affairs study are very poor.

Power Poisons Minds of Men

By RICHARD J. NEEDHAM
The Globe and Mail

Hilaire Belloc said it, and I give it as best I can from memory: "the accursed power that stands on privilege, and goes with women and champagne and bridge, broke; and democracy resumed her reign, which goes with bridge and women and champagne."

Needham

I though of Belloc's little verse when I read a story about the latest exploits of Harold Banks, erstwhile boss of the Seafarers' International Union in Canada.

He now is running an alleged training ship off the Maryland coast for the SIU — a lavishly furnished steam yacht 100 yards long, which was built during the Nineteen Twenties at a cost of $2.5-million.

According to reporters who got aboard, it is the scene of "almost nightly parties with union leaders, politicians and others."

●

Well, that's right in character for Harold Banks; and I guess for a lot of other people who get into positions of power — union power, political power, religious power, any kind of power.

They start off having, or pretending to have, some noble purpose or objective; they end up with cognac and conspiracy on steam yachts.

Lord Acton, the great English Catholic historian, reached the conclusion:

"Power tends to corrupt, and absolute power corrupts absolutely. Great men are almost always bad men, even when they exercise influence and not authority, still more when you add the tendency or the certainty of corruption by authority. There is no worse heresy than that the office sanctifies the holder of it."

●

Henry Adams said that power was poison. How can a man who exercises any kind of power in any way avoid being poisoned by it, corrupted by it?

It's a question that confronts (or should confront) businessmen, politicians, union leaders, cardinals, generals and even newspapermen, since the ball-point pen is said to be mightier than the sword.

I don't know if I have any power or influence over anyone; I certainly don't want to have it; I write simply to express my own thoughts, not to shape or change anyone else's.

I often think about Andrew Furuseth, who founded the Seafarers' International Union. As Mr. Justice Norris remarked in his famous report on Great Lakes shipping five years ago, there's a whole world of difference between Furuseth and Banks.

Furuseth was a frugal, religious, deeply dedicated man who refused to accept a higher wage than the average SIU member of his time; and when he visited Washington in connection with his work, stayed in a hotel room at a dollar a night.

The SIU founder said many times, "The only man who can ever do anything for his fellow man is the man who has nothing and wants nothing for himself." I feel this is true; and Furuseth himself seems to have lived right up to it.

Still, we probably have to take a man like him as almost unique. My observation of history and life is that from which the Founding Fathers of the United States proceeded — that men aren't to be trusted with power; if you give it to them (as you must to have any sort of organized society) give it to them in strictly limited amounts, keep it closely checked and balanced. Otherwise, they'll run wild on it.

The Old Testament says it in six little words: "Put not your trust in princes."

●

But men have been doing this since the beginning of time, and they still are doing it today — putting up princes to save them, and giving those princes great powers of salvation, and then wondering why the whole thing breaks down in moral and material corruption.

You'd think or hope they would learn from history, but they don't; or if they do learn, forget or else die, leaving another generation to make precisely the same mistakes.

The saga of Harold Banks is not an exception in life, but a rule; and will remain a rule so long as people consider it an exception.

Canadian Fiction Dead?

By WILLIAM FRENCH
The Globe and Mail

Is Canadian fiction dying? The question has become a cliche, but the evidence becomes more and more disconcerting. If it isn't dying, it certainly is suffering from a chronic malady, as far as English Canada is concerned.

Last year, no Canadian novel published in English was considered good enough by the Governor-General's Awards Committee to merit recognition. The bleak prospect was continued during the first half of this year, with the one exception of Mordecai Richler's Cocksure.

A survey of publisher's catalogues for the forthcoming season gives further cause for anxiety. There is only one novel imminent by a writer with a more or less national reputation — Ernest Buckler's Ox Bells and Fireflies, described as a fictional memoir about a small village in Buckler's native Nova Scotia. Buckler's two previous novels, The Mountain and the Valley (1952) and the Cruelest Month (1963) revealed a more than ordinary talent.

There will be two first novels by unknown writers — Erebus, by Robert Hunter, a novel about Winnipeg; and a novel of adolescence, Seven For the Road, by Stephen McNamee—an adventure tale by Joseph Schull called The Jinkers, and an extended rewrite by Hugh Garner of his 1950 novel of the Toronto slums, Cabbagetown.

And that's about it for novels. The short story scene is a little better, but not much. One of the more promising volumes is Dance of the Happy Shades, by Alice Munro, a west coast housewife whose work has been confined until now to the little magazines. Clarke, Irwin is launching a new paperback series called New Canadian Writing; the first volume will have stories by Dave Godfrey, David Lewis Stein and Clark Blaise.

Oxford University Press is publishing another Canadian Short Stories anthology, again edited by Robert Weaver, with stories by most of the old reliables.

Scott Young has reached away back to the early Nineteen Fifties to resurrect several sports fiction pieces he did for U.S. magazines, to be published as We Won't Be Needing You, Al.

Golds Bright Spot

Golds were higher in moderate trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today while New York traced a mixed pattern in late trading.

AT TORONTO final volume was 3,664,000 shares compared with 4,294,000 Friday.

Famous Players rose 2 to 66, Imperial Oil 1⅜ to 83½ and White Pass and Yukon 1½ to 43. Peel Elder dropped 2⅛ to 39⅞.

Canadian Homestead climbed ¼ to 18. Canadian Superior Oil fell ½ to 57 and Spooner 15 cents to $4.20.

AT NEW YORK steels generally were lower and rails eased from recent strength.

Some analysts thought a market correction was in order after a three-week rally.

Prices turned mixed on the American Stock Exchange.

Among Canadians, Canadian Pacific was up 1⅝, Dome 2 and Inco ⅝. Alcan, Distillers and Hudson Bay were off ⅛.

AT MONTREAL senior mines, industrials and banks led the market upward in moderately active early afternoon trading.

Noranda climbed 2 to 58¾, Cygnus B 1½ to 8, Maclean-Hunter 1⅛ to 15¼ and Financial Collection 1⅛ to 22⅛. Velcro, Simpsons and Corby A added 1 each to 50, 38¼ and 35 respectively.

Bank of Nova Scotia gained 1 to 22, Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce ⅜ to 18½ and Banque Canadienne Nationale ⅜ to 12⅞.

National Trust dropped 3⅞ to 21½ and Denison 1 to 76.

Dominion Explorers picked up 5 cents to 63 cents on 74,100 shares in speculative mines and oils on the Canadian Stock Exchange.

AT LONGON the market advanced this morning then turned mixed at mid-session as buyers became more selective.

Government stocks showed losses of 1/16 or ⅛. Dollar stocks encountered small selling.

Trans-Canadian Pipe and Noranda shed 3 points among Canadians. Trinidad-Canadian, Hudson's Bay, Hiram Walker and Cominco all lost between 1½ and 2. Inco, Dome and Imperial Oil moved against the trend with gains of $2 or $3.

Canadian banks fell with Toronto Dominion down 4 shillings four pence. Canadian Imperial and Nova Scotia both eased 2 shillings. Oils came back sharply after a firm opening.

AT VANCOUVER the mining section was strong in pre-noon trading. Dynasty, at $9.30, and Northlode at $3.50, led the way with 20-cent gains.

Atlas was up .10 at $2.90 and similar gains were posted by Lytton, at $2.70, and New Cinch, at .90.

Coast Silver, however, fell back, losing .25 to $2.95 on 30,000 shares.

White Pass and Yukon was strong in the industrials and rose $2.37 to reach $43.37. Losses went to EDP, down $1.50 to $23, and Cunningham, off $1.37 at $15.12.

Pension Controls For Executives

OTTAWA (CP) — The federal revenue department is tightening its control of executive pension plans, particulary those designed to benefit executives who are also shareholders.

New rules covering pension plans sent out to employers last week state that a plan "primarily for the benefit of shareholders and members of their families" will not be accepted.

A covering letter signed by E. A. Chater, director of the department's review and registrations division, says plays already registered that do not comply with the new rules need not be changed unless a specific request is made by the department.

But it adds:

"It is expected that such plans will be brought into line with these rules as and when amendments are required for other reasons."

Mr. Chater said in an interview Sunday that the directives are not aimed at executive pensions as such but against those where there are special benefits because the executive is also a shareholder.

In some of these cases, Mr. Chater said, the executive pensions have provided a loophole for tax evasion.

Paper Mills' Output Lags

OTTAWA (CP) — The productivity performance of Canada's pulp and paper mills lagged behind other manufacturing industries during the 1957-67 decade, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reports.

Real net output of the pulp and paper industry during the decade increased about 41 per cent while growth in the labor effort going into production ran 11-15 per cent, the bureau reported. This brought an over-all productivity gain of about 25 per cent.

Net output increased about 3.8 per cent a year while the total number of persons employed increased about 1.6 per cent and the total number of paid hours of work increased about 1.8 per cent. Production thus increased about two per cent a year for each extra unit of labor employed, DBS said.

"The productivity performance of the industry was therefore substantially weaker than in manufacturing as a whole during the same period when, for instance, output per person employed increased at an average rate of about 4.1 per cent per annum."

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP) — Trading on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today generally was dull. Oilseed prices, fractionally lower at the opening, rallied toward the mid-session and steadied toward the close.
